

NYPL RESEARCH LIBRARIES

3 3433 08181674 0

8

THE REAR ADMIRAL
FRANKLIN HANFORD, U. S. N.
COLLECTION IN THE
NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

- 1929 -

7-1SG
Also

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2008 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

Stack VII

7-156

Hon. Henry C. Murphy with the regards of William Corvans

N.Y. Aug 25th 89

Tell it not

No.

in

Gath

GOWANS'

BIBLIOTHECA AMERICANA.

5

"Thy fathers went down into Egypt with three score and ten persons, and now the Lord thy God hath made thee as the stars of heaven for multitude." Moses.

"Two things are to be considered in writing history, truth and elocution, for in truth consisteth the soul, and in elocution the body of history; the latter without the former, is but a picture of history; the former without the latter, unapt to instruct. The principle and proper work of history, being to instruct, and enable men by their knowledge of actions past, to bear themselves prudently in the present, and providently towards the future." T. Hobbes.

NEW YORK:
WILLIAM GOWANS.

1869.

64 COPIES PRINTED ON LARGE PAPER 4TO.

A
CHARACTER OF THE PROVINCE
OF
MARYLAND.

DESCRIBED IN FOUR DISTINCT PARTS.

ALSO

A SMALL TREATISE ON THE WILD AND NAKED INDIANS (OR SUSQUEHANOKES) OF MARYLAND, THEIR CUSTOMS, MANNERS, ABSURDITIES, AND RELIGION.

TOGETHER WITH

A COLLECTION OF HISTORICAL LETTERS.

BY

GEORGE ALSOP.

A NEW EDITION WITH AN INTRODUCTION AND COPIOUS
HISTORICAL NOTES.

By JOHN GILMARY SHEA, LL.D.,

MEMBER OF THE NEW YORK HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

*Our western world, with all its matchless floods,
Our vast transparent lakes and boundless woods,
Stamp'd with the traits of majesty sublime,
Unhonored weep the silent lapse of time,
Spread their wild grandeur to the unconscious sky,
In sweetest seasons pass unheeded by ;
While scarce one muse returns the songs they gave,
Or seeks to snatch their glories from the grave.*

ALEXANDER WILSON, The Ornithologist.

The greater part of the magnificent countries east of the Alleghanies is in a high state of cultivation and commercial prosperity, with natural advantages not surpassed in any country. Nature, however, still maintains her sway in some parts, especially where pine-barrens and swamps prevail. The territory of the United States covers an area of 2,963,666 square miles, about one-half of which is capable of producing everything that is useful to man, but not more than a twenty-sixth part of it has been cleared. The climate is generally healthy, the soil fertile, abounding in mineral treasures, and it possesses every advantage from navigable rivers and excellent harbors. MRS. SOMERVILLE.

NEW YORK:
WILLIAM GOWANS.

1869.

5

Not entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1869, by

W. GOWANS,

In the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York.

J. MUNSELL, PRINTER,
ALBANY.

DEDICATED TO THE MEMORY
OF
LORD BALTIMORE.

ADVERTISEMENT.

The subscriber announces to the public, that he intends publishing a series of works, relating to the history, literature, biography, antiquities and curiosities of the Continent of America. To be entitled

GOWANS' BIBLIOTHECA AMERICANA.

The books to form this collection, will chiefly consist of reprints from old and scarce works, difficult to be produced in this country, and often also of very rare occurrence in Europe; occasionally an original work will be introduced into the series, designed to throw light upon some obscure point of American history, or to elucidate the biography of some of the distinguished men of our land. Faithful reprints of every work published will be given to the public; nothing will be added, except in the way of notes, or introduction, which will be presented entirely distinct from the body of the work. They will be brought out in the best style, both as to type, press work and paper, and in such a manner as to make them well worthy a place in any gentleman's library.

A part will appear about once in every six months, or oftener, if the public taste demand it; each part forming an entire work, either an original production, or a reprint of some valuable, and at the same time scarce tract. From eight or twelve parts will form a handsome octavo volume, which the publisher is well assured, will be esteemed entitled to a high rank in every collection of American history and literature.

Should reasonable encouragement be given, the whole collection may in the course of no long period of time become not less voluminous, and quite as valuable to the student in American history, as the celebrated Harleian Miscellany is now to the student and lover of British historical antiquities.

W. GOWANS, Publisher.

INTRODUCTION.

GEORGE ALSOP, the author of this curious tract, was born according to the inscription on his portrait, in 1638. He served a two years' apprenticeship to some trade in London, but seems to have been wild enough. His portrait and his language alike bespeak the rollicking roysterer of the days of the restoration, thoroughly familiar with all the less reputable haunts of London. He expresses a hearty contempt for Cromwell and his party, and it may be that the fate which confined him to a four years' servitude in Maryland was an order of transportation issued in the name of the commonwealth of England. He speaks disdainfully of the "mighty low and distracted life" of such as could not pay their passage, then, according to Leah and Rachel (p. 14), generally six pounds, as though want of money was not in his case the cause of his emigrating from England. He gives the letters he wrote to his family and friends on starting, but omits the date, although from allusions to the death of Cromwell in a letter dated at Gravesend, September 7th, he evidently sailed in 1658, the protector having died on the 3d of September in that year.

In Maryland he fell to the lot of Thomas Stoekett, Esq., one of three brothers who came to Maryland in 1658, perhaps at the same time as Alsop, and settled originally it would seem in Baltimore county. It was on this estate that Alsop spent the four years which enabled him to write the following tract. He speaks highly of his treatment and the abundance that reigned in the Stockett mansion.

Alsop's book appeared in 1666. One of the laudatory verses that preface it is dated January, 1665 ($\frac{5}{6}$), and as it would appear that he did not remain in Maryland after the expiration of his four years, except perhaps for a short time in consequence of a fit of sickness to which he alludes, he probably returned to London to resume his old career.

Of his subsequent life nothing is known, and though Allison ascribes to him a volume of Sermons, we may safely express our grave doubts whether the author of this tract can be suspected of anything of the kind.

The book, written in a most extravagant style, contains no facts as to the stirring events in Maryland history which preceded its date, and in view, doubtless, of the still exasperated state of public feeling, seems to have studiously avoided all allusion to so unattractive a subject. As an historical tract it derives its chief value from the portion which comprises its Relation of the Susquehanna Indians.

The object for which the tract was issued seems evident. It was designed to stimulate emigration to Maryland, and is written in a vulgar style to suit the class it was to reach. While from its dedication to Lord Baltimore, and the merchant adventurers, we may infer that it was paid for by them, in order to encourage emigration, especially of redemptioners.

Much of the early emigration to America was effected by what was called the redemption system. Under this, one disposed to emigrate, but unable to raise the £6, entered into a contract in the following form, with a merchant adventurer, ship owner or ship master, and occasionally with a gentleman emigrant of means, under which the latter gave him his passage and supplies:

THE FORME OF BINDING A SERVANT.

[From A Relation of Maryland, &c., 1635.]

This indenture made the.....day of.....in the.....yeere of our Sovereigne Lord King Charles &c betweene.....of the one party, and.....on the other party, Witnesseth that the said.....doth hereby covenant, promise and grant to and with the said.....his Executors and Assignes, to serve him from the day of the date hereof, vntill his first and next arrivall in Maryland, and after for and during the tearme of.....yeeres, in such service and employment as the said.....or his assignes shall there employ him, according to the custome of the countrey in the like kind. In consideration whereof, the said.....doth promise and grant, to and with the said.....to pay for his passing and to find him with Meat, Drinke, Apparell and Lodging, with other necessaries during the said terme; and at the end of the said terme, to give him one whole yeeres provision of Corne and fifty acres of Land, according to the order of the countrey. In witnesse whereof, the said.....hath hereunto put his hand and scale the day and yeere above written.

Sealed and delivered } in the presence of }

The term of service, at first limited to five years (Relation of Maryland, 1635, p. 63), was subsequently reduced to four (Act of 1638, &c.), and so remained into the next century (Act of April, 1715). Thus a woman in the Sot Weed Factor, after speaking of her life in England, says :

Not then a slave for twice two year,
My cloaths were fashionably new,
Nor were my shifts of linnen Blue;
But things are changed; now at the Hoe,
I daily work and Barefoot go,
In weeding Corn or feeding Swine,
I spend my melancholy Time.

Disputes arose as to the time when the term began, and it was finally fixed at the anchoring of the vessel in the province, but not more than fourteen days were to be allowed for anchoring after they passed the Capes (Act of 1715). When these agreements were made with the merchant adventurer, ship owner or ship captain, the servants were sold at auctions, which were conducted on the principle of our tax sales, the condition being the payment of the advances, and the bidding being for the term of service, descending from the legal limit according to his supposed value as a mechanic or hand, the best man being taken for the shortest term. Where the emigrants made their agreement with the gentleman emigrant, they proceeded at once to the land he took up, and in the name of the servant the planter took up at least one hundred acres of land, fifty of which, under the agreement, he conveyed to the servant at the expiration of his term of service.

Alsop seems to have made an agreement, perhaps on the voyage, with Thomas Stockett, Esq., as his first letter from America mentions his being in the service of that gentleman. His last letter is dated at Gravesend, the 7th of September, and his first in Maryland January 17 (1659), making a voyage of four months, which he loosely calls five, and describes as "a blowing and dangerous passage."

Through the kindness of George Lynn Lachlin Davis, Esq., I have been enabled to obtain from J. Shaaf Stockett, Esq., a descendant of Captain Stockett, some details as to his ancestor, the master of our author, during his four years' servitude, which was not very grievous to him, for he says, "had I known my yolk would have been so easie (as I conceive it will) I would have been here long before now, rather than to have dwelt under the pressure of a Rebellious and Trayterous government so long as I did."

A manuscript statement made some years later by one Joseph Tilly, states: "About or in y^e year of o^r Lord 1667 or 8 I became acquainted wth 4 Gentⁿ y^t were brethren & then dwellers here in Maryland the elder of them went by y^e name of Coll^o Lewis Stockett & y^e second by y^e name of Captⁿ Thomas Stockett, y^e third was Doct^r Francis Stockett & y^e Fourth Brother was M^r Henry Stockett. These men were but yⁿ newly seated or seating in Anne Arundell County & they had much business w^h the Lord Baltimore then pp^{tor} of y^e Provinces, my house standing convenient they were often entertained there: they told mee y^t they were Kentish men or Men of Kent & y^t for that they had been concerned for King Charles y^e first, were out of favour wth y^e following Governum^t they Mortgaged a Good an estate to follow King Charles the second in his exile & at their Return they had not money to redeem their mortgage, w^{ch} was y^e cause of their coming hither.

JOSEPH TILLY."

Of the brothers, who are said to have arrived in the spring or summer of 1658, only Captain Thomas Stockett remained in Maryland, the others having, according to family tradition, returned to England. As stated in the document just given, they settled in Anne Arundell county, and on the 19th of July, 1669, "Obligation," a tract of 664 acres of land was patented to Captain Thomas Stockett, and a part still after the lapse of nearly two centuries remains in the family, being owned by Frank H. Stockett, Esq., of the Annapolis bar.

By his wife Mary (Wells it is supposed), Captain Thomas Stockett had one son, Thomas, born April 17, 1667, from whose marriage with Mary, daughter of Thomas Sprigg, of West River, gentleman (March 12, 1689), and subsequent marriage with Damarris Welch, the Stocketts of Maryland, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey are descended.

The arms of this branch, as given in the family archives, are "Or a Lyon rampant sable armed and Langued Gules a cheife of y^e second a castle Tripple towred argent betwixt two Beausants—to y^e crest upon a helm on a wreath of y^e colours, a Lyon Proper segeant supporte on a stock ragged and trunked argent Borne by the name of Stockett with a mantle Gules doubled Argent." These agree with the arms given by Burke as the arms of the Stocketts of St. Stephens, county of Kent.

Thomas Stockett's will, dated April 23, 1671, was proved on the 4th of May in the same year, so that his death must have occurred within the ten intervening days. He left his estate to his wife for life, then his lands to his son Thomas, and his posthumous child if a son, and his personal estate to be divided among his daughters. His executors were his brothers Francis and Henry and his brother (in-law) Richard Wells. His dispositions of property are brief, much of the will consisting of pious expressions and wishes.

To return to the early Maryland emigration, at the time there was evident need for some popular tract to remove a prejudice that had been created against that colony, especially in regard to the redemptioners. The condition of those held for service in Maryland had been represented as pitiable indeed, the labor intolerable, the usage bad, the diet hard, and that no beds were allowed but the bare boards. Such calumnies had already been refuted in 1656 by Hammond, in his Leah and Rachel. Yet it would seem that ten years later the proprietor of Maryland found it necessary to give Alsop's flattering picture as a new antidote.

The original tract is reproduced so nearly in fac simile here that little need be said about it. The original is a very small volume, the printed matter on the page being only $2\frac{1}{8}$ inches by $4\frac{7}{8}$. (See note No. 1).

At the end are two pages of advertisements headed "These Books, with others, are Printed for Peter Dring, and are to be sold at his Shop, at the Sun in the Poultry, next door to the Rose Tavern."

Among the books are Eliana, Holesworth's Valley of Vision, Robotham's Exposition of Solomon's Song, N. Byfields' Marrow of the Oracel of God, Pheteplace's Scrutinia Sacra, Featly Tears in Time of Pestilence, Templum Musicum by Joannes Henricus Alstedius, two cook books, a jest book, Troads Englished, and ends with A Comment upon the Two Tales of our Renowned Poet Sir Jeffray Chaucer, Knight.

At the end of this is the following by way of erratum: "Courteous Reader. In the first Epistle Dedicatory, for Felton read Feltham."

View here the Shadow whose Ingemious Hand
 Hath drawne exactt the Province Mary Land
 Display'd her Glory in such Scenes of Witt
 That those that read must fall in Love with it
 For which his Labour hee deserves the praise
 As well as Poets doe the wreath of Bays .

Anno D^o. 1666. Aetatis Suae 28.

H.W.

A
C H A R A C T E R
Of the PROVINCE of
MARY-LAND,

Wherein is Described in four distinct Parts, (Viz.)

- I. The Scituation, and plenty of the Province.
- II. The Laws, Customs, and natural Demeanor of the Inhabitant.
- III. The worst and best Usage of a Maryland Servant, opened in view.
- IV. The Traffique, and Vendable Commodities of the Countrey.

ALSO

A small Treatise on the Wilde and Naked INDIANS (or Susquehanokes) of Mary-Land, their Customs, Manners, Absurdities, & Religion.

Together with a Collection of Historical LETTERS.

By GEORGE ALSOP.

London, Printed by T. J. for Peter Dring, at the sign of the Sun in the Poultry; 1666.

TO THE RIGHT HONORABLE

CÆCILIOUS LORD BALTEMORE, (see note No. 2)

Absolute Lord and Proprietary of the Provinces of Mary-Land and Avalon (see note No. 3) in America.

MY LORD,

I Have adventured on your Lordships acceptance by guess; if presumption has led me into an Error that deserves correction, I heartily beg Indempnity, and resolve to repent soundly for it, and do so no more. What I present I know to be true, Experientia docet; It being an infallible Maxim, That there is no Globe like the ocular and experimental view of a Countrey. And had not Fate by a necessary imployment, consin'd me within the narrow walks of a four years Servitude, and by degrees led me through the most intricate and dubious paths of this Countrey, by a commanding and undeniable Enjoyment, I could not, nor should I ever have undertaken to have written a line of this nature.

THE EPISTLE DEDICATORY.

If I have wrote or composed any thing that's wilde and confused, it is because I am so my self, and the world, as far as I can perceive, is not much out of the same trim; therefore I resolve, if I am brought to the Bar of Common Law for any thing I have done here, to plead Non compos mentis, to save my Bacon.

There is an old Saying in English, He must rise betimes that would please every one. And I am afraid I have lain so long a bed, that I think I shall please no body; if it must be so, I cannot help it. But as Feltham (see note No. 4) in his Resolves says, In things that must be, 'tis good to be resolute; And therefore what Destiny has ordained, I am resolved to wink, and stand to it. So leaving your Honour to more serious meditations, I subscribe my self,

My Lord

Your Lordship most

Humble Servant,

GEORGE ALSOP.

To all the Merchant Adventurers for MARY-LAND, together with those Commanders of Ships that saile into that Province.

SIRS,

You are both Adventurers, the one of Estate. the other of Life: I could tell you I am an Adventurer too, if I durst presume to come into your Company. I have ventured to come abroad in Print, and if I should be laughed at for my good meaning, it would so break the credit of my understanding, that I should never dare to shew my face upon the Exchange of (conceited) Wits again.

This dish of Discourse was intended for you at first, but it was manners to let my Lord have the first cut, the Pye being his own. I beseech you accept of the matter as 'tis drest, only to stay your stomachs, and I'll promise you the next shall be better done, 'Tis all as I can serve you in at present, and it may be questionable whether I have served you in this or no. Here I present you with A Character of Mary-Land, it may be you will say 'tis weakly done, if you do I cannot help it, 'tis as well as I could do it, considering several Obstacles that like blocks were thrown in my way to hinder my proceeding: The major part thereof was written in the intermitting time of my sickness, therefore I hope the afflicting weakness of my Microcosm may plead a just excuse for some imperfections of my pen. I protest what I have writ is from an experimental knowledge of the Country, and not from any imaginary supposition. If I am blamed for what I have done too much, it is the first, and I will irrevocably promise it shall be the last. There's a Maxim upon Tryals at Assizes, That if a thief be taken upon the first fault, if it be not too hainous, they only burn him in the hand and let him go (see note No. 5) : So I desire you to do by me, if you find any thing that bears a criminal absurdity in it, only burn me for my first fact and let me go. But I am affraid I have kept you too long in the Entry, I shall desire you therefore to come in and sit down.

G. ALSOP.

THE
P R E F A C E
TO THE
R E A D E R .

The Reason why I appear in this place is, lest the general Reader should conclude I have nothing to say for my self; and truly he's in the right on't, for I have but little to say (for my self) at this time: For I have had so large a Journey, and so heavy a Burden to bring Mary-Land into England, that I am almost out of breath: I'll promise you after I am come to my self, you shall hear more of me. Good Reader, because you see me make a brief Apologetical excuse for my self, don't judge me; for I am so self-conceited of my own merits, that I almost think I want none. De Lege non judicandum ex solâ linea, saith the Civilian; We must not pass judgement upon a Law by one line: And because we see but a small Bush at a Tavern door, conclude there is no Canary (see note No. 6). For as in our vulgar Resolves 'tis said, A good face needs no Band, and an ill one deserves none: So the French Proverb sayes, Bon Vien il n'a faut point de Ensigne, Good Wine needs no Bush. I suppose by this time some of my speculative observers have judged me vainglorious; but if they did but rightly consider me, they would not be so censorious. For I dwell so far from Neighbors, that if I do not praise my self, no body else will: And since I am left alone, I am resolved to summon the Magna Charta of Fowles to the Bar for my excuse, and by their irrevocable Statutes plead my discharge. For its an ill Bird will befoule her own Nest: Besides, I have a thousand Billings-gate (see note No. 7) Collegians that will give in their testimony, That they never knew a Fish-woman cry stinking Fish. Thus leaving the Nostrils of the Citizens Wives to demonstrate what they please as to that, and thee (Good Reader) to say what thou wilt, I bid thee Farewel.

GEO. ALSOP.

THE
A U T H O R
TO HIS B O O K .

W H E N first Apollo got my brain with Childe,
He made large promise never to beguile,
But like an honest Father, he would keep Whatever Issue from my Brain did creep :
With that I gave consent, and up he threw
Me on a Bench, and strangely he did do ;
Then every week he daily came to see
How his new Physick still did work with me.
And when he did perceive he'd don the feat,
Like an unworthy man he made retreat,
Left me in desolation, and where none
Compassionated when they heard me groan.
What could he judge the Parish then would think,
To see me fair, his Brat as black as Ink ?
If they had eyes, they'd swear I were no Nun,
But got with Child by some black Africk Son,
And so condemn me for my Fornication,
To beat them Hemp to stifle half the Nation.
Well, since 'tis so, I'll alter this base Fate,
And lay his Bastard at some Noble's Gate ; Withdraw my self from Beadles, and from such,
Who would give twelve pence I were in their clutch :

Then, who can tell? this Child which I do hide,
May be in time a Small-beer Col'nel Pride (see note
But while I talk, my business it is dumb, [No. 8).
I must lay double-clothes unto thy Bum,
Then lap thee warm, and to the world commit
The Bastard Off-spring of a New-born wit.
Farewel, poor Brat, thou in a monstrous World,
In swaddling bands, thus up and down art hurl'd;
There to receive what Destiny doth contrive,
Either to perish, or be sav'd alive.
Good Fate protect thee from a Criticks power,
For If he comes, thou'rt gone in half an hour,
Stiff'd and blasted, 'tis their usual way,
To make that Night, which is as bright as Day.
For if they once but wring, and skrew their mouth,
Cock up their Hats, and set the point Du-South,
Armes all a kimbo, and with belly strut,
As if they had Parnassus in their gut:
These are the Symtomes of the murdering fall
Of my poor Infant, and his burial.
Say he should miss thee, and some ign'rant Asse
Should find thee out, as he along doth pass,
It were all one, he'd look into thy Tayle,
To see if thou wert Feminine or Male;
When he'd half starv'd thee, for to satisfie
His peeping Ign'rance, he'd then let thee lie;
And vow by's wit he ne're could understand,
The Heathen dresses of another Land:
Well, 'tis no matter, wherever such as he Knows one grain, more than his simplicity.
Now, how the pulses of my senses beat,
To think the rigid Fortune thou wilt meet;

Asses and captious Fools, not six in ten
Of thy Spectators will be real men,
To Umpire up the badness of the cause,
And screen my weakness from the rav'nous Laws,
Of those that will undoubted sit to see
How they might blast this new-born Infancy :
If they should burn him, they'd conclude hereafter,
'Twere too good death for him to dye a Martyr ;
And if they let him live, they think it will Be but a means for to encourage ill,
And bring in time some strange Antipod'ans,
A thousand Leagues beyond Philippians,
To storm our Wits ; therefore he must not rest,
But shall be hang'd, for all he has been prest :
Thus they conclude. — My Genius comforts give,
In Resurrection he will surely live.

To my Friend Mr. GEORGE ALSOP, on his Character of MARY-LAND.

WHO such odd nookes of Earths great mass describe,
Prove their descent from old Columbus tribe:
Some Boding augur did his Name devise,
Thy Genius too cast in th' same mould' and size;
His Name predicted he would be a Rover,
And hidden places of this Orb discover;
He made relation of that World in gross,
Thou the particulars retail'st to us:
By this first Peny of thy fancy we Discover what thy greater Coines will be;
This Embryo thus well polisht doth presage,
The manly Atchievements of its future age.
Auspicious winds blow gently on this spark,
Untill its flames discover what's yet dark;
Mean while this short Abridgement we embrace,
Expecting that thy busy soul will trace
Some Mines at last which may enrich the World,
And all that poverty may be in oblivion hurl'd.
Zoilus is dumb, for thou the mark hast hit,
By interlacing History with Wit:
Thou hast described its superficial Treasure,
Anatomiz'd its bowels at thy leisure;
That MARY-LAND to thee may duty owe,
Who to the World dost all her Glory shew;
Then thou shalt make the Prophesie fall true,
Who fill'st the World (like th' Sea) with knowledge new.

WILLIAM BOGHERST. (See note No. 9.)

To my Friend Mr. GEORGE ALSOP, on his Character of MARY-LAND.

THis plain, yet pithy and concise Description
Of Mary-Lands plentious and sedate condition,
With other things herein by you set forth,
To shew its Rareness, and declare its Worth ;
Compos'd in such a time, when most men were Smitten with Sickness, or surpriz'd with Fear,
Argues a Genius good, and Courage stout,
In bringing this Design so well about :
Such generous Freedom waited on thy brain,
The Work was done in midst of greatest pain ;
And matters flow'd so swiftly from thy source,
Nature design'd thee (sure) for such Discourse.
Go on then with thy Work so well begun,
Let it come forth, and boldly see the Sun ;
Then shall't be known to all, that from thy Youth
Thou heldst it Noble to maintain the Truth,
'Gainst all the Rabble-rout, that yelping stand,
To cast aspersions on thy MARY-LAND :
But this thy Work shall vindicate its Flame,
And as a Trophy memorize thy Name,
So if without a Tomb thou buried be,
This Book's a lasting Monument for thee.

H. W., Master of Arts. (See note No. 10).

From my Study,
Jan. 10, 1665.

A Land - Skip of the Province of MARY LAND
or the Lord Baltimore's
Plantation neere
Virginia
By Geo: Alsop Gent.

A
C H A R A C T E R
OF THE PROVINCE OF
M A R Y - L A N D .

CHAP. I.

Of the situation and plenty of the Province of Mary-Land.

MARY-LAND is a Province situated upon the large extending bowels of America, under the Government of the Lord Baltimore, adjacent Northwardly upon the Confines of New-England, and neighbouring Southwardly upon Virginia, dwelling pleasantly upon the Bay of Chesapeake (see note No. 11), between the Degrees of 36 and 38, in the Zone temperate, and by Mathematical computation is eleven hundred and odd Leagues in Longitude from England, being within her own imbraces extraordinary pleasant and fertile. Pleasant, in respect of the multitude of Navigable Rivers and Creeks that conveniently and most profitably lodge within the armes of her green, spreading, and delightful Woods; whose natural womb (by her plenty) maintains and preserves the several diversities of Animals that rangingly inhabit her Woods; as she doth otherwise generously fructifie this piece of Earth with almost all sorts of Vegetables, as well Flowers with their varieties of colours and smells, as Herbes and Roots with their several effects and operative virtues, that offer their benefits daily to supply the want of the Inhabitant whene're their necessities shall Sub-pœna them to wait on their commands. So that he, who out of curiosity desires to see the Landskip of the Creation drawn to the life, or to read Natures universal Herbal without book, may with the Opticks of a discreet discerning, view Mary-Land drest in her green and fragrant Mantle of the Spring. Neither do I think there is any place under the Heavenly altitude, or that has footing or room upon the circular Globe of this world, that can parallel this fertile and pleasant piece of ground in its multiplicity, or rather Natures extravagancy of a superabounding plenty. For so much doth this Country increase in a swelling Spring-tide of rich variety and diversities of all things, not only common provisions that supply the reaching stomach of man with a satisfactory plenty, but also extends with its liberality and free convenient benefits to each sensitive faculty, according to their several desiring Appetites. So that had Nature made it her business, on purpose to have found out a situation for the Soul of profitable Ingenuity, she could not have fitted herself better in the traverse of the whole Universe, nor in convenienter terms have told man, Dwell here, live plentifully and be rich.

The Trees, Plants, Fruits, Flowers, and Roots that grow here in Mary-Land, are the only Emblems or Hieroglyphicks of our Adamitical or Primitive situation, as well for their variety as odoriferous smells, together with their vertues, according to their several effects, kinds and properties, which still bear the Effigies of Innocency according to their original Grafts; which by their dumb vegetable Oratory, each hour speaks to the Inhabitant in silent acts, That they need not look for any other Terrestrial Paradise, to suspend or tyre their curiosity upon, while she is extant. For within her doth dwell so much of variety, so much of natural plenty, that there is not any thing that is or may be rare, but it inhabits within this plentious soyle: So that those parts of the Creation that have borne the Bell away (for many ages) for a vegetable plentiousness, must now in silence strike and vayle all, and whisper softly in the auditual parts of Mary-Land, that None but she in this dwells singular; and that as well for that she doth exceed in those Fruits, Plants, Trees and Roots, that dwell and grow in their several Clymes or habitable parts of the Earth besides, as the rareness and super-excellency of her own glory, which she flourishly abounds in, by the abundancy of reserved Rarities, such as the remainder of the World (with all its speculative art) never bore any oocular testimony of as yet. I shall forbear to particularize those several sorts of vegetables that flourishingly grows here, by reason of the vast tediousness that will attend upon the description, which therefore makes them much more fit for an Herbal, than a small Manuscript or History. (See note No. 12).

As for the wilde Animals of this Country, which loosely inhabits the Woods in multitudes, it is impossible to give you an exact description of them all, considering the multiplicity as well as the diversity of so numerous an extent of Creatures: But such as has fallen within the compass or prospect of my knowledge, those you shall know of; videlicet, the Deer, because they are oftner seen, and more participated of by the Inhabitants of the Land, whose acquaintance by a customary familiarity becomes much more common than the rest of Beasts that inhabit the Woods by using themselves in Herds about the Christian Plantations. Their flesh, which in some places of this Province is the common provision the Inhabitants feed on, and which through the extreme glut and plenty of it, being daily killed by the Indians, and brought in to the English, as well as that which is killed by the Christian Inhabitant, that doth it more for recreation, than for the benefit they reap by it. I say, the flesh of Venison becomes (as to food) rather denied, than any way esteemed or desired. And this I speak from an experimental knowledge; For when I was under a Command, and debarr'd of a four years ranging Liberty in the Province of Mary-Land, the Gentleman whom I served my conditional and prefixed time withall, had at one time in his house four-score Venisons, besides plenty of other provisions to serve his Family nine months, they being but seven in number; so that before this Venison was brought to a period by eating, it so nauseated our appetites and stomachs, that plain bread was rather courted and desired than it.

The Deer (see note No. 13) here neither in shape nor action differ from our Deer in England: the Park they traverse their ranging and unmeasured walks in, is bounded and impanell'd in with no other pales than the rough and billowed Ocean: They are also mighty numerous in the Woods, and are little or not at all affrighted at the face of a man, but (like the Does of Whetstons Park) (see note No. 14) though their hydes are not altogether so gaudy to extract an admiration from the beholder, yet they will stand (all most) till they be scratcht.

As for the Wolves, Bears, and Panthers (see note No. 15) of this Country, they inhabit commonly in great multitudes up in the remotest parts of the Continent; yet at some certain time they come down near the Plantations, but do little hurt or injury worth noting, and that which they do is of so degenerate and low a nature, (as in reference to the fierceness and heroick vigour that dwell in the same kind of Beasts in other Countries), that they are hardly worth mentioning: For the highest of their designus and circumventing reaches is but cowardly and base, only to steal a poor Pigg, or kill a lost and half starved Calf. The Effigies of a man terrifies them dreadfully, for they no sooner espy him but their hearts are at their mouths, and the spurs upon their heels, they (having no more manners than Beasts) gallop away, and never bid them farewell that are behind them.

The Elke, the Cat of the Mountain, the Rackoon, the Fox, the Beaver, the Otter, the Possum, the Hare, the Squirrel, the Monack, the Musk-Rat (see note No. 16), and several others (whom I'll omit for brevity sake) inhabit here in Mary-Land in several droves and troops, ranging the Woods at their pleasure.

The meat of most of these Creatures is good for eating, yet of no value nor esteem here, by reason of the great plenty of other provisions, and are only kill'd by the Indians of the Country for their Hydes and Furrs, which become very profitable to those that have the right way of traffiquing for them, as well as it redounds to the Indians that take the pains to catch them, and to slay and dress their several Hydes, selling and disposing them for such commodities as their Heathenish fancy delights in.

As for those Beasts that were carried over at the first seating of the Country, to stock and increase the situation, as Cows, Horses, Sheep and Hogs (see note No. 17), they are generally tame, and use near home, especially the Cows, Sheep and Horses. The Hogs, whose increase is innumerable in the Woods, do dis-frequent home more than the rest of Creatures that are look'd upon as tame, yet with little trouble and pains they are slain and made provision of. Now they that will with a right Historical Survey, view the Woods of Mary-Land in this particular, as in reference to Swine, must upon necessity judge this Land lineally descended from the Gudarean Territories. (See note No. 18.)

Mary-Land (I must confess) cannot boast of her plenty of Sheep here, as other Countries; not but that they will thrive and increase here, as well as in any place of the World besides, but few desire them, because they commonly draw down the Wolves among the Plantations, as well by the sweetness of their flesh, as by the humility of their nature, in not making a defensive resistance against the rough dealing of a ravenous Enemy. They who for curiosity will keep Sheep, may expect that after the Wolves have breathed themselves all day in the Woods to sharpen their stomachs, they will come without fail and sup with them at night, though many times they surfeit themselves with the sawce that's dish'd out of the muzzle of a Gun, and so in the midst of their banquet (poor Animals) they often sleep with their Ancestors.

Fowls of all sorts and varieties dwell at their several times and seasons here in Mary-Land. The Turkey, the Woodcock, the Pheasant, the Partrich, the Pigeon, and others, especially the Turkey, whom I have seen in whole hundreds in flights in the Woods of Mary-Land, being an extraordinary fat Fowl, whose flesh is very pleasant and sweet. These Fowls that I have named are intayled from generation to generation to the Woods. The Swans, the Geese and Ducks (with other Water-Fowl) derogate in this point of settled residence; for they arrive in millionous multitudes in Mary-Land about the middle of September, and take their winged farewell about the midst of March (see note No. 19): But while they do remain, and beleagure the borders of the shoar with their winged Dragoons, several of them are summoned by a Writ of Fieri facias, to answer their presumptuous contempt upon a Spit.

As for Fish, which dwell in the watry tenements of the deep, and by a providential greatness of power, is kept for the relief of several Countries in the world (which would else sink under the rigid enemy of want), here in Mary-Land is a large sufficiency, and plenty of almost all sorts of Fishes, which live and inhabit within her several Rivers and Creeks, far beyond the apprehending or crediting of those that never saw the same, which with very much ease is caught, to the great refreshment of the Inhabitants of the Province.

All sorts of Grain, as Wheat, Rye, Barley, Oates, Pease, besides several others that have their original and birth from the fertile womb of this Land (and no where else), they all grow, increase, and thrive here in Mary-Land, without the chargable and laborious manuring of the Land with Dung; increasing in such a measure and plenty, by the natural richness of the Earth, with the common, beneficial and convenient showers of rain that usually wait upon the several Fields of Grain (by a natural instinct), so that Famine (the dreadful Ghost of penury and want) is never known with his pale visage to haunt the Dominions of Mary-Land. (See note No. 20).

*Could'st thou (O Earth) live thus obscure, and now Within an Age, shew forth thy plentious brow
 Of rich variety, gilded with fruitful Fame,
 That (Trumpet-like) doth Heraldize thy Name,
 And tells the World there is a Land now found,
 That all Earth's Globe can't parallel its Ground?
 Dwell, and be prosperous, and with thy plenty feed
 The craving Carkesses of those Souls that need.*

CHAP. II.

Of the Government and Natural Disposition of the People.

MARY-LAND, not from the remoteness of her situation, but from the regularity of her well ordered Government, may (without sin, I think) be called Singular: And though she is not supported with such large Revenues as some of her Neighbours are, yet such is her wisdom in a reserved silence, and not in pomp, to shew her well-conditioned Estate, in relieving at a distance the proud poverty of those that wout be seen they want, as well as those which by undeniable necessities are drove upon the Rocks of pinching wants: Yet such a loathsome creature is a common and folding-handed Beggar, that upon the penalty of almost a perpetual working in Imprisonment, they are not to appear, nor lurk near our vigilant and laborious dwellings. The Country hath received a general spleen and antipathy against the very name and nature of it; and though there were no Law provided (as there is) to suppress it, I am certainly confident, there is none within the Province that would lower themselves so much below the dignity of men to beg, as long as limbs and life keep house together; so much is a vigilant industrious care esteem'd.

He that desires to see the real Platform of a quiet and sober Government extant, Superiority with a meek and yet commanding power sitting at the Helme, steering the actions of State quietly, through the multitude and diversity of Opinionous waves that diversly meet, let him look on Mary-Land with eyes admiring, and he'll then judge her, The Miracle of this Age.

Here the Roman Catholick, and the Protestant Episcopal (whom the world would perswade have proclaimed open Wars irrevocably against each other), contrarywise concur in an unanimous parallel of friendship, and inseparable love intayled into one another: All Inquisitions, Martyrdom, and Banishments are not so much as named, but unexpressably abhorr'd by each other.

The several Opinions and Sects that lodge within this Government, meet not together in mutinous contempts to disquiet the power that bears Rule, but with a reverend quietness obeys the legal commands of Authority. (See note No. 21). Here's never seen Five Monarchies in a Zealous Rebellion, opposing the Rights and Liberties of a true settled Government, or Monarchical Authority: Nor did I ever see (here in Mary-Land) any of those dancing Adamitical Sisters, that plead a primitive Innocency for their base obscenity, and naked deportment; but I conceive if some of them were there at some certain time of the year, between the Months of January and February, when the winds blow from the North-West quarter of the world, that it would both cool, and (I believe) convert the hottest of these Zealots from their burning and fiercest concupiscence. (See note No. 22).

The Government of this Province doth continually, by all lawful means, strive to purge her Dominions from such base corroding humors, that would predominate upon the least smile of Liberty, did not the Laws check and bridle in those unwarranted and tumultuous Opinions. And truly, where a kingdom, State or Government, keeps or cuts down the weeds of destructive Opinions, there must certainly be a blessed harmony of quietness. And I really believe this Land or Government of Mary-Land may boast, that she enjoys as much quietness from the disturbance of Rebellious Opinions, as most States or Kingdoms do in the world : For here every man lives quietly, and follows his labour and imployment desiredly ; and by the protection of the Laws, they are supported from those molestious troubles that ever attend upon the Commons of other States and Kingdoms, as well as from the Aquafortial operation of great and eating Taxes. Here's nothing to be levied out of the Granaries of Corn ; but contrarywise, by a Law every Domestick Governor of a Family is enjoyned to make or cause to be made so much Corn by a just limitation, as shall be sufficient for him and his Family (see note No. 23) : So that by this wise and Janus-like providence, the thin-jawed Skeliton with his starv'd Carkess is never seen walking the Woods of Mary-Land to affrighten Children.

Once every year within this Province is an Assembly called, and out of every respective County (by the consent of the people) there is chosen a number of men, and to them is deliver'd up the Grievances of the Country; and they maturely debate the matters, and according to their Consciences make Laws for the general good of the people; and where any former Law that was made, seems and is prejudicial to the good or quietness of the Land, it is repeal'd. These men that determine on these matters for the Republique, are called Burgesses, and they commonly sit in Junto about six weeks, being for the most part good ordinary Householders of the several Counties, which do more by a plain and honest Conscience, than by artificial Syllogisms drest up in gilded Orations. (See note No. 24).

Here Suits and Tryals in Law seldome hold dispute two Terms or Courts, but according as the Equity of the Cause appears is brought to a period. (See note No. 25). The Temples and Grays-Inne are clear out of fashion here: Marriot (see note No. 26) would sooner get a paunch-devouring meal for nothing, than for his invading Council. Here if the Lawyer had nothing else to maintain him but his bawling, he might button up his Chops, and burn his Buckrom Bag, or else hang it upon a pin untill its Antiquity had eaten it up with dirt and dust: Then with a Spade, like his Grandsire Adam, turn up the face of the Creation, purchasing his bread by the sweat of his brows, that before was got by the motionated Water-works of his jaws. So contrary to the Genius of the people, if not to the quiet Government of the Province, that the turbulent Spirit of continued and vexatious Law, with all its querks and evasions, is openly and most eagerly opposed, that might make matters either dubious, tedious, or troublesome. All other matters that would be ranging in contrary and improper Spheres, (in short) are here by the Power moderated, lower'd and subdued. All villanous Outrages that are committed in other States, are not so much as known here: A man may walk in the open Woods as secure from being externally dissected, as in his own house or dwelling. So hateful is a Robber, that if but once imagin'd to be so, he's kept at a distance, and shun'd as the Pestilential noysomness. (See note No. 27).

It is generally and very remarkably observed, That those whose Lives and Conversations have had no other gloss nor glory stampt on them in their own Country, but the stigmatization of baseness, were here (by the common civilities and deportments of the Inhabitants of this Province) brought to detest and loath their former actions. Here the Constable hath no need of a train of Holberteers (see note No. 28), that carry more Armour about them, than heart to guard him: Nor is he ever troubled to leave his Feathered Nest to some friendly successor, while he is placing of his Lantern-horn Guard at the end of some suspicious Street, to catch some Night-walker, or Batchelor of Leachery, that has taken his Degree three story high in a Bawdy-house. Here's no New-gates for pilfering Felons, nor Ludgates for Debtors, nor any Bridewels (see note No. 29) to lash the soul of Concupiscence into a chast Repentance. For as there is none of these Prisons in Mary-Land, so the merits of the Country deserves none, but if any be foully vitious, he is so reserv'd in it, that he seldom or never becomes popular. Common Alehouses (whose dwellings are the only Receptacles of debauchery and baseness, and those Schools that trains up Youth, as well as Age, to ruine), in this Province there are none; neither hath Youth his swing or range in such a profuse and unbridled liberty as in other Countries; for from an antient Custom at the primitive seating of the place, the Son works as well as the Servant (an excellent cure for untam'd Youth), so that before they eat their bread, they are commonly taught how to earn it; which makes them by that time Age speaks them capable of receiving that which their Parents indulgency is ready to give them, and which partly is by their own laborious industry purchased, they manage it with such a serious, grave and watching care, as if they had been Masters of Families, trained up in that domestick and governing power from their Cradles. These Christian Natives of the Land, especially those of the Masculine Sex, are generally conveniently confident, reservedly subtle, quick in apprehending, but slow in resolving; and where they spy profit sailing towards them with the wings of a prosperous gale, there they become much familiar. The Women differ something in this point, though not much: They are extreme bashful at the first view, but after a continuance of time hath brought them acquainted, there they become discreetly familiar, and are much more talkative then men. All Complemental Courtships, drest up in critical Rarities, are meer strangers to them, plain wit comes nearest their Genius; so that he that intends to Court a Mary-Land Girle, must have something more than the Tautologies of a long-winded speech to carry on his design, or else he may (for ought I know) fall under the contempt of her frown, and his own windy Oration. (See note No. 30).

One great part of the Inhabitants of this Province are desiredly Zealous, great pretenders to Holiness; and where any thing appears that carries on the Frontispiece of its Effigies the stamp of Religion, though fundamentally never so imperfect, they are suddenly taken with it, and out of an eager desire to any thing that's new, not weighing the sure matter in the Ballance of Reason, are very apt to be catcht. (See note No. 31). Quakerism is the only Opinion that bears the Bell away (see note No. 32): The Anabaptists (see note No. 33) have little to say here, as well as in other places, since the Ghost of John of Leyden haunts their Conventicles. The Adamite, Ranter, and Fift-Monarchy men, Mary-Land cannot, nay will not digest within her liberal stomach such corroding morsels: So that this Province is an utter Enemy to blasphemous and zealous Imprecations, drain'd from the Lymbeck of hellish and damnable Spirits, as well as profuse prophaness, that issues from the prodigality of none but crack-brain Sots.

*'Tis said the Gods lower down that Chain above,
That tyes both Prince and Subject up in Love;
And if this Fiction of the Gods be true,
Few, Mary-Land, in this can boast but you:
Live ever blest, and let those Clouds that do
Eclipse most States, be always Lights to you;
And dwelling so, you may for ever be
The only Emblem of Tranquility.*

CHAP. III.

The necessariness of Servitude proved, with the common usage of Servants in Mary-Land, together with their Priviledges.

AS there can be no Monarchy without the Supremacy of a King and Crown, nor no King without Subjects, nor any Parents without it be by the fruitful off-spring of Children; neither can there be any Masters, unless it be by the inferior Servitude of those that dwell under them, by a commanding enjoyment: And since it is ordained from the original and superabounding wisdom of all things, That there should be Degrees and Diversities amongst the Sons of men, in acknowledging of a Superiority from Inferiors to Superiors; the Servant with a reverent and befitting Obedience is as liable to this duty in a measurable performance to him whom he serves, as the loyalest of Subjects to his Prince. Then since it is a common and ordained Fate, that there must be Servants as well as Masters, and that good Servitudes are those Colledges of Sobriety that checks in the giddy and wild-headed youth from his profuse and uneven course of life, by a limited constraintment, as well as it otherwise agrees with the moderate and discreet Servant: Why should there be such an exclusive Obstacle in the minds and unreasonable dispositions of many people, against the limited time of convenient and necessary Servitude, when it is a thing so requisite, that the best of Kingdoms would be unhing'd from their quiet and well settled Government without it. Which levelling doctrine we here of England in this latter age (whose womb was truss'd out with nothing but confused Rebellion) have too much experienced, and was daily rung into the ears of the tumultuous Vulgar by the Bell-weather Sectaries of the Times: But (blessed be God) those Clouds are blown over, and the Government of the Kingdom coucht under a more stable form.

There is no truer Emblem of Confusion either in Monarchy or Domestick Governments, then when either the Subject, or the Servant, strives for the upper hand of his Prince, or Master, and to be equal with him, from whom he receives his present subsistence: Why then, if Servitude be so necessary that no place can be governed in order, nor people live without it, this may serve to tell those which prick up their ears and bray against it, That they are none but Asses, and deserve the Bridle of a strict commanding power to reine them in: For Time certainly confident, that there are several Thousands in most Kingdoms of Christendom, that could not at all live and subsist, unless they had served some prefixed time, to learn either some Trade, Art, or Science, and by either of them to extract their present livelihood.

Then methinks this may stop the mouths of those that will indiscreetly compassionate them that dwell under necessary Servitudes; for let but Parents of an indifferent capacity in Estates, when their Childrens age by computation speak them seventeen or eighteen years old, turn them loose to the wide world, without a seven years working Apprenticeship (being just brought up to the bare formality of a little reading and writing) and you shall immediately see how weak and shiftless they'll be towards the maintaining and supporting of themselves; and (without either stealing or begging) their bodies like a Sentinel must continually wait to see when their Souls will be frighted away by the pale Ghost of a starving want.

Then let such, where Providence hath ordained to live as Servants, either in England or beyond Sea, endure the prefixed yolk of their limited time with patience, and then in a small computation of years, by an industrious endeavour, they may become Masters and Mistresses of Families themselves. And let this be spoke to the deserved praise of Mary-Land, That the four years I served there were not to me so slavish, as a two years Servitude of a Handicraft Apprenticeship was here in London; Volenti enim nil difficile: Not that I write this to seduce or delude any, or to draw them from their native soyle, but out of a love to my Countrymen, whom in the general I wish well to, and that the lowest of them may live in such a capacity of Estate, as that the bare interest of their Livelihoods might not altogether depend upon persons of the greatest extendments.

Now those whose abilities here in England are capable of maintaining themselves in any reasonable and handsom manner, they had best so to remain, lest the roughness of the Ocean, together with the staring visages of the wilde Animals, which they may see after their arrival into the Country, may alter the natural dispositions of their bodies, that the stay'd and solid part that kept its motion by Doctor Trigs purgationary operation, may run beyond the byas of the wheel in a violent and laxative confusion.

Now contrarywise, they who are low, and make bare shifts to buoy themselves up above the shabby center of beggarly and incident casualties, I heartily could wish the removal of some of them into Mary-Land, which would make much better for them that stay'd behind, as well as it would advantage those that went.

They whose abilities cannot extend to purchase their own transportation into Mary-Land (and surely he that cannot command so small a sum for so great a matter, his life must needs be mighty low and dejected), I say they may for the debarment of a four years sordid liberty, go over into this Province and there live plentiously well. And what's a four years Servitude to advantage a man all the remainder of his dayes, making his predecessors happy in his sufficient abilities, which he attained to partly by the restraintment of so small a time?

Now those that commit themselves into the care of the Merchant to carry them over, they need not trouble themselves with any inquisitive search touching their Voyage; for there is such an honest care and provision made for them all the time they remain aboard the Ship, and are sailing over, that they want for nothing that is necessary and convenient.

The Merchant commonly before they go aboard the Ship, or set themselves in any forwardness for their Voyage, has Conditions of Agreements drawn between him and those that by a voluntary consent become his Servants, to serve him, his Heirs or Assigns, according as they in their primitive acquaintance have made their bargain (see note No. 34), some two, some three, some four years; and whatever the Master or Servant tyes himself up to here in England by Condition, the Laws of the Province will force a performance of when they come there: Yet here is this Priviledge in it when they arrive, If they dwell not with the Merchant they made their first agreement withall, they may choose whom they will serve their prefixed time with; and after their curiosity has pitcht on one whom they think fit for their turn, and that they may live well withall, the Merchant makes an Assignment of the Indenture over to him whom they of their free will have chosen to be their Master, in the same nature as we here in England (and no otherwise) turn over Covenant Servants or Apprentices from one Master to another. Then let those whose chaps are always breathing forth those filthy dregs of abusive exclamations, which are Lymbeckt from their sottish and preposterous brains, against this Country of Mary-Land, saying, That those which are transported over thither, are sold in open Market for Slaves, and draw in Carts like Horses; which is so damnable an untruth, that if they should search to the very Center of Hell, and enquire for a Lye of the most antient and damned stamp, I confidently believe they could not find one to parallel this: For know, That the Servants here in Mary-Land of all Colonies, distant or remote Plantations, have the least cause to complain, either for strictness of Servitude, want of Provisions, or need of Apparel: Five dayes and a half in the Summer weeks is the allotted time that they work in; and for two months, when the Sun predominates in the highest pitch of his heat, they claim an antient and customary Priviledge, to repose themselves three hours in the day within the house, and this is undeniably granted to them that work in the Fields.

In the Winter time, which lasteth three months (viz.), December, January, and February, they do little or no work or imployment, save cutting of wood to make good fires to sit by, unless their Ingenuity will prompt them to hunt the Deer, or Bear, or recreate themselves in Fowling, to slaughter the Swans, Geese, and Turkeys (which this Country affords in a most plentiful manner) : For every Servant has a Gun, Powder and Shot allowed him. to sport him withall on all Holidayes and leasurable times, if he be capable of using it, or be willing to learn.

Now those Servants which come over into this Province, being Artificers, they never (during their Servitude) work in the Fields, or do any other employment save that which their Handicraft and Mechanick endeavours are capable of putting them upon, and are esteem'd as well by their Masters, as those that imploy them. above measure. He that's a Tradesman here, in Mary-Land (though a Servant), lives as well as most common Handicrafts do in London, though they may want something of that Liberty which Freemen have, to go and come at their pleasure ; yet if it were rightly understood and considered, what most of the Liberties of the several poor Tradesmen are taken up about, and what a care and trouble attends that thing they call Liberty, which according to the common translation is but Idleness, and (if weighed in the Ballance of a just Reason) will be found to be much heavier and cloggy then the four years restraintment of a Mary-Land Servitude. He that lives in the nature of a Servant in this Province, must serve but four years by the Custom of the Country ; and when the expiration of his time speaks him a Freeman, there's a Law in the Province, that enjoyns his Master whom he hath served to give him Fifty Acres of Land, Corn to serve him a whole year, three Suits of Apparel, with things necessary to them, and Tools to work withall; so that they are no sooner free, but they are ready to set up for themselves, and when once entred, they live passingly well. (See note No. 35).

The Women that go over into this Province as Servants, have the best luck here as in any place of the world besides; for they are no sooner on shoar, but they are courted into a Copulative Matrimony, which some of them (for aught I know) had they not come to such a Market with their Virginity, might have kept it by them untill it had been mouldy, unless they had let it out by a yearly rent to some of the Inhabitants of Lewknors-Lane (see note No. 36), or made a Deed of Gift of it to Mother Coney, having only a poor stipend out of it, untill the Gallows or Hospital called them away. Men have not altogether so good luck as Women in this kind, or natural preferment, without they be good Rhetoricians, and well vers'd in the Art of perswasion, then (probably) they may ryvet themselves in the time of their Servitude into the private and reserved favour of their Mistress, if Age speak their Master deficient.

In short, touching the Servants of this Province, they live well in the time of their Service, and by their restraintment in that time, they are made capable of living much better when they come to be free; which in several other parts of the world I have observed, That after some servants have brought their indented and limited time to a just and legal period by Servitude, they have been much more incapable of supporting themselves from sinking into the Gulf of a slavish, poor, fettered, and intangled life, then all the fastness of their prefixed time did involve them in before.

Now the main and principal Reason of those incident casualties, that wait continually upon the residences of most poor Artificers, is (I gather) from the multicplicity or innumerableness of those several Companies of Tradesmen, that dwell so closely and stiflingly together in one and the same place, that like the chafing Gum in Watered-Tabby, they eat into the folds of one anothers Estates. And this might easily be remedied, would but some of them remove and disperse distantly where want and necessity calls for them; their dwellings (I am confident) would be much larger, and their conditions much better, as well in reference to their Estates, as to the satisfactoriness of their minds, having a continual imployment, and from that imployment a continual benefit, without either begging, seducing, or flattering for it, encroaching that one month from one of the same profession, that they are heaved out themselves the next. For I have observed on the other side of Mary-Land, that the whole course of most Mechanical endeavours, is to catch, snatch, and undervalue one another, to get a little work, or a Customer; which when they have attained by their lowbuilt and sneaking circumventings, it stands upon so flashy, mutable, and transitory a foundation, that the best of his hopes is commonly extinguisht before the poor undervalued Tradesman is warm in the enjoyment of his Customer.

Then did not a cloud of low and base Cowardize eclipse the Spirits of these men, these things might easily be diverted; but they had as live take a Bear by the tooth, as think of leaving their own Country, though they live among their own National people, and are governed by the same Laws they have here, yet all this wont do with them; and all the Reason they can render to the contrary is, There's a great Sea betwixt them and Mary-Land, and in that Sea there are Fishes, and not only Fishes but great Fishes, and then should a Ship meet with such an inconsiderable encounter as a Whale, one blow with his tayle, and then Lord have Mercy upon us: Yet meet with these men in their common Exchange, which is one story high in the bottom of a Celler, disputing over a Black-pot, it would be monstrously dreadful here to insert the particulars, one swearing that he was the first that scaled the Walls of Dundee, when the Bullets flew about their ears as thick as Hail-stones usually fall from the Sky; which if it were but rightly examined, the most dangerous Engagement that ever he was in, was but at one of the flashy battels at Finsbury (see note No. 37), where commonly there's more Custard greedily devoured, than men prejudiced by the rigour of the War. Others of this Company relating their several dreadful exploits, and when they are just entring into the particulars, let but one step in and interrupt their discourse, by telling them of a Sea Voyage, and the violency of storms that attends it, and that there are no back-doors to run out at, which they call, a handsom Retreat and Charge again; the apprehensive danger of this is so powerful and penetrating on them, that a damp sweat immediately involves their Microcosm, so that Margery the old Matron of the Celler, is fain to run for a half-peny-worth of Angelica to rub their nostrils; and though the Port-hole of their bodies has been stopt from a convenient Evacuation some several months, they'll need no other Suppository to open the Orifice of their Esculent faculties then this Relation, as their Drawers or Breeches can more at large demonstrate to the inquisitive search of the curious.

Now I know that some will be apt to judge, that I have written this last part out of derision to some of my poor Mechanick Country-men: Truly I must needs tell those to their face that think so of me, that they prejudice me extremely, by censuring me as guilty of any such crime: What I have written is only to display the sordidness of their dispositions, who rather than they will remove to another Country to live plentifully well, and give their Neighbors more Elbow-room and space to breath in, they will croud and throng upon one another, with the pressure of a beggarly and unnecessary weight.

That which I have to say more in this business, is a hearty and desirous wish, that the several poor Tradesmen here in London that I know, and have borne an ocular testimony of their want, might live so free from care as I did when I dwelt in the bonds of a four years Servitude in Mary-Land.

*Be just (Domestick Monarchs) unto them
That dwell as Household Subjects to each Realm ;
Let not your Power make you be too severe,
Where there's small faults reign in your sharp Career :
So that the Worlds base yelping Crew
May'nt bark what I have wrote is writ untrue,
So use your Serrants, if there come no more,
They may serve Eight, instead of serving Four.*

CHAP. IV.

Upon Trafique, and what Merchandizing Commodities this Province affords, also how Tobacco is planted and made fit for Commerce.

TRafique, Commerce, and Trade, are those great wheelles that by their circular and continued motion, turn into most Kingdoms of the Earth the plenty of abundant Riches that they are commonly fed withall: For Trafique in his right description, is the very soul of a Kingdom; and should but Fate ordain a removal of it for some years. from the richest and most populous Monarchy that dwells in the most fertile clyme of the whole Universe, he would soon find by a woful experiment, the miss and loss of so reviving a supporter. And I am certainly confident, that England would as soon feel her feebleness by withdrawment of so great an upholder; as well in reference to the internal and healthful preservative of her Inhabitants, for want of those Medicinal Drugs that are landed upon her Coast every year, as the external profits, Glory and beneficial Graces that accrue by her.

Paracelsus might knock down his Forge, if Trafique and Commerce should once cease, and grynde the hilt of his Sword into Powder, and take some of the Infusion to make him so valorous, that he might cut his own Throat in the honor of Mercury: Galen might then burn his Herbal, and like Joseph of Arimathea, build him a Tomb in his Garden, and so rest from his labours: Our Physical Collegians of London would have no cause then to thunder Fire-balls at Nich. Culpeppers Dispensatory (see note No. 38). All Herbs, Roots, and Medicines would bear their original christening, that the ignorant might understand them: Album grecum would not be Album grecum (see note No. 39) then, but a Dogs turd would be a Dogs turd in plain terms, in spite of their teeth.

If Trade should once cease, the Custom-house would soon miss her hundreds and thousands Hogs-heads of Tobacco (see note No. 40), that use to be throng in her every year, as well as the Grocers would in their Ware-houses and Boxes, the Gentry and Commonalty in their Pipes, the Physician in his Drugs and Medicinal Compositions; The (leering) Waiters for want of employment, might (like so many Diogenes) intomb themselves in their empty Casks, and rouling themselves off the Key into the Thames, there wander up and down from tide to tide in contemplation of Aristotles unresolved curiosity, until the rottenness of their circular habitation give them a Quietus est, and fairly surrender them up into the custody of those who both for profession, disposition and nature, lay as near claim to them, as if they both tumbled in one belly, and for name they jump alike, being according to the original translation both Sharkes.

Silks and Cambricks, and Lawns to make sleeves, would be as soon miss'd at Court, as Gold and Silver would be in the Mint and Pockets: The Low-Country Soldier would be at a cold stand for Outlandish Furs to make him Muffs, to keep his ten similitudes warm in the Winter, as well as the Furrier for want of Skins to uphold his Trade.

Should Commerce once cease, there is no Country in the habitable world but would undoubtedly miss that flourishing, splendid and rich gallantry of Equipage, that Trafique maintained and drest her up in, before she received that fatal Eclipse: England, France, Germany and Spain, together with all the Kingdoms —

But stop (good Muse) lest I should, like the Parson of Pancras (see note No. 41), run so far from my Text in half an hour, that a two hours trot back again would hardly fetch it up: I had best while I am alive in my Doctrine, to think again of Mary-Land, lest the business of other Countries take up so much room in my brain, that I forget and bury her in oblivion.

The three main Commodities this Country affords for Trafique, are Tobacco, Furs, and Flesh. Furs and Skins, as Beavers, Otters, Musk-Rats, Rackoons, Wild-Cats, and Elke or Buffeloe (see note No. 42), with divers others, which were first made vendible by the Indians of the Country, and sold to the Inhabitant, and by them to the Merchant, and so transported into England and other places where it becomes most commodious.

Tobacco is the only solid Staple Commodity of this Province: The use of it was first found out by the Indians many Ages agoe, and transferr'd into Christendom by that great Discoverer of America Columbus. It's generally made by all the Inhabitants of this Province, and between the months of March and April they sow the seed (which is much smaller then Mustard-seed) in small beds and patches digg'd up and made so by art, and about May the Plants commonly appear green in those beds: In June they are transplanted from their beds, and set in little hillocks in distant rowes, dug up for the same purpose; some twice or thrice they are weeded, and succoured from their illegitimate Leaves that would be peeping out from the body of the Stalk. They top the several Plants as they find occasion in their predominating rankness: About the middle of September they cut the Tobacco down, and carry it into houses, (made for that purpose) to bring it to its purity: And after it has attained, by a convenient attendance upon time, to its perfection, it is then tyed up in bundles, and packt into Hogs-heads, and then laid by for the Trade.

Between November and January there arrives in this Province Shipping to the number of twenty sail and upwards (see note No. 43), all Merchant-men loaden with Commodities to Trafique and dispose of.

trucking with the Planter for Silks, Hollands, Serges, and Broad-clothes, with other necessary Goods, priz'd at such and such rates as shall be judg'd on is fair and legal, for Tobacco at so much the pound, and advantage on both sides considered; the Planter for his work, and the Merchant for adventuring himself and his Commodity into so far a Country: Thus is the Trade on both sides drove on with a fair and honest Decorum.

The Inhabitants of this Province are seldom or never put to the affrightment of being robb'd of their money, nor to dirty their Fingers by telling of vast sums: They have more bags to carry Corn, then Coyn; and though they want, but why should I call that a want which is only a necessary miss? the very effects of the dirt of this Province affords as great a profit to the general Inhabitant, as the Gold of Peru doth to the straight-breecht Commonalty of the Spaniard.

Our Shops and Exchanges of Mary-Land, are the Merchants Store-houses, where with few words and protestations Goods are bought and delivered; not like those Shop-keepers Boys in London, that continually cry, What do ye lack Sir? What d'ye buy? yelping with so wide a mouth, as if some Apothecary had hired their mouths to stand open to catch Gnats and Vagabond Flyes in.

Tobacco is the currant Coyn of Mary-Land, and will sooner purchase Commodities from the Merchant, then money. I must confess the New-England men that trade into this Province, had rather have fat Pork for their Goods, than Tobacco or Furrs (see note No. 44), which I conceive is, because their bodies being fast bound up with the cords of restraining Zeal, they are fain to make use of the lineaments of this Non-Canaanite creature physically to loosen them; for a bit of a pound upon a two-peny Rye loaf, according to the original Receipt, will bring the costiv'st red-ear'd Zealot in some three hours time to a fine stool, if methodically observed.

Medera-Wines, Sugars, Salt, Wickar-Chairs, and Tin Candlesticks, is the most of the Commodities they bring in: They arrive in Mary-Land about September, being most of them Ketches and Barkes, and such small Vessels, and those dispersing themselves into several small Creeks of this Province, to sell and dispose of their Commodities, where they know the Market is most fit for their small Adventures.

Barbadoes (see note No. 45), together with the several adjacent Islands, has much Provision yearly from this Province: And though these Sun-burnt Phaetons think to outvye Mary-Land in their Silks and Puffs, daily speaking against her whom their necessities makes them beholding to, and like so many Don Diegos that beackt Pauls, cock their Felts and look big upon't; yet if a man could go down into their infernals, and see how it fares with them there, I believe he would hardly find any other Spirit to buoy them up, then the ill-visaged Ghost of want, that continually wanders from gut to gut to feed upon the undigested rynes of Potatoes.

*Trafique is Earth's great Atlas, that supports
The pay of Armies, and the height of Courts,
And makes Mechanicks live, that else would die
Meer starving Martyrs to their penury :
None but the Merchant of this thing can boast,
He, like the Bee, comes loaden from each Coast,
And to all Kingdoms, as within a Hive,
Stows up those Riches that doth make them thrive :
Be thrifty, Mary-Land, keep what thou hast in store,
And each years Trafique to thy self get more.*

A Relation of the Customs, Manners, Absurdities, and Religion of the, SUSQUEHANOCK (see note No. 46)
INDIANS in and near MARY-LAND.

AS the diversities of Languages (since Babels confusion) has made the distinction between people and people, in this Christendom part of the world; so are they distinguished Nation from Nation, by the diversities and confusion of their Speech and Languages (see note No. 47) here in America: And as every Nation differs in their Laws. Manners and Customs, in Europe, Asia and Africa, so do they the very same here; That it would be a most intricate and laborious trouble, to run (with a description) through the several Nations of Indians here in America, considering the innumerableness and diversities of them that dwell on this vast and unmeasured Continent: But rather then I'll be altogether silent, I shall do like the Painter in the Comedy, who being to limne out the Pourtraiture of the Furies, as they severally appeared, set himself behind a Pillar, and between fright and amazement, drew them by guess. Those Indians that I have convers'd withall here in this Province of Mary-Land, and have had any ocular experimental view of either of their Customs. Manners, Religions, and Absurdities, are called by the name of Susquchanocks, being a people lookt upon by the Christian Inhabitants. as the most Noble and Heroick Nation of Indians that dwell upon the confines of America ; also are so allowed and lookt upon by the rest of the Indians, by a submissive and tributary acknowledgement ; being a people cast into the mould of a most large and Warlike deportment, the men being for the most part seven foot high in latitude, and in magnitude and bulk suitable to so high a pitch ; their voyce large and hollow, as ascending out of a Cave, their gate and behavior strait, stately and majestick, treading on the Earth with as much pride, contempt, and disdain to so sordid a Center, as can be imagined from a creature derived from the same mould and Earth.

Their bodies are cloth'd with no other Armour to defend them from the nipping frosts of a benumbing Winter, or the penetrating and scorching influence of the Sun in a hot Summer. then what Nature gave them when they parted with the dark receptacle of their mothers womb. They go Men, Women and Children, all naked. only where shame leads them by a natural instinct to be reservedly modest, there they become cover'd. The formality of Jezabels artificial Glory is much courted and followed by these Indians, only in matter of colours (I conceive) they differ.

The Indians paint upon their faces one stroke of red, another of green, another of white, and another of black, so that when they have accomplished the Equipage of their Countenance in this trim, they are the only Hieroglyphicks and Representatives of the Furies. Their skins are naturally white, but altered from their originals by the several dyings of Roots and Barks, that they prepare and make useful to metamorphize their hydes into a dark Cinamon brown. The hair of their head is black, long and harsh, but where Nature hath appointed the situation of it any where else, they divert it (by an antient custom) from its growth, by pulling it up hair by hair by the root in its primitive appearance. Several of them wear divers impressions on their breasts and armes, as the picture of the Devil, Bears, Tigers, and Panthers, which are imprinted on their several lineaments with much difficulty and pain, with an irrevocable determination of its abiding there: And this they count a badge of Heroick Valour, and the only Ornament due to their Heroes. (See note No. 48).

These Susquehannock Indians are for the most part great Warriours, and seldom sleep one Summer in the quiet armes of a peaceable Rest, but keep (by their present Power, as well as by their former Conquest) the several Nations of Indians round about them, in a forceable obedience and subjection.

Their Government is wrapt up in so various and intricate a Laborynth, that the speculativ'st Artist in the whole World, with his artificial and natural Opticks, cannot see into the rule or sway of these Indians, to distinguish what name of Government to call them by; though Purchas (see note No. 49) in his Peregrination between London and Essex, (which he calls the whole World) will undertake (forsooth) to make a Monarchy of them, but if he had said Anarchy, his word would have pass'd with a better belief. All that ever I could observe in them as to this matter is, that he that is most cruelly Valorous, is accounted the most Noble: Here is very seldom any creeping from a Country Farm, into a Courtly Gallantry, by a sum of money; nor feeling the Heralds to put Daggers and Pistols into their Armes, to make the ignorant believe that they are lineally descended from the house of the Wars and Conquests; he that fights best carries it here.

When they determine to go upon some Design that will and doth require a Consideration, some six of them get into a corner, and sit in Juncto; and if thought fit, their business is made popular, and immediately put into action; if not, they make a full stop to it, and are silently reserv'd.

The Warlike Equipage they put themselves in when they prepare for Belona's March, is with their faces, armes, and breasts confusedly painted, their hair greased with Bears oyl, and stuck thick with Swans Feathers, with a wreath or Diadem of black and white Beads upon their heads, a small Hatchet, instead of a Cymetre, stuck in their girts behind them, and either with Guns, or Bows and Arrows. In this posture and dress they march out from their Fort, or dwelling, to the number of Forty in a Troop, singing (or rather howling out) the Decades or Warlike exploits of their Ancestors, ranging the wide Woods untill their fury has met with an Enemy worthy of their Revenge. What Prisoners fall into their hands by the destiny of War, they treat them very civilly while they remain with them abroad, but when they once return homewards, they then begin to dress them in the habit for death, putting on their heads and armes wreaths of Beads, greazing their hair with fat, some going before, and the rest behind, at equal distance from their Prisoners, bellowing in a strange and confused manner, which is a true presage and fore-runner of destruction to their then conquered Enemy. (See note No. 50).

In this manner of march they continue till they have brought them to their Berken City (see note No. 51), where they deliver them up to those that in cruelty will execute them, without either the legal Judgement of a Council of War, or the benefit of their Clergy at the Common Law. The common and usual deaths they put their Prisoners to, is to bind them to stakes, making a fire some distance from them; then one or other of them, whose Genius delights in the art of Paganish dissection, with a sharp knife or flint cuts the Cutis or outermost skin of the brow so deep, untill their nails, or rather Talons, can fasten themselves firm and secure in, then (with a most rigid jerk) dis-robeth the head of skin and hair at one pull, leaving the skull almost as bare as those Monumental Skelions at Chyrurgions-Hall; but for fear they should get cold by leaving so warm and customary a Cap off, they immediately apply to the skull a Cataplasm of hot Embers to keep their Pericanium warm. While they are thus acting this cruelty on their heads, several others are preparing pieces of Iron, and barrels of old Guns, which they make red hot, to sear each part and lineament of their bodies, which they perform and act in a most cruel and barbarous manner: And while they are thus in the midst of their torments and execrable usage, some tearing their skin and hair of their head off by violence, others searing their bodies with hot irons, some are cutting their flesh off, and eating it before their eyes raw while they are alive; yet all this and much more never makes them lower the Top-gallant sail of their Heroick courage, to beg with a submissive Repentance any indulgent favour from their persecuting Enemies; but with an undaunted contempt to their cruelty, eye it with so slight and mean a respect, as if it were below them to value what they did, they courageously (while breath doth libertize them) sing the summary of their Warlike Atchievements.

Now after this cruelty has brought their tormented lives to a period, they immediately fall to butchering of them into parts, distributing the several pieces amongst the Sons of War, to intomb the ruines of their deceased Conquest in no other Sepulchre then their unsanctified maws; which they with more appetite and desire do eat and digest, then if the best of foods should court their stomachs to participate of the most restorative Banquet. Yet though they now and then feed upon the Carcasses of their Enemies, this is not a common dyet, but only a particular dish for the better sort (see note No. 52); for there is not a Beast that runs in the Woods of America, but if they can by any means come at him, without any scruple of Conscience they'll fall too (without saying Grace) with a devouring greediness.

As for their Religion, together with their Rites and Ceremonies, they are so absurd and ridiculous, that its almost a sin to name them. They own no other Deity than the Devil, (solid or profound) but with a kind of a wilde imaginary conjecture, they suppose from their groundless conceits, that the World had a Maker, but where he is that made it, or whether he be living to this day, they know not. The Devil, as I said before, is all the God they own or worship; and that more out of a slavish fear then any real Reverence to his Infernal or Diabolical greatness, he forcing them to their Obedience by his rough and rigid dealing with them, often appearing visibly among them to their terrour, bastinadoing them (with cruel menaces) even unto death, and burning their Fields of Corn and houses, that the relation thereof makes them tremble themselves when they tell it.

Once in four years they Sacrifice a Childe to him (see note No. 53), in an acknowledgement of their firm obedience to all his Devillish powers, and Hellish commands. The Priests to whom they apply themselves in matters of importance and greatest distress, are like those that attended upon the Oracle at Delphos, who by their Magic-spells could command a pro or con from the Devil when they pleas'd. These Indians oft-times raise great Tempests when they have any weighty matter or design in hand, and by blustering storms inquire of their Infernal God (the Devil) How matters shall go with them either in publick or private. (See note No. 54).

When any among them depart this life, they give him no other intombment, then to set him upright upon his breech in a hole dug in the Earth some five foot long, and three foot deep, covered over with the Bark of Trees Arch-wise, with his face Du-West, only leaving a hole half a foot square open. They dress him in the same Equipage and Gallantry that he used to be trim'd in when he was alive, and so bury him (if a Soldier) with his Bows, Arrows, and Target, together with all the rest of his implements and weapons of War, with a Kettle of Broth, and Corn standing before him, lest he should meet with bad quarters in his way. (See note No. 55). His Kinred and Relations follow him to the Grave, sheath'd in Bear skins for close mourning, with the tayl droyling on the ground, in imitation of our English Solemnners, that think there's nothing like a tayl a Degree in length, to follow the dead Corpse to the Grave with. Here if that snuffling Prolocutor, that waits upon the dead Monuments of the Tombs at Westminster, with his white Rod were there, he might walk from Tomb to Tomb with his, 'Here lies the Duke of Ferrara and his Dutchess, and never find any decaying vacation, unless it were in the moldering Consumption of his own Lungs. They bury all within the wall or Pallisado'd impalement of their City, or Comadago (see note No. 56) as they call it. Their houses are low and long, built with the Bark of Trees Arch-wise, standing thick and confusedly together. They are situated a hundred and odd miles distant from the Christian Plantations of Mary-Land, at the head of a River that runs into the Bay of Chasapike, called by their own name The Susquehanock River, where they remain and inhabit most part of the Summer time, and seldom remove far from it, unless it be to subdue any Forreign Rebellion.

About November the best Hunters draw off to several remote places of the Woods, where they know the Deer, Bear, and Elke useth; there they build them several Cottages, which they call their Winter-quarter, where they remain for the space of three months, untill they have killed up a sufficiency of Provisions to supply their Families with in the Summer.

The Women are the Butchers, Cooks, and Tillers of the ground, the Men think it below the honour of a Masculine, to stoop to any thing but that which their Gun, or Bow and Arrows can command. The Men kill the several Beasts which they meet withall in the Woods, and the Women are the Pack horses to fetch it in upon their backs, fleying and dressing the hydes, (as well as the flesh for provision) to make them fit for Trading, and which are brought down to the English at several seasons in the year, to truck and dispose of them for course Blankets, Guns, Powder and lead, Beads, small Looking-glasses, Knives, and Razors. (See note No. 57).

I never observed all the while I was amongst these naked Indians, that ever the Women wore the Breeches, or dared either in look or action predominate over the Men. They are very constant to their Wives; and let this be spoken to their Heathenish praise, that did they not alter their bodies by their dyings, paintings, and cutting themselves, marring those Excellencies that Nature bestowed upon them in their original conceptions and birth, there would be as amiable beauties amongst them, as any Alexandria could afford, when Mark Anthony and Cleopatra dwelt there together. Their Marriages are short and authentique; for after 'tis resolv'd upon by both parties, the Woman sends her intended Husband a Kettle of boyld Venison, or Bear; and he returns in lieu thereof Beaver or Otters Skins, and so their Nuptial Rites are concluded without other Ceremony. (See note No. 58).

Before I bring my Heathenish Story to a period, I have one thing worthy your observation: For as our Grammar Rules have it, Non decet quenquam me ire currentem aut mandantem: It doth not become any man to piss running or eating. These Pagan men naturally observe the same Rule; for they are so far from running, that like a Hare, they squat to the ground as low as they can, while the Women stand bolt upright with their armes a Kimbo, performing the same action, in so confident and obscene a posture (see note No. 59), as if they had taken their Degrees of Entrance at Venice, and commenced Bawds of Art at Legorne.

A Collection of some Letters that were written by the same Author, most of them in the time of his Servitude.

To my much Honored Friend Mr. T. B.

SIR,

I Have lived with sorrow to see the Anointed of the Lord tore from his Throne by the hands of Parricides, and in contempt haled, in the view of God, Angels and Men, upon a public Theatre, and there murdered. I have seen the sacred Temple of the Almighty, in scorn by Schismatics made the Receptacle of Theeves and Robbers; and those Religious Prayers, that in devotion Evening and Morning were offered up as a Sacrifice to our God, rent by Sacrilegious hands, and made no other use of, then sold to Brothel-houses to light Tobacco with.

Who then can stay, or will, to see things of so great weight steer'd by such barbarous Hounds as these: First, were there an Egypt to go down to, I would involve my Liberty to them, upon condition ne'er more to see my Country. What? live in silence under the sway of such base actions, is to give consent; and though the lowness of my present Estate and Condition, with the hazard I put my future dayes upon, might plead a just excuse for me to stay at home; but Heavens forbid: I'll rather serve in Chains, and draw the Plough with Animals, till death shall stop and say, It is enough. Sir, if you stay behind, I wish you well: I am bound for Mary-Land, this day I have made some entrance into my intended voyage, and when I have done more, you shall know of it. I have here inclosed what you of me desired, but truly trouble, discontent and business, have so amazed my senses, that what to write, or where to write, I conceive my self almost as incapable as he that never did write. What you'll find will be Ex tempore, without the use of premeditation; and though there may want something of a flourishing stile to dress them forth, yet I'm certain there wants nothing of truth, will, and desire.

*Heavens bright Lamp, shine forth some of thy Light,
But just so long to paint this dismal Night;
Then draw thy beams, and hide thy glorious face,
From the dark sable actions of this place;
Leaving these lustful Sodomites groping still,
To satisfy each dark unsatiate will,
Untill at length the crimes that they commit,
May sink them down to Hells Infernal pit.
Base and degenerate Earth, how dost thou lye,
That all that pass hiss, at thy Treachery?
Thou which couldst boast once of thy King and Crown,
By base Mechanicks now art tumbled down,
Brewers and Coblers, that have scarce an Eye,
Walk hand in hand in thy Supremacy;
And all those Courts where Majesty did Throne,
Are now the Seats for Oliver and Ioan:*

*Persons of Honour, which did before inherit
Their glorious Titles from deserved merit,
Are all grown silent, and with wonder gaze,
To view such Slaves drest in their Courtly rayes ;
To see a Drayman that knows nought but Yeast,
Set in a Throne like Babylons red Beast,
While heaps of Parasites do idolize
This red-nos'd Bell, with fawning Sacrifice.
What can we say ? our King they've Murthered,
And those well born, are basely buried :
Nobles are slain, and Royalists in each street
Are scorn'd, and kick'd by most Men that they meet :
Religion's banisht, and Heresie survives,
And none but Conventicks in this Age thrives.
Oh could those Romans from their Ashes rise,
That liv'd in Nero's time : Oh how their cries
Would our perfidious Island shake, nay rend,
With clamorous screams unto the Heaven send :
Oh how they'd blush to see our Crimson crimes,
And know the Subjects Authors of these times :
When as the Peasant he shall take his King,
And without cause shall fall a murdering him ;
And when that's done, with Pride assume the Chair,
And Nimrod-like, himself to heaven rear ;
Command the People, make the Land Obey
His baser will, and swear to what he'll say.
Sure, sure our God has not these evils sent
To please himself, but for mans punishment :
And when he shall from our dark sable Skies
Withdraw these Clouds, and let our Sun arise,
Our days will surely then in Glory shine,
Both in our Temporal, and our State divine :*

*May this come quickly, though I may never see
 This glorious day, yet I would sympathie,
 And feel a joy run through each vein of blood,
 Though Vassalled on t'other side the Floud.
 Heavens protect his Sacred Majesty,
 From secret Plots, & treacherous Villany.
 And that those Slaves that now predominate,
 Hang'd and destroy'd may be their best of Fate;
 And though Great Charles be distant from his own, Heaven I hope will seat him on his Throne.*

Vale.

Yours what I may,

G. A.

From the Chimney Corner upon a low cricket, where I writ this in the noise of some six Women,
Aug. 19. Anno

To my Honored Father at his House.

SIR,

BEfore I dare bid Adieu to the old World, or shake hands with my native Soyl for ever, I have a Conscience inwards tells me, that I must offer up the remains of that Obedience of mine, that lyes close centered within the cave of my Soul, at the Alter, of your paternal Love: And though this Sacrifice of mine may shew something low and thread-bare, (at this time) yet know, That in the Zenith of all actions, Obedience is that great wheel that moves the lesser in their circular motion.

I am now entring for some time to dwell under the Government of Neptune, a Monarchy that I was never manured to live under, nor to converse with in his dreadful Aspect, neither do I know how I shall bear with his rough demands; but that God has carried me through those many gusts a shoar, which I have met withall in the several voyages of my life, I hope will Pilot me safely to my desired Port, through the worst of Stormes I shall meet withall at Sea.

We have strange, and yet good news aboard, that he whose vast mind could not be contented with spacious Territories to stretch his insatiate desires on, is (by an Almighty power) banished from his usuped Throne to dwell among the dead. I no sooner heard of it, but my melancholly Muse forced me upon this ensuing Distich.

*Poor vaunting Earth, gloss'd with uncertain Pride,
That liv'd in Pomp, yet worse than others dy'd :
Who shall blow forth a Trumpet to thy praise ?
Or call thy sable Actions shining Rayes ?
Such Lights as those blaze forth the vertued dead,
And make them live, though they are buried.
Thou'st gone, and to thy memory let be said,
There lies that Oliver which of old betray'd
His King and Master, and after did assume,
With swelling Pride, to govern in his room.
Here I le rest satisfied, Scriptures expound to me, Tophet was made for such Supremacy.*

The death of this great Rebel (I hope) will prove an Omen to presage destruction on the rest. The World's in a heap of troubles and confusion, and while they are in the midst of their changes and amazes, the best way to give them the bag, is to go out of the World and leave them. I am now bound for Mary-Land, and I am told that's a New World, but if it prove no better than this, I shall not get much by my change; but before I'll revoke my Resolution, I am resolv'd to put it to adventure, for I think it can hardly be worse then this is: Thus committing you into the hands of that God that made you, I rest

Your Obedient Son,
G. A.

From aboard a Ship at Gravesend,
Sept. 7th, Anno

To my Brother.

I Leave you very near in the same condition as I am in my self, only here lies the difference, you were bound at Joyners Hall in London Apprenticewise, and I conditionally at Navigators Hall, that now rides at an Anchor at Gravesend; I hope you will allow me to live in the largest Mayordom, by reason I am the eldest: None but the main Continent of America will serve me for a Corporation to inhabit in now, though I am affraid for all that, that the reins of my Liberty will be something shorter then yours will be in London: But as to that, what Destiny has ordered I am resolved with an adventerous Resolution to subscribe to, and with a contented imbracement enjoy it. I would fain have seen you once more in this Old World, before I go into the New, I know you have a chain about your Leg, as well as I have a clog about my Neck: If you can't come, send a line or two, if not, wish me well at least: I have one thing to charge home upon you, and I hope you will take my counsel, That you have alwayes an obedient Respect and Reverence to your aged Parents, that while they live they may have comfort of you, and when that God shall sound a retreat to their lives, that there they may with their gray hairs in joy go down to their Graves.

Thus concluding, wishing you a comfortable Servitude, a prosperous Life, and the assurance of a happy departure in the immutable love of him that made you,

Vale.

Your Brother,

G. A.

From Gravesend, Sept. 7. Anno

To my much Honored Friend Mr. T. B. at his House.

I Am got ashoar with much ado, and it is very well it is as it is, for if I had stayed a little longer, I had certainly been a Creature of the Water, for I had hardly flesh enough to carry me to Land, not that I wanted for any thing that the Ship could afford me in reason: But oh the great bowls of Pease-porridge that appeared in sight every day about the hour of twelve, ingulfed the senses of my Appetite so, with the restraining quality of the Salt Beef, upon the internal Inhabitants of my belly, that a Galenist for some days after my arrival, with his Bag-pipes of Physical operations, could hardly make my Puddings dance in any methodical order.

But to set by these things that happened unto me at Sea, I am now upon Land, and there I'll keep my self if I can, and for four years I am pretty sure of my restraint; and had I known my yolk would have been so easie, (as I conceive it will) I would have been here long before now, rather then to have dwelt under the pressure of a Rebellious and Trayterous Government so long as I did. I dwell now by providence in the Province of Mary-Land, (under the quiet Government of the Lord Baltemore) which Country a bounds in a most glorious prosperity and plenty of all things. And though the Infancy of her situation might plead an excuse to those several imperfections, (if she were guilty of any of them) which by scandalous and imaginary conjectures are falsly laid to her charge, and which she values with so little notice or perceivance of discontent, that she hardly alters her visage with a frown, to let them know she is angry with such a Rascality of people, that loves nothing better then their own sottish and abusive acclamations of baseness: To be short, the Country (so far forth as I have seen into it) is incomparable.

Here is a sort of naked Inhabitants, or wilde people, that have for many ages I believe lived here in the Woods of Mary-Land, as well as in other parts of the Continent, before e'er it was by the Christian Discoverers found out; being a people strange to behold, as well in their looks, which by confused paintings makes them seem dreadful, as in their sterne and heroick gate and deportments, the Men are mighty tall and big limbed, the Women not altogether so large; they are most of them very well featured, did not their wilde and ridiculous dresses alter their original excellencies: The men are great Warriours and Hunters, the Women ingenious and laborious Housewives.

As to matter of their Worship, they own no other Deity then the Devil, and him more out of a slavish fear, then any real devotion, or willing acknowledgement to his Hellish power. They live in little small Bark-Cottages, in the remote parts of the Woods, killing and slaying the several Animals that they meet withall to make provision of, dressing their several Hydes and Skins to Trafique withall, when a conveniency of Trade presents. I would go on further, but like Doctor Case, when he had not a word more to speak for himself, I am affraid my beloved I have kept you too long. Now he that made you save you. Amen.

Yours to command,

G. A.

From Mary-Land, Febr. 6. Anno

And not to forget Tom Forge I beseech you, tell him that my Love's the same towards him still, and as firm as it was about the overgrown Tryal, when Judgements upon judgements, had not I stept in, would have pursued him untill the day of Judgement, &c.

To my Father at his House.

SIR,

AFter my Obedience (at so great and vast a distance) has humbly saluted you and my good Mother, with the cordialest of my prayers, wishes, and desires to wait upon you, with the very best of their effectual devotion, wishing from the very Center of my Soul your flourishing and well-being here upon Earth, and your glorious and everlasting happiness in the World to Come.

These lines (my dear Parents) come from that Son which by an irregular Fate was removed from his Native home, and after a five months dangerous passage, was landed on the remote Continent of America, in the Province of Mary-Land, where now by providence I reside. To give you the particulars of the several accidents that happened in our voyage by Sea, it would swell a Journal of some sheets, and therefore too large and tedious for a Letter: I think it therefore necessary to bind up the relation in Octavo, and give it you in short.

We had a blowing and dangerous passage of it, and for some dayes after I arrived, I was an absolute Copernicus, it being one main point of my moral Creed, to believe the World had a pair of long legs, and walked with the burthen of the Creation upon her back. For to tell you the very truth of it, for some dayes upon Land, after so long and tossing a passage, I was so giddy that I could hardly tread an even step; so that all things both above and below (that was in view) appeared to me like the Kentish Britains to William the Conqueror, in a moving posture.

Those few number of weeks since my arrival, has given me but little experience to write any thing large of the Country; only thus much I can say, and that not from any imaginary conjectures, but from an ocular observation, That this Country of Mary-Land abounds in a flourishing variety of delightful Woods, pleasant groves, lovely Springs, together with spacious Navigable Rivers and Creeks, it being a most helthful and pleasant situation, so far as my knowledge has yet had any view in it.

Herds of Deer are as numerous in this Province of Mary-Land, as Cuckolds can be in London, only their horns are not so well drest and tipt with silver as theirs are.

Here if the Devil had such a Vagary in his head as he had once among the Gadareans, he might drown a thousand head of Hogs and they'd ne're be miss'd, for the very Woods of this Province swarms with them.

The Christian Inhabitant of this Province, as to the general, lives wonderful well and contented: The Government of this Province is by the loyalness of the people, and loving demeanor of the Proprietor and Governor of the same, kept in a continued peace and unity.

The Servant of this Province, which are stigmatiz'd for Slaves by the clappermouth jaws of the vulgar in England, live more like Freemen then the most Mechanick Apprentices in London, wanting for nothing that is convenient and necessary, and according to their several capacities, are extraordinary well used and respected. So leaving things here as I found them, and lest I should commit Sacrilege upon your more serious meditations, with the Tautologies of a long-winded Letter, I'll subscribe with a heavenly Ejaculation to the God of Mercy to preserve you now and for evermore, Amen.

Your Obedient Son,

G. A.

From Mary-Land, Jan. 17. Anno

To my much Honored Friend Mr. M. F.

SIR,

YOU writ to me when I was at Grauesend, (but I had no conveniency to send you an answer till now) enjoyning me, if possible, to give you a just Information by my diligent observance, what thing were best and most profitable to send into this Country for a commodious Trafique.

Sir, The enclosed will demonstrate unto you both particularly and at large, to the full satisfaction of your desire, it being an Invoice drawn as exact to the business you employed me upon, as my weak capacity could extend to.

Sir, If you send any Adventure to this Province, let me beg to give you this advice in it; That the Factor whom you imploy be a man of a Brain, otherwise the Planter will go near to make a Skimmingdish of his Skull: I know your Genius can interpret my meaning. The people of this place (whether the saltness of the Ocean gave them any alteration when they went over first, or their continual dwelling under the remote Clyme where they now inhabit, I know not) are a more acute people in general, in matters of Trade and Commerce, then in any other place of the World (see note No. 60), and by their crafty and sure bargaining, do often over-reach the raw and unexperienced Merchant. To be short, he that undertakes Merchants imployment for Mary-Land, must have more of Knave in him then Fool; he must not be a windling piece of Formality, that will lose his Employers Goods for Conscience sake; nor a flashy piece of Prodigality, that will give his Merchants fine Hollands, Laces, and Silks, to purchase the benevolence of a Female: But he must be a man of solid confidence, carrying alwayes in his looks the Effigies of an Execution upon Command, if he supposes a baffle or denial of payment, where a debt for his Employer is legally due. (See note No. 61).

Sir, I had like almost to forgot to tell you in what part of the World I am: I dwell by providence Servant to Mr. Thomas Stocket (see note No. 62), in the County of Baltemore, within the Province of Mary-Land, under the Government of the Lord Baltemore, being a Country abounding with the variety and diversity of all that is or may be rare. But lest I should Tantalize you with a relation of that which is very unlikely of your enjoying, by reason of that strong Antipathy you have ever had 'gainst Travel, as to your own particular: I'll only tell you, that Mary-Land is seated within the large extending armes of America, between the Degrees of 36 and 38, being in Longitude from England eleven hundred and odd Leagues.

Vale.

G. A.

From Mary-Land, Jan. 17. Anno

To my Honored Friend Mr. T. B. at his House.

SIR,

Yours I received, wherein I find my self much obliged to you for your good opinion of me, I return you millions of thanks.

Sir, you wish me well, and I pray God as well that those wishes may light upon me, and then I question not but all will do well. Those Pictures you sent sewed up in a Pastboard, with a Letter tacked on the outside, you make no mention at all what should be done with them: If they are Saints, unless I knew their names, I could make no use of them. Pray in your next let me know what they are, for my fingers itch to be doing with them one way or another. Our Government here hath had a small fit of a Rebellious Quotidian, (see note No. 63), but five Grains of the powder of Subvertment has qualified it. Pray be larger in your next how things stand in England: I understand His Majesty is return'd with Honour, and seated in the hereditary Throne of his Father; God bless him from Traytors, and the Church from Sacriligious Schisms, and you as a loyal Subject to the one, and a true Member to the other; while you so continue, the God of order, peace and tranquility, bless and preserve you, Amen.

Vale.

Your real Friend,

G. A.

From Mary-Land, Febr. 20. Anno

To my Honored Father at his House.

SIR,

With a twofold unmeasurable joy I received your Letter: First, in the consideration of Gods great Mercy to you in particular, (though weak and aged) yet to give you dayes among the living. Next, that his now most Excellent Majesty Charles the Second, is by the omnipotent Providence of God, seated in the Throne of his Father. I hope that God has placed him there, will give him a heart to praise and magnifie his name for ever, and a hand of just Revenge, to punish the murdering and rebellious Outrages of those Sons of shame and Apostacy, that Usurped the Throne of his Sacred Honour. Near about the time I received your Letter, (or a little before) here sprang up in this Province of Mary-Land a kind of pigmie Rebellion: A company of weak-witted men, which thought to have traced the steps of Oliver in Rebellion (see note No. 63). They began to be mighty stiff and hidebound in their proceedings, clothing themselves with the flashy pretences of future and imaginary honour, and (had they not been suddenly quell'd) they might have done so much mischief (for aught I know) that nothing but utter ruine could have ransomed their headlong follies.

His Majesty appearing in England, he quickly (by the splendor of his Rayes) thawed the stiffness of their frozen and slippery intentions. All things (blessed be God for it) are at peace and unity here now: And as Luther being asked once, What he thought of some small Opinions that started up in his time? answered, That he thought them to be good honest people, exempting their error: So I judge of these men, That their thoughts were not so bad at first, as their actions would have led them into in process of time.

I have here enclosed sent you something written in haste upon the Kings coming to the enjoyment of his Throne, with a reflection upon the former sad and bad times; I have done them as well as I could, considering all things: If they are not so well as they should be, all I can do is to wish them better for your sakes. My Obedience to you and my Mother alwayes devoted.

Your Son

G. A.

From Mary-Land, Febr. 9. Anno

To my Cosen Mrs. Ellinor Evins.

*E' re I forget the Zenith of your Love,
L et me be banisht from the Thrones above ;
L ight let me never see, when I grow rude,
I ntomb your Love in base Ingratitude :
N or may I prosper, but the state
O f gaping Tantalus be my fate ;
R ather then I should thus preposterous grow,
E arth would condemn me to her vaults below.
V ertuous and Noble, could my Genius raise
I mmortal Anthems to your Vestal praise,
N one should be more laborious than I,
S aint-like to Canonize you to the Sky.*

The Antimonial Cup (dear Cosen) you sent me, I had; and as soon as I received it, I went to work with the Infirmities and Diseases of my body. At the first draught, it made such havock among the several humors that had stolen into my body, that like a Conjurer in a room among a company of little Devils, they no sooner hear him begin to speak high words, but away they pack, and happy is he that can get out first, some up the Chimney, and the rest down stairs, till they are all disperst. So those malignant humors of my body, feeling the operative power, and medicinal virtue of this Cup, were so amazed at their sudden surprizal, (being alwayes before battered only by the weak assaults of some few Empyricks) they stood not long to dispute, but with joynt consent made their retreat, some running through the sink of the Skullery, the rest climbing up my ribs, took my mouth for a Garret-window, and so leapt out.

Cosen, For this great kindness of yours, in sending me this medicinal vertue, I return you my thanks: It came in a very good time, when I was dangerously sick, and by the assistance of God it hath perfectly recovered me.

I have sent you here a few Furrs, they were all I could get at present, I humbly beg your acceptance of them, as a pledge of my love and thankfulness unto you; I subscribe,

Your loving Cosen,

G. A.

From Mary Land, Dec. 9. Anno

To My Brother P. A.

BROTHER,

I Have made a shift to unloose my self from my Collar now as well as you, but I see at present either small pleasure or profit in it: What the futurity of my dayes will bring forth, I know not; For while I was linckt with the Chain of a restraining Servitude, I had all things cared for, and now I have all things to care for my self, which makes me almost to wish my self in for the other four years.

Liberty without money, is like a man opprest with the Gout, every step he puts forward puts him to pain; when on the other side, he that has Coyn with his Liberty, is like the swift Post-Messenger of the Gods, that wears wings at his heels, his motion being swift or slow, as he pleaseth.

I received this year two Caps, the one white, of an honest plain countenance, the other purple, which I conceive to be some antient Monumental Relique; which of them you sent I know not, and it was a wonder how I should, for there was no mention in the Letter, more then, that my Brother had sent me a Cap: They were delivered me in the company of some Gentlemen that ingaged me to write a few lines upon the purple one, and because they were my Friends I could not deny them; and here I present them to you as they were written.

*Haile from the dead, or from Eternity,
Thou Velvit Relique of Antiquity;
Thou which appear'st here in thy purple hew,
Tell's how the dead within their Tombs do doe;
How those Ghosts fare within each Marble Cell,
Where amongst them for Ages thou didst dwell.
What Brain didst cover there? tell us that we Upon our knees rayle Hats to honour thee:
And if no honour's due, tell us whose pate
Thou basely coveredst, and we'l joyntly hate:
Let's know his name, that we may shew neglect;
If otherwise, we'l kiss thee with respect.
Say, didst thou cover Noll's old brazen head,
Which on the top of Westminster high Lead*

*Stands on a Pole, erected to the sky,
As a grand Trophy to his memory.
From his perfidious skull didst thou fall down,
In a dis-dain to honour such a crown
With three-pile Velvet? tell me, hadst thou thy fall
From the high top of that Cathedral?
None of the Heroes of the Roman stem,
Wore ever such a fashion'd Diadem,
Didst thou speak Turkish in thy unknown dress,
Thou'dst cover Great Mogull, and no man less;
But in thy make methinks thou'rt too too scant,
To be so great a Monarch's Turberant.
The Jews by Moses swear, they never knew
E're such a Cap drest up in Hebrew:
Nor the strict Order of the Romish See,
Wears any Cap that looks so base as thee;
His Holiness hates thy Lowness, and instead,
Wears Peters spired Steeple on his head:
The Cardinals descent is much more flat,
For want of name, baptized is A Hat;
Through each strict Order has my fancy ran,
Both Ambrose, Austin, and the Franciscan,
Where I beheld rich Images of the dead,
Yet scarce had one a Cap upon his head:
Episcopacy wears Caps, but not like thee,
Though several shap'd, with much diversity:
'Twere best I think I presently should gang
To Edinburghs strict Presbyterian;
But Caps they've none, their ears being made so large,
Serves them to turn it like a Garnesey Barge;
Those keep their skulls warm against North-west gusts,
When they in Pulpit do poor Calvin curse.*

*Thou art not Fortunatus, for I daily see,
That which I wish is farthest off from me :
Thy low-built state none ever did advance,
To christen thee the Cap of Maintenance ;
Then till I know from whence thou didst derive,
Thou shalt be call'd, the Cap of Fugitive.*

You writ to me this year to send you some Smoak ; at that instant it made me wonder that a man of a rational Soul, having both his eyes (blessed be God) should make so unreasonable a demand, when he that has but one eye, nay he which has never a one, and is fain to make use of an Animal conductive for his optick guidance, cannot endure the prejudice that Smoak brings with it : But since you are resolv'd upon it, I'll dispute it no further.

I have sent you that which will make Smoak, (namely Tobacco) though the Funk it self is so slippery that I could not send it, yet I have sent you the Substance from whence the Smoak derives : What use you imploy it to I know not, nor will I be too importunate to know ; yet let me tell you this, That if you burn it in a room to affright the Devil from the house, you need not fear but it will work the same effect, as Toby's galls did upon the leacherous Fiend. No more at present. Vale.

Your Brother,

G. A.

From Mary-Land, Dec. 11. Anno

To my Honored Friend Mr. T. B.

SIR,

THis is the entrance upon my fifth year, and I fear 'twill prove the worst: I have been very much troubled with a throng of unruly Distempers, that have (contrary to my expectation) crouded into the Main-guard of my body, when the drowsie Sentinels of my brain were a sleep. Where they got in I know not, but to my grief and terror I find them predominant: Yet as Doctor Dunne, sometimes Dean of St. Pauls, said, That the bodies diseases do but mellow a man for Heaven, and so ferments him in this World, as he shall need no long concoction in the Grave, but hasten to the Resurrection. And if this were weighed seriously in the Ballance of Religious Reason, the World we dwell in would not seem so inticing and bewitching as it doth.

We are only sent by God of an Errand into this World, and the time that's allotted us for to stay, is only for an Answer. When God my great Master shall in good earnest call me home, which these warnings tell me I have not long to stay, I hope then I shall be able to give him a good account of my Message.

Sir, My weakness gives a stop to my writing, my hand being so shakingly feeble, that I can hardly hold my pen any further then to tell you, I am yours while I live, which I believe will be but some few minutes.

If this Letter come to you before I'm dead, pray for me, but if I am gone, pray howsoever, for they can do me no harm if they come after me.

Vale.

Your real Friend,

G. A.

From Mary-Land, Dec. 13. Anno

To my Parents.

FROM the Grave or Receptacle of Death am I raised, and by an omnipotent power made capable of offering once more my Obedience (that lies close cabbined in the inwardmost apartment of my Soul) at the feet of your immutable Loves.

My good Parents, God hath done marvellous things for me, far beyond my deserts, which at best were preposterously sinful, and unsuitable to the sacred will of an Almighty: But he is merciful, and his mercy endures for ever. When sinful man has by his Evils and Iniquities pull'd some penetrating Judgment upon his head, and finding himself immediately not able to stand under so great a burthen as Gods smallest stroke of Justice, lowers the Top-gallant sayle of his Pride, and with an humble submissiveness prostrates himself before the Throne of his sacred Mercy, and like those three Lepars that sate at the Gate of Samaria, resolved, If we go into the City we shall perish, and if we stay here we shall perish also: Therefore we will throw our selves into the hands of the Assyrians and if we perish, we perish: This was just my condition as to eternal state; my soul was at a stand in this black storm of affliction: I view'd the World, and all that's pleasure in her, and found her altogether flashy, aiery, and full of notional pretensions, and not one firm place where a distressed Soul could hang his trust on. Next I viewed my self, and there I found, instead of good Works, lively Faith, and Charity, a most horrid neast of condemned Evils, bearing a supreme Prerogative over my internal faculties. You'll say here was little hope of rest in this extreme Eclipse, being in a desperate amaze to see my estate so deplorable: My better Angel urged me to deliver up my aggrievances to the Bench of Gods Mercy, the sure support of all distressed Souls: His Heavenly warning, and inward whispers of the good Spirit I was resolv'd to entertain, and not quench, and throw my self into the armes of a loving God, If I perish, I perish. 'Tis beyond wonder to think of the love of God extended to sinful man, that in the deepest distresses or agonies of Affliction, when all other things prove rather hinderances then advantages, even at that time God is ready and steps forth to the supportment of his drooping Spirit. Truly, about a fortnight before I wrote this Letter, two of our ablest Physicians rendered me up into the hands of God, the universal Doctor of the whole World, and subscribed with a silent acknowledgement, That all their Arts, screw'd up to the very Zenith of Scholastique perfection, were not capable of keeping me from the Grave at that time: But God, the great preserver of Soul and Body, said contrary to the expectation of humane reason, Arise, take up thy bed and walk.

I am now (through the help of my Maker) creeping up to my former strength and vigour, and every day I live, I hope I shall, through the assistance of divine Grace, climbe nearer and nearer to my eternal home.

I have received this year three Letters from you, one by Capt. Conway Commander of the Wheat-Sheaf, the others by a Bristol Ship. Having no more at present to trouble you with, but expecting your promise, I remain as ever,

Your dutiful Son,

G. A.

Mary-Land, April 9. Anno

I desire my hearty love may be remembered to my Brother, and the rest of my Kinred.

FINIS.

NOTES.

^ Note 1, page 15.

After having resolved to reprint Alsop's early account of Maryland, as an addition to my Bibliotheca Americana, I immediately fell in with a difficulty which I had not counted on. After much inquiry and investigation, I could find no copy to print from among all my earnest book collecting acquaintances. At length some one informed me that Mr. Bancroft the historian had a copy in his library. I immediately took the liberty of calling on him and making known my wants, he generously offered to let me have the use of it for the purpose stated, I carried the book home, had it carefully copied, but unfortunately during the process I discovered the text was imperfect as well as deficient in both portrait and map. Like Sisyphus I had to begin anew, and do nearly all my labor over; I sent to London to learn if the functionaries in the British Museum would permit a tracing of the portrait and map to be made from their copy, the answer returned was, that they would or could not permit this, but I might perfect my text if I so choosed by copying from theirs. Here I was once more at sea without compass, rudder, or chart: I made known my condition to an eminent and judicious collector of old American literature in the city of New York, he very frankly informed me that he could aid me in my difficulty by letting me have the use of a copy, which would relieve me from my present dilemma. I was greatly rejoiced at this discovery as well as by the generosity of the owner. The following day the book was put into my possession, and so by the aid of it was enabled to complete the text. Here another difficulty burst into view, this copy had no portrait. That being the only defect in perfecting a copy of Alsop's book, I now resolved to proceed and publish it without a portrait, but perhaps fortunately, making known this resolve to some of the knowing ones in book gathering, they remonstrated against this course, adding that it would ruin the book in the estimation of all who would buy such a rarity. I was inclined to listen favorably to this protest, and therefore had to commence a new effort to obtain a portrait. I then laid about me again to try and procure a copy that had one: I knew that not more than three or four collectors in the country who were likely to have such an heir-loom. To one living at a considerable distance from New York I took the liberty of addressing a letter on the subject, wherein I made known my difficulties. To my great gratification this courteous and confiding gentleman not only immediately made answer, but sent a perfect copy of this rare and much wanted book for my use. I immediately had the portrait and map reproduced by the photo-lithographic process. During the time the book was in my possession, which was about ten days, so fearful was I that any harm should befall it that I took the precaution to wrap up the precious little volume in tissue paper and carry it about with me all the time in my side pocket, well knowing that if it was either injured or lost I could not replace it. I understand that a perfect copy of the original in the London market would bring fifty pounds sterling. I had the satisfaction to learn it reached the generous owner in safety.

Had I known the difficulties I had to encounter of procuring a copy of the original of Alsop's singular performance, I most certainly would never have undertaken to reproduce it in America. Mr. Jared Sparks told me that he had a like difficulty to encounter when he undertook to write the life of Ledyard the traveler. Said he: "a copy of his journal I could find nowhere to purchase, at length I was compelled to borrow a copy on very humiliating conditions; the owner perhaps valued it too highly." I may add that I had nearly as much difficulty in securing an editor, as I had in procuring a perfect copy. However on this point I at last was very fortunate.

WILLIAM GOWANS.

115 Nassau street, March 23d, 1869.

Note 2, page 19.

Cecilus, Lord Baltimore, eldest son of George Calvert, 1st Lord Baltimore, and Anne Wynne of Hertingfordbury, England, was born in 1606. He succeeded to the title April 15, 1632, and married Anne, daughter of Lord Arundel, whose name was given to a county in Maryland. His rule over Maryland, disturbed in Cromwell's time, but restored under Charles II, has always been extolled. He died Nov. 30, 1675, covered with age and reputation.—O'Callaghan's N. Y. Col. Doc., II. p. 74.

Note 3, page 19.

Avalon, the territory in Newfoundland, of which the first Lord Baltimore obtained a grant in 1623, derived its name from the spot in England where, as tradition said, Christianity was first preached by Joseph of Arimathea.

Note 4, page 21.

Owen Feltham, as our author in his errata correctly gives the name, was an author who enjoyed a great reputation in his day. His Resolves appeared first about 1620, and in 1696 had reached the eleventh edition. They were once reprinted in the 18th century, and in full or in part four times in the 19th, and an edition appeared in America about 1830. Hallam in spite of this popularity calls him "labored, artificial and shallow."

Note 5, page 24.

Burning on the hand was not so much a punishment as a mark on those who, convicted of felony, pleaded the benefit of clergy, which they were allowed to do once only.

Note 6, page 25.

Literally: "Good wine needs no sign."

Note 7, page 26.

Billingsgate is the great fish market of London, and the scurrilous tongues of the fish women have made the word synonymous with vulgar abuse.

Note 8, page 28.

Alsop though cautiously avoiding Maryland politics, omits no fling at the Puritans. Pride was a parliament colonel famous for Pride's Purge.

Notes 9, 10, pages 31, 33.

William Bogherst, and H. W., Master of Arts, have eluded all our efforts to immortalize them.

Note 11, page 35.

Chesapeake is said to be K'tchisipik, Great Water, in Algonquin.

Note 12, page 38.

Less bombast and some details as to the botany of Maryland would have been preferable.

Note 13, page 39.

The American deer (Cariacus Virginianus) is here evidently meant.

Note 14, page 39.

Whetston's (Whetstone) park : "A dilapidated street in Lincoln's Inn Fields, at the back of Holborn. It contains scarcely anything but old, half-tumble down houses ; not a living plant of any kind adorns its nakedness, so it is presumable that as a park it never had an existence, or one so remote that even tradition has lost sight of the fact."

Note 15, page 39.

The animals here mentioned are the black wolf (canis occidentalis), the black bear, the panther (felis concolor).

Note 16, page 40.

These animals are well known, the elk (alces Americanus), cat o' the mountain or catamount (felis concolor), raccoon (procyon lotor), fox (vulpes fulvus), beaver (castor fiber), otter (lutra), opossum (didelphys Virginiana), hare, squirrel, musk-rat (fiber zibethicus). The monack is apparently the Maryland marmot or woodchuck (arctomys monax).

Note 17, page 40.

The domestic animals came chiefly from Virginia. As early as May 27, 1634, they got 100 swine from Accomac, with 30 cows, and they expected goats and hens (Relation of Maryland, 1634). Horses and sheep had to be imported from England, Virginia being unable to give any. Yet in 1679 Dankers and Sluyters, the Labadists, say : "Sheep they have none."—Collections Long Island Hist. Soc., 1, p. 218.

Note 18, page 41.

Alluding to the herds of swine kept by the Gadarenes, into one of which the Saviour allowed the devil named Legion to enter.

Note 19, page 42.

The abundance of these birds is mentioned in the Relations of Maryland, 1634, p. 22, and 1635, p. 23. The Labadists with whose travels the Hon.

H. C. Murphy has enriched our literature, found the geese in 1679-80 so plentiful and noisy as to prevent their sleeping, and the ducks filling the sky like a cloud.—Long Island Hist. Coll., 1, pp. 195, 204.

Note 20, page 43.

Alsop makes no allusion to the cultivation of maize, yet the Labadists less than twenty years after describe it at length as the principal grain crop of Maryland.—Ib., p. 216.

Note 21, page 45.

Considering the facts of history, this picture is sadly overdrawn, Maryland having had its full share of civil war.

Note 22, page 46.

The fifth monarchy men were a set of religionists who arose during the Puritan rule in England. They believed in a fifth universal monarchy of which Christ was to be the head, under whom they, his saints, were to possess the earth. In 1660 they caused an outbreak in London, in which many were killed and others tried and executed. Their leader was one Venner. The Adamites, a gnostic sect, who pretended that regenerated man should go naked like Adam and Eve in their state of innocence, were revived during the Puritan rule in England; and in our time in December, 1867, we have seen the same theory held and practiced in Newark, N. J.

Note 23, page 46.

In the provisional act, passed in the first assembly, March 19, 1638, and entitled "An Act ordaining certain laws for the government of this province," the twelfth section required that "every person planting tobacco shall plant and tend two acres of corn." A special act was introduced the same session and read twice, but not passed. A new law was passed, however, Oct. 23, 1640, renewed Aug. 1, 1642, April 21, 1649, Oct. 20, 1654, April 12, 1662, and made perpetual in 1676. These acts imposed a fine of fifty pounds of tobacco for every half acre the offender fell short, besides fifty pounds of the same current leaf as constables' fees. It was to this persistent enforcement of the cultivation of cereals that Maryland so soon became the granary of New England.

Note 24, page 47.

The Assembly, or House of Burgesses, at first consisted of all freemen, but they gradually gave place to delegates. The influence of the proprietary, however, decided the selection. In 1650 fourteen burgesses met as delegates or representatives of the several hundreds, there being but two counties organized, St. Marys and the Isle of Kent. Ann Arundel, called at times Providence county, was erected April 29, 1650. Patuxent was erected under Cromwell in 1654.—Bacon's Laws of Maryland, 1765.

Note 25, page 47.

Things had changed when the Sot Weed Factor appeared, as the author of that satirical poem dilates on the litigious character of the people.

Note 26, page 47.

The allusion here I have been unable to discover.

Note 27, page 48.

The colony seems to have justified some of this eulogy by its good order, which is the more remarkable, considering the height of party feeling.

Note 28, page 48.

Halberdeers; the halberd was smaller than the partisan, with a sharp pointed blade, with a point on one side like a pole-axe.

Note 29, page 49.

Newgate, Ludgate and Bridewell are the well known London prisons.

Note 30, page 50.

Our author evidently failed from this cause.

Note 31, page 50.

A fling at the various Puritan schools, then active at home and abroad.

Note 32, page 50.

The first Quakers in Maryland were Elizabeth Harris, Josiah Cole, and Thomas Thurston, who visited it in 1657, but as early as July 23, 1659, the governor and council issued an order to seize any Quakers and whip them from constable to constable out of the province. Yet in spite of this they had settled meetings as early as 1661, and Peter Sharpe, the Quaker physician, appears as a landholder in 1665, the very year of Alsop's publication.—Norris, Early Friends or Quakers in Maryland (Maryland Hist. Soc., March, 1862).

Note 33, page 50.

The Baptists centering in Rhode Island, extended across Long Island to New Jersey, and thence to New York city; but at this time had not reached the south.

Note 34, page 56.

A copy of the usual articles is given in the introduction. Alsop here refutes current charges against the Marylanders for their treatment of servants. Hammond, in his Leah and Rachel, p. 12, says: "The labour servants are put to is not so hard, nor of such continuance as husbandmen nor handicraftmen are kept at in England. . . . The women are not (as is reported) put into the ground to worke, but occupie such domestic imployments and housewifery as in England."

Note 35, page 59.

Laws as to the treatment of servants were passed in the Provisional act of 1638, and at many subsequent assemblies.

Notes 36, 37, pages 59, 61.

Lewknors lane or Charles street was in Drury lane, in the parish of St. Giles.—Seymour's History of London, II, p. 767. Finsbury is still a well known quarter, in St. Luke's parish, Middlesex.

Note 38, page 65.

Nicholas Culpepper, "student in physic and astrology," whose English Physician, published in 1652, ran through many editions, and is still a book published and sold.

Note 39, page 65.

Dogs dung, used in dressing morocco, is euphemized into album græcum, and is also called pure; those who gather it being still styled in England pure-finders.—Mayhew, London Labor and London Poor, II, p. 158.

Note 40, page 65.

He has not mentioned tobacco as a crop, but describes it fully a few pages after. In Maryland as in Virginia it was the currency. Thus in 1638 an act authorized the erection of a water-mill to supersede hand-mills for grinding grain, and the cost was limited to 20,000 lbs. of tobacco.—McSherry's History of Maryland, p. 56. The Labadists in their Travels (p. 216) describe the cultivation at length. Tobacco at this time paid two shillings English a cask export duty in Maryland, and two-pence a pound duty on its arrival in England, besides weighing and other fees.

Note 41, page 66.

The Parson of Pancras is unknown to me: but the class he represents is certainly large.

Note 42, page 66.

The buffalo was not mentioned in the former list, and cannot be considered as synonymous with elk.

Note 43, page 67.

For satisfactory and correct information of the present commerce and condition of Maryland, the reader is referred to the Census of the United States in 4 vols., 4to, published at Washington, 1865.

Note 44, page 69.

This is a curious observation as to New England trade. A century later Hutchinson represents Massachusetts as receiving Maryland flour from the Pennsylvania mills, and paying in money and bills of exchange.—Hist. of Massachusetts, p. 11, 397.

Note 45, page 69.

The trade with Barbadoes, now insignificant, was in our colonial times of great importance to all the colonies. Barbadoes is densely peopled and thoroughly cultivated; its imports and exports are each about five millions of dollars annually.

Note 46, page 71.

The Susquehannas. This Relation is one of the most valuable portions of Alsop's tract, as no other Maryland document gives as much concerning this tribe, which nevertheless figures extensively in Maryland annals. Dutch and Swedish writers speak of a tribe called Minquas (Minquosy, Machœretini in De Laet, p. 76); the French in Canada (Champlain, the Jesuit Relations, Gendron, Particularitez du Pays des Hurons, p. 7, etc.), make frequent allusion to the Gandastogués (more briefly Andastés), a tribe friendly to their allies the Hurons, and sturdy enemies of the Iroquois; later still Pennsylvania writers speak of the Conestogas, the tribe to which Logan belonged, and the tribe which perished at the hands of the Paxton boys. Although Gallatin in his map, followed by Bancroft, placed the Andastés near Lake Erie, my researches led me to correct this, and identify the Susquehannas, Minqua, Andastés or Gandastognés and Conestogas as being all the same tribe, the first name being apparently an appellation given them by the Virginia tribes; the second that given them by the Algonquins on the Delaware; while Gandastogné as the French, or Conestoga as the English wrote it, was their own tribal name, meaning cabin-pole men, Natio Perticarum, from Andasta, a cabin-pole (map in Crexius, Historia Canadensis). I forwarded a paper on the subject to Mr. Schoolcraft, for insertion in the government work issuing under his supervision. It was inserted in the last volume without my name, and ostensibly as Mr. Schoolcraft's. I then gave it with my name in the Historical Magazine, vol. II, p. 294. The result arrived at there has been accepted by Bancroft, in his large paper edition, by Parkman, in his Jesuits in the Wilderness, by Dr. O'Callaghan, S. F. Streeter, Esq., of the Maryland Historical Society, and students generally.

From the Virginian, Dutch, Swedish and French authorities, we can thus give their history briefly.

The territory now called Canada, and most of the northern portion of the United States, from Lake Superior and the Mississippi to the mouth of the St. Lawrence and Chesapeake bay were, when discovered by Europeans, occupied by two families of tribes, the Algonquin and the Huron Iroquois. The former which included all the New England tribes, the Micmacs, Mohegans, Delawares, Illinois, Chippewas, Ottawas, Pottawatamies, Sacs, Foxes, Miamis, and many of the Maryland and Virginian tribes surrounded the more powerful and civilized tribes who have been called Huron Iroquois, from the names of the two most powerful nations of the group, the Hurons or Wyandots of Upper Canada, and the Iroquois or Five Nations of New York. Besides these the group included the Neuters on the Niagara, the Dinondadies in Upper Canada, the Erics south of the lake of that name, the Andastogué or Susquehannas on that river, the Nottaways and some other Virginian tribes, and finally the Tuscaroras in North Carolina and perhaps the Cherokees, whose language presents many striking points of similarity.

Both these groups of tribes claimed a western origin, and seem, in their progress east, to have driven out of Ohio the Quappas, called by the Algonquins, Alkansas or Allegewi, who retreated down the Ohio and Mississippi to the district which has preserved the name given them by the Algonquins.

After planting themselves on the Atlantic border, the various tribes seem to have soon divided and become embroiled in war. The Iroquois, at first inferior to the Algonquins were driven out of the valley of the St. Lawrence into the lake region of New York, where by greater cultivation, valor and union they soon became superior to the Algonquins of Canada and New York, as the Susquehannas who settled on the Susquehanna did over the tribes in New Jersey, Maryland and Virginia. (Du Ponceau's Campanius, p. 158.) Prior to 1600 the Susquehannas and the Mohawks, the most eastern Iroquois tribe, came into collision, and the Susquehannas nearly exterminated the Mohawks in a war which lasted ten years. (Relation de la Nouv. France, 1659-60, p. 28.)

In 1608 Captain Smith, in exploring the Chesapeake and its tributaries, met a party of sixty of these Sasquesahanocks as he calls them (I, p. 120-1), and he states that they were still at war with the Massawomekes or Mohawks. (De Laet Novus Orbis, p. 79.)

DeVries, in his Voyages (Murphy's translation, p. 41-3), found them in 1633 at war with the Armewamen and Sankiekans, Algonquin tribes on the Delaware, maintaining their supremacy by butchery. They were friendly to the Dutch. When the Swedes in 1638 settled on the Delaware, they renewed the friendly intercourse begun by the Dutch. They purchased lands of the ruling tribe and thus secured their friendship. (Hazard's Annals, p. 48). They carried the terror of their arms southward also, and in 1634 to 1644 they waged war on the Yaomacoes, the Piscataways and Patuxents (Bozman's Maryland, II, p. 161), and were so troublesome that in 1642 Governor Calvert, by proclamation, declared them public enemies.

When the Hurons in Upper Canada in 1647 began to sink under the fearful blows dealt by the Five Nations, the Susquehannas sent an embassy to offer them aid against the common enemy. (Hendron, Quelques Particularitez du Pays des Hurons, p. 7). Nor was the offer one of little value, for the Susquehannas could put in the field 1,300 warriors (Relation de la Nouvelle France, 1647-8, p. 58) trained to the use of fire arms and European modes of war by three Swedish soldiers whom they had obtained to instruct them. (Proud's Pennsylvania, I, p. 111; Bozman's Maryland, II, p. 273. Before interposing in the war, they began by negotiation, and sent an embassy to Onondaga to urge the cantons to peace. (Relation, 1648, p. 58). The Iroquois refused, and the Hurons, sunk in apathy, took no active steps to secure the aid of the friendly Susquehannas.

That tribe, however, maintained its friendly intercourse with its European neighbors, and in 1652 Sawahegeh, Auroghteregh, Scarhuhadigh, Rutchogah and Nathheldianch, in presence of a Swedish deputy, ceded to Maryland all the territory from the Patuxent river to Palmer's island, and from the Choptank to the northeast branch north of Elk river. (Bozman's Maryland, II, p. 683).

Four years later the Iroquois, grown insolent by their success in almost annihilating their kindred tribes north and south of Lake Erie, the Wyandots, Dinondadies, Neuters and Eries, provoked a war with the Susquehannas, plundering their hunters on Lake Ontario. (Relation de la Nouvelle France, 1657, pp. 11, 18).

It was at this important period in their history that Alsop knew and described them to us.

In 1661 the small-pox, that scourge of the native tribes, broke out in their town, sweeping off many and enfeebling the nation terribly. War had now begun in earnest with the Five Nations; and though the Susquehannas had some of their people killed near their town (Hazard's Annals, 341-7), they in turn pressed the Cayugas so hard that some of them retreated across Lake Ontario to Canada (Relation de la Nouvelle France, 1661, p. 39, 1668, p. 20). They also kept the Senecas in such alarm that they no longer ventured to carry their peltries to New York, except in caravans escorted by six hundred men, who even took a most circuitous route. (Relation, 1661, p. 40). A law of Maryland passed May 1, 1661, authorized the governor to aid the Susquehannas.

Smarting under constant defeat, the Five Nations solicited French aid (Relation de la Nouvelle France, 1662-3, p. 11, 1663-4, p. 33; Charlevoix, II, p. 134), but in April, 1663, the Western cantons raised an army of eight hundred men to invest and storm the fort of the Susquehannas. They embarked on Lake Ontario, according to the French account, and then went overland to the Susquehanna. On reaching the fort, however, they found it well defended on the river side, and on the land side with two bastions in European style with cannon mounted and connected by a double curtain of large trees. After some trifling skirmishes the Iroquois had recourse to stratagem. They sent in a party of twenty-five men to treat of peace and ask provisions to enable them to return. The Susquehannas admitted them, but immediately burned them all alive before the eyes of their countrymen. (Relation de la Nouvelle France, 1663, p. 10). The Pennsylvania writers, (Hazard's Annals of Pennsylvania, p. 346) make the Iroquois force one thousand six hundred, and that of the Susquehannas only one hundred. They add that when the Iroquois retreated, the Susquehannas pursued them, killing ten and taking as many.

After this the war was carried on in small parties, and Susquehanna prisoners were from time to time burned at Oneida, Onondaga, Seneca and Cayuga (Relations de la Nouvelle France, 1668 to 1673), and their prisoners doubtless at Canoge on the Susquehanna. In the fall of 1669 the Susquehannas, after defeating the Cayugas, offered peace, but the Cayugas put their ambassador and his nephew to death, after retaining him five or six months; the Oneidas having taken nine Susquehannas and sent some to Cayuga, with forty wampum belts to maintain the war. (Relation de la Nouvelle France, 1670, p. 68.)

At this time the great war chief of the Susquehannas was one styled Hochitagete or Barefoot (Relation de la Nouvelle France, 1670, p. 47); and raving women and crafty medicine men deluded the Iroquois with promises of his capture and execution at the stake (Relation, 1670, p. 47), and a famous medicine man of Oneida appeared after death to order his body to be taken up and interred on the trail leading to the Susquehannas as the only means of saving that canton from ruin. (Relation, 1672, p. 20.)

Towards the summer of 1672 a body of forty Cayugas descended the Susquehanna in canoes, and twenty Senecas went by land to attack the Susquehannas in their fields; but a band of sixty Andasté or Susquehanna boys, the oldest not over sixteen, attacked the Senecas, and routed them, killing one brave and taking another. Flushed with victory they pushed on to attack the Cayugas, and defeated them also, killing eight and wounding with arrow, knife and hatchet, fifteen or sixteen more, losing, however, fifteen or sixteen of their gallant band. (Relation, 1672, p. 24.)

At this time the Susquehannas or Andastés were so reduced by war and pestilence that they could muster only three hundred warriors. In 1675, however, the Susquehannas were completely overthrown (Etat Present, 1675, manuscript; Relation, 1676, p. 2; Relations Inédites, II, p. 44; Colden's Five Nations, I, p. 126), but unfortunately we have no details whatever as to the forces which effected it, or the time or manner of their utter defeat.

A party of about one hundred retreated into Maryland, and occupied some abandoned Indian forts. Accused of the murder of some settlers, apparently slain by the Senecas, they sent five of their chiefs to the Maryland and Virginia troops, under Washington and Brent, who went out in pursuit. Although coming as deputies, and showing the Baltimore medal and certificate of friendship, these chiefs were cruelly put to death. The enraged Susquehannas then began a terrible border war, which was kept till their utter destruction (S. F. Streeter's Destruction of the Susquehannas, Historical Magazine, I, p. 65). The rest of the tribe, after making overtures to Lord Baltimore, submitted to the Five Nations, and were allowed to retain their ancient grounds. When Pennsylvania was settled, they became known as Conestogas, and were always friendly to the colonists of Penn, as they had been to the Dutch and Swedes. In 1701 Canoodagtoh, their king, made a treaty with Penn, and in the document they are styled Minquas, Conestogos or Susquehannas. They appear as a tribe in a treaty in 1742, but were dwindling away. In 1763 the feeble remnant of the tribe became involved in the general suspicion entertained by the colonists against the red men, arising out of massacres on the borders. To escape danger the poor creatures took refuge in Lancaster jail, and here they were all butchered by the Paxton boys, who burst into the place. Parkman in his Conspiracy of Pontiac, p. 414, details the sad story.

The last interest of this unfortunate tribe centres in Logan, the friend of the white man, whose speech is so familiar to all, that we must regret that it has not sustained the historical scrutiny of Brantz Mayer (Tahgahjute; or, Logan and Capt. Michael Cresap, Maryland Hist. Soc., May, 1851; and Svo, Albany, 1867). Logan was a Conestoga, in other words a Susquehanna.

Note 47, page 71.

The language of the Susquehannas, as Smith remarks, differed from that of the Virginian tribes generally. As already stated, it was one of the dialects of the Huron-Iroquois, and its relation to other members of the family may be seen by the following table of the numerals:

Susquehanna or Minqua.	Hochelaga.	Huron.	Mohawk.	Onondaga.
1. Onskat,	Segada,	Eskate,	Easka,	Unskat.
2. Tiggene,	Tigneny,	Téni,	Tekeni,	Tegni.
3. Axe,	Asche,	Hachin,	Aghsea,	Achen.
4. Raiene,	Honnacon,	Dac,	Kieri,	Gayeri.
5. Wisk,	Ouiscon,	Ouyche,	Wisk,	Wisk.
6. Jaiack,	Indahir,	Houhahea,	Yayak,	Haiak.
7. Tzadack,	Ayaga,	Sotaret,	Jatak,	Tchiatak.
8. Tickerom,	Addegne,	Attaret,	Satego,	Tegeron.
9. Waderom,	Madellon,	Neehon,	Tiyohito,	Waderom.
10. Assan,	Assem,		Oyeri.

Note 48, page 73.

Smith thus describes them: "Sixty of those Sasquesahanocks came to vs with skins, Bowes, Arrows, Targets, Beads, swords and Tobacco pipes for presents. Such great and well proportioned men are seldome seene, for they seemed like Giants to the English; yea and to the neighbours, yet seemed of an honest and simple disposition, with much adoe restrained from adoring vs as Gods. Those are the strangest people of all those Countries, both in language and attire; for their language it may well beseme their proportions, sounding from them as a voyce in a vault. Their attire is the skinnnes of Beares, and Woolues, some have Cassacks made of Beares heads and skinnnes, that a mans head goes through the skinnnes neck, and the eares of the Beare fastened to his shoulders, the nose and teeth hanging downe his breast, another Beares face split behind him, and at the end of the Nose hung a Pawe, the halfe sleeues comming to the elbowes were the neckes of Beares and the armes through the mouth with the pawes hanging at their noses. One had the head of a Wolfe hanging in a chaine for a Jewell, his tobacco pipe three-quarters of a yard long, prettily carued with a Bird, a Deere or some such devise at the great end, sufficient to beat out ones braines; with Bowes, Arrowes and Clubs, suitable to their greatnesse. They are scarce known to Powhatan. They can make near 600 able men, and are palisadoed in their Townes to defend them from the Massawomekes, their mortal enemies. Five of their chief Werowances came aboard vs and crossed the Bay in their Barge. The picture of the greatest of them is signified in the Mappe. The calfe of whose leg was three-quarters of a yard about, and all the rest of his limbes so answerable to that proportion, that he seemed the goodliest man we ever beheld. His hayre, the one side was long, the other shore close with a ridge over his crowne like a cocks combe. His arrowes were five-quarters long, headed with the splinters of a white christall-like stone, in form of a heart, an inch broad, and an inch and a halfe or more long. These he wore in a Woolues skinne at his backe for his quiver, his bow in one hand and his club in the other, as described."—Smith's Voyages (Am. ed.), 1, p. 119-20. Tattooing referred to by our author, was an ancient Egyptian custom, and is still retained by the women. See Lanc's Modern Egyptians, etc. It was forbidden to the Jews in Leviticus, 19: 28.

Note 49, page 74.

Purchas, his Pilgrimage, or Relations of the World, and the Religions observed in all Ages and Places discovered, from the Creation unto this present," 1 vol., folio, 1613. In spite of Alsop, Purchas is still highly esteemed.

Note 50, page 75.

As to their treatment of prisoners, see Lafitau, Mœurs des Sauvages, II, p. 260.

Note 51, page 75.

Smith thus locates their town: "The Sasquesahannocks inhabit vpon the cheefe spring of these foure branches of the Bayes head, one day's journey higher than our barge could passe for rocks," vol. I, p. 182. Campanius thus describes their town, which he represents as twelve miles from New Sweden: "They live on a high mountain, very steep and difficult to climb; there they have a fort or square building, surrounded with palisades. There they have guns and small iron cannon, with which they shoot and defend themselves, and take with them when they go to war."—Campanius's Nye Scerige, p. 181; Du Ponceau's translation, p. 158. A view of a Sasquesahannock town is given in Montanus, De Nieuwe en Onbekende Weereld (1671), p. 136, based evidently on Smith. De Lisle's Map, dated June, 1718, lays down Canoge, Fort des Indiens Andastés ou Susquehanocs at about 40° N.; but I find the name nowhere else.

Note 52, page 77.

Scalping was practiced by the Scythians. (Herodotus, book IV, and in the second book of Macchabees, VII, 4, 7). Antiochus is said to have caused two of the seven Macchabee brothers to be scalped. "The skin of the head with the hairs being drawn off." The torture of prisoners as here described originated with the Iroquois, and spread to nearly all the North American tribes. It was this that led the Algonquins to give the Iroquois tribes the names Magoué, Nadoué or Nottaway, which signified cruel. Lafitau, Mœurs des Sauvages, II, p. 287.

Note 53, page 78.

The remarks here as to religion are vague. The Iroquois and Hurons recognized Aireskoi or Agreskoe, as the great deity, styling him also Teharonhiawagon. As to the Hurons, see Sagard, Histoire du Canada, p. 485. The sacrifice of a child, as noted by Alsop, was unknown in the other tribes of this race, and is not mentioned by Campanius in regard to this one.

Note 54, page 78.

The priests were the medicine men in all probability; no author mentioning any class that can be regarded properly as priests.

Note 55, page 78.

The burial rites here described resemble those of the Iroquois (Lafitau, Mœurs des Sauvages, II, pp. 389, 407) and of the Hurons, as described by Sagard (Histoire du Canada, p. 702) in the manner of placing the dead body in a sitting posture; but there it was wrapped in furs, encased in bark and set upon a scaffold till the feast of the dead.

Note 56, page 79.

Sagard, in his Huron Dictionary, gives village, andata; he is in the fort or village, andatagon; which is equivalent to Connadago, nd and nn being frequently used for each other.

Note 57, page 80.

For the condition of the women in a kindred tribe, compare Sagard, Histoire du Canada, p. 272; Grand Voyage, p. 130; Perrot, Mœurs et Coustumes des Sauvages, p. 30.

Note 58, page 80.

Among the Iroquois the husband elect went to the wife's cabin and sat down on the mat opposite the fire. If she accepted him she presented him a bowl of hominy and sat down beside him, turning modestly away. He then ate some and soon after retired.—Lafitau, Mœurs des Sauvages, I, p. 566.

Note 59, page 81.

Sagard, in his Histoire du Canada, p. 185, makes a similar remark as to the Hurons, a kindred tribe, men and women acting as here stated, and he says that in this they resembled the ancient Egyptians. Compare Hennepin, Mœurs des Sauvages, p. 54; Description d'un Pays plus grand que l'Europe, Voyages au Nord, v, p. 341.

Note 60, page 96.

This characteristic of the active trading propensities of the early settlers will apply to the present race of Americans in a fourfold degree.

Note 61, page 96.

One who brought goods to Maryland without following such advice as Alsop gives, describes in Hudibrastic verse his doleful story in the Sot Weed Fuctor, recently reprinted.

Note 62, page 96.

For an account of this gentleman, see ante, p. 13.

Note 63, page 97

The rebellion in Maryland, twice alluded to by our author in his letters, was a very trifling matter. On the restoration of Charles II, Lord Baltimore sent over his brother Philip Calvert as governor, with authority to proceed against Governor Fendall, who, false alike to all parties, was now scheming to overthrow the proprietary government. The new governor was instructed on no account to permit Fendall to escape with his life; but Philip Calvert was more clement than Lord Baltimore, and though Fendall made a fruitless effort to excite the people to opposition, he was, on his voluntary submission, punished by a merely short imprisonment. This clemency he repaid by a subsequent attempt to excite a rebellion.—McMahon's History of Maryland, pp. 213-14, citing Council Proceedings from 1656 to 1668, liber H. H., 74 to 82.

THE END.

GOWANS'

BIBLIOTHECA AMERICANA.

Consisting of a series of reprints of rare old books and pamphlets, relating to the early settlement of North America; namely, History, Biography, Topography, Narrative and Poetry. Each Book or pamphlet, reprinted accurately and carefully from the original text, with an Historical Introduction and copious Notes, illustrative, biographical, historical, &c., &c.

No. 1. DENTON, DANIEL.—A brief History of New York, formerly New Netherland (1570). A new edition with copious Notes, by the Hon. Gabriel Furman. New York, 1845, fine paper. $2.50.

No. 2. WOOLEY, CHARLES.—A two years' Journal in New York and parts of its Territories in America (1679). A new edition, with copious Historical and Biographical Notes, by E. B. O'Callaghan, M. D. To match Denton's New Netherland. New York, 1860. $2.50.

No. 3. MILLER, JOHN.—A description of the Province and City of New York, with plans of the City and several Ports as they existed in the year 1695. New edition, with copious Historical and Biographical Notes, by John Gilmary Shea, LL.D. New York, 1862. $2.50.

No. 4. BUDD, THOMAS.—Good Order Established in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, in America, being a true account of the country; with its produce and commodities there made in the year 1685. A new edition with an introduction and copious Historical and Biographical Notes, by Edward Armstrong, Esq. New York, 1865. $2.50.

No. 5. ALSOP, GEORGE.—A Character of the province of Maryland, described in four distinct parts, also a small treatise on the wild and naked Indians (or Susquehanokes) of Maryland, their customs, manners, absurdities, and religion together with a collection of Historical letters. A new edition with an introduction and copious historical notes by John Gilmary Shea, LL.D. Portrait and Map. New York, 1869. $2.50.

The above five books, touching the early history of the New-World, were all produced by residents at the time on the spot, and witnesses to what they relate. In consequence, like all fragments or large treatises, written by eye-witnesses, they possess an interest and authority not connected with the works of copyists or reproducers. These new editions are vastly enhanced in intrinsic value by the Historical and Biographical Notes, added by their respective editors, all well known as being amply capable of doing justice, as commentators on American subjects. Copies of the original editions of these books are worth $100, and $200.

The edition of the small paper copies was quite limited, and only fifty copies each of the large paper were produced, with the exception of the last, sixty-four copies were printed. These volumes will hereafter possess a value far exceeding the originals, for this two-fold reason: First, there are but few produced; and second, they constitute as it were, landmarks, in the early history of the North American Colonies, as well as divers other parts of the new found land of America.

Just Published and ready for Delivery.

A
CHARACTER OF THE PROVINCE
OF MARYLAND.

DESCRIBED IN FOUR DISTINCT PARTS;

WITH

A COLLECTION OF HISTORICAL LETTERS ORIGINALLY PUBLISHED
IN 1666.

P O R T R A I T A N D M A P .

By GEORGE ALSOP.

A NEW EDITION, WITH COPIOUS HISTORICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES.

By JOHN GILMARY SHEA, LL.D.

Early application will be necessary by such as desire to procure a copy of this rare book. The edition is limited to 500 copies, 8vo. $2.50, and 64 large paper, 4to size, $7.50.

W. GOWANS,

115 Nassau street, New York.

June 22d, 1869.

GOWANS.

CATALOGUE

OF

AMERICAN BOOKS,

For Sale at the affixed Prices.

STORE--115 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK.

(BETWEEN ANN AND BEEKMAN STS.)

*Let others in false Pleasure's court be found,
But may I ne'er be whirled the giddy round;
Let me ascend with Genius' rapid flight,
Till the fair hill of Science meets my sight,
Blest with a pilot who my feet will guide,
Direct my way, whene'er I step aside;
May one bright ray of Science on me shine,
And be the gift of learning ever mine.*

LUCRETIA M. DAVIDSON.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES.—In all the larger towns of France there are excellent public libraries, arranged in spacious rooms, with salaried librarians, every accommodation for readers, and every disposition to assist them. I could not visit these libraries without wishing that similar institutions could be introduced in the principal towns of England, for in a country where there are so many persons whose circumstances allow them leisure, where education is more and more diffused every day, and in times when men's minds are on the stir, the easy access to books, in every part of the kingdom, could not but prove at once agreeable and beneficial. The encouragement of such an object would be a wise application of public money.....

KNIGHT'S TOUR IN NORMANDY.

CATALOGUE.

ABERCROMBIE, JAMES. Sermon on the Fast, 1798. Sermon on the death of General Hamilton, 1804. Sermon on the Liturgy of the Protestant Episcopal Church, 1808. Lectures on the Catechism, on Confirmation and on the Liturgy, 1807. Charge to the Senior Classes of the Philadelphia Academy, 1804, 1805, 1806, 1807, 1808, 1809. Valedictory Oration, 1809. In 1 vol., 8vo, calf, $2. Philadelphia, 1798, 1809

A CRY from the Four Winds in the cause of Religious Liberty and against Clerical intrigue and Ecclesiastical Oppression. 8vo, pp. 232, $2. Boston, 1827

ADAMS, JOHN (Second President of the United States). The works of, with a life of the Author, Notes and Illustrations by his Grandson, Charles Francis Adams. Portrait, 10 vols., 8vo, cloth, $20. Boston, 1850

ADAMS, JOHN QUINCY. Report of the Secretary of State upon Weights and Measures, prepared in obedience to a resolution of the House of December 14, 1819. 8vo, pp. 245, $2. Washington, 1821

ADDRESSES. By Drs. Park, Post and Baron. 8vo, pp. 133, $1. N. Y., 1854

ÆNEAS and Dido, the story of, Burlesqued. From the Fourth Book of the (Æneid of Virgil. Vice La Bayatelle. 18mo, pp. 94 (Printed and sold by Robert Wells), Charleston, S. C., 1774

This little volume is printed in as handsome a style as was then done in either Philadelphia, New York or Boston, and the paper is much superior to what was then used by publishers in these three villages, the principal places where printing was carried on in the colonies. It proves that printing in the south had at an early date arrived at a state of comparative perfection that none appear to have been aware of. WESTERN MEMORABILIA.

ÆSOP'S FABLES and other allegorical writings by Croxall, with rude engravings. 12mo, pp. 366. Phila., 1785

This undoubtedly is the first American edition of this well known book, and as such it possesses no ordinary interest. The wood-cuts are extremely coarse and bear evidence that they were engraved in America. The artist has not affixed name, mark, or initials to them, thereby depriving himself of a share of honorable fame as an early American wood engraver.

AGARDH, JACOBO GEORGIO. Species Genera et Ordines Fucoidearum, seu Descriptiones succinctæ specierum generum et ordinum, wuius Fucoidearum Classis Constituitur. 3 vols., 8vo, half calf, very neat, $6. London, 1848

ALBION, THE. A British Colonial and Foreign Weekly Gazette. From vol. 40, 1840 to vol. 50, 1860, both inclusive, 22 vols., folio, half bound, new binding, $33. Ten dollars less than the cost of binding the series.

New York, 1840-60

ALLAN, JOHN. A Catalogue of his Extraordinary Collection of Books, Antiquities and Curiosities, with the names of the purchasers and the price that each lot or article sold for. Printed in a separate pamphlet. Forming 2 vols., 8vo, uncut, $5. New York, 1864

Sometime before the owner's death he would have sold his remarkable collection for fifteen thousand dollars, while it realized by the auction process about thirty-nine thousand. Taking the whole collection, it was the most extensive and valuable ever sold in America.

ALLEN, COL. ETHAN. A Narrative of his Captivity, by himself, with Notes. 12mo, $1. Burlington, 1846

- ALLEN, WILLIAM. American Biographical Dictionary, containing an Account of the Lives, Characters and Writings of the most eminent persons deceased in North America, from its first settlement. Third edition. Royal 8vo, sheep, pp. 915, $6. Boston, 1857
- ALMON, J. The Remembrancer, or Impartial Repository of Public Events, which transpired during the American Revolution 1775. One vol. 1776, four vols. 1777, one vol. 1778, one vol., 8vo, in all 7 vols., $35. (A complete set of this book is now worth $150. London, 1775
- This series of volumes is made up of the principal or probably all the official papers issued by both parties throughout the long wars of the North American Revolution, besides many collateral communications both semi-official and private. It would seem indispensable to the historian and biographer of that period. The Rebellion Record was got up in imitation of this publication and will serve a like purpose.
- ALVORD, J. W. Historical Address at the celebration of the Second Anniversary of the first settlement of the Town of Stamford, Connecticut. 8vo, pp. 40, $1. New York, 1842
- AMERICA. An Address to the People of Great Britain on the present crisis of American Politics, pp. 79. Bristol, 1776. The Rights of Great Britain Asserted against the claims of America, being an answer to the Declaration of the General Congress. Pp. 115. London, 1776. Consideration on the American War, addressed to the people of England. Pp. 60. London, 1776, 8vo, $1. London, v. d.
- AMERICA. Examen General de la situacion politica de las diferentes potencias del Continente Occidental, con conjeturas sobre su suerte futura por un ciudadano de los Estados Unidos. 8vo, $1.50. Northampton, 1828
- AMERICA. The History of the Wars in America between Great Britain and her Colonies from its commencement to the year 1787. 2 vols., 8vo, calf, $6.00. Dublin, 1789
- AMERICA. Recueil de divers Voyages faits en Afrique et en L'Amerique, qui n'ont point este, encore publiez. Contenant l'origine, les moeurs, les coutumes et le commerce des habitants de ces deux Parties du Monde. Avec Traitez curieux touchant la Haute Ethyopie la debordement du Nil, la mer Rouge, le Prete-Jean. Le tout enrichi de Figures, et de Cartes Geographiques, qui servent a l'intelligence des choses contenues en ce volume. 4to, $6. Paris, 1674
- AMERICAN ARCHIVES. Consisting of a collection of authentic records, state papers, debates, letters and other notices of public affairs, the whole forming a Documentary History of the origin and progress of the North American colonies; of the cause and accomplishment of the American Revolution; and of the Constitution of Government for the United States to the final ratification thereof. Edited by Peter Force. Fourth series, vol. 1st, 1774 and 1775; vol. 2d, 1775; vol. 3d, 1775; vol. 4th, 1775; vol. 5th, 1776; vol. 6th, 1776. Fifth series, vol. 1st, 1776; vol. 2d, 1776; vol. 3, 1776. 9 vols., folio, $35.00 Washington, 1839 and 1853
- The matter forming and to form this collection, will cover the period of time from the discovery of the new continent by Christopher Columbus till the adoption of the present federal government under the existing constitution, now known as the United States of North America in 1787, a period of two hundred and ninety-five years. The contents have been gathered from every possible source accessible, both European and American, with commendable diligence and perseverance; the selection warrants the conclusion, that the soundest judgment and discrimination have been used. These archives when all published will be one of the main fountains from whence all future American historians, annalists, legislators, ambassadors, statesmen, and biographical compilers must resort for munition and authority touching American subjects.
- The venerable and amiable editor showed me matter he had prepared for at least twenty volumes additional, but, said he, the government or rather the government agents are either perfectly indifferent about the completion of the work, or prefer employing the money for purposes which would prove more lucrative to them. It is to be wished that this important collection of public papers will not be suffered to remain in their present inaccessible and unpublished condition for any great length of time. Each series will cover the periods as follows: First, from the discovery and settlement of North America to 1688; second, from 1688 to 1763; third, from 1763 to 1774; fourth, from 1774 to 1776; fifth, from 1776 to 1783; sixth, from 1783 to 1787. WESTERN MEMORABILIA.
- AMERICAN ASSOCIATION, Proceedings of the, for the Advancement of Science, 1848, 49, 50, 54, 55, 57, 59. 8 vols., 8vo, paper covers, $16. Cambridge, 1849, 1860

- AMERICAN CONGRESS, An Answer to the Declaration of the. 3d edition. 8vo, $\frac{1}{2}$ mor. pp. 132, \$3. London, 1776
- AMERICAN CONGRESS, Journals of, from 1774 to 1788. 4 vols., 8vo, sheep, $12. Washington, 1823
A report of the original which was published at various periods. Copies of both editions are become quite scarce.
- AMERICAN. Dialogues of the American Dead. 8vo, pp. 43, $1. Phila., 1814
The interlocutors in these Dialogues, are Washington, Alfred, William Tell, Hamilton, and Fisher Ames.
- AMERICAN Diplomatic Correspondence, from 1862 to June 4, 1866. 10 vols., royal 8vo, half russia, $20. Washington, 1862-66
- AMERICAN Diplomatic Correspondence and Papers relating to Foreign Affairs, accompanied with the Annual Message of the President for 1863 and 1864. 4 vols., 8vo, cloth, $6. Washington, 1864
- AMERICAN FARMERS, Politics for, being a Series of Tracts, exhibiting the Blessings of Free Government, as it is administered in the United States, compared with the boasted stupendous fabric of British Monarchy. 12mo, boards, $2. Washington city, 1807
- AMERICAN HUSBANDRY. Containing an Account of the Soil, Climate, Production and Agriculture of the British Colonies in North America and the West Indies, by an American. 2 vols., 8vo, pp. 472-336, $4. London, 1775
- AMERICAN INSTITUTE, Journal of. A Monthly Publication, devoted to the Interests of Agriculture, Commerce, Manufactures, and the Arts, accompanied with Public Documents, Sketches of Natural History, Philosophical and Literary Essays. Edited by members of the Institute. 4 vols., 8vo, half calf, fine copy (a complete set) $10. New York, 1836-40
- AMERICAN MINISTERS at Ostend. Correspondence touching that Convention. 8vo, pp. 152, paper cover, $3. Washington, 1855
- AMERICAN MUSEUM (The), or Universal Magazine; containing Essays on Agriculture, Commerce, Manufactures, Politics, Morals and Manners, Sketches of National Character, Natural and Civil History, and Biography, Law Information, Public Papers, Proceedings of Congress, Intelligence, Moral Tales, Ancient and Modern Poetry, etc., etc., Commencing Jan., 1787, and ending Dec. 31st, 1792. 12 vols., 8vo, sheep, $25. Phila., 1787-1792
- AMERICAN ORATOR (The). A Collection of Oratorical Specimens of the Eloquence of Popular assembles. With very rude portrait of Shakespeare. The first engraved in America. 12mo, $2. New Haven, 1818
- AMERICAN ORIENTAL SOCIETY, Journal of, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, forming vol. 1st, $4. Boston, 1843-1849
- AMERICAN PAMPHLETS, A vol. of, viz: Governor Livingston's Poem entitled Philosophical Solitude, on the shore of a Rural Lake. New York, 1762, pp. 48. A letter from Phocion to the considerate citizens of New York, Pp. 12. New York, 1784. Benjamin Trumbull on the unlawfulness of Divorce. Pp. 53, New Hampshire, 1788. A Funeral Oration by Reuben Hitchcock, Pp. 22, New Hampshire, 1786. A letter on the slave trade. Pp. 28, New York, 1784, and eleven others. Unique collection. 8vo, $10. v. d.
This excessively rare pamphlet, entitled a letter of Phocion, was written by Gen Hamilton while a very young man. In all probability his first literary effort. I had this from the lips of his venerable widow a few months before her death. . . . WESTERN MEMORABILIA.
- AMERICAN POETRY, The Gems of, by Distinguished Authors. 8vo, cloth, plates soiled. New York, 1840
- AMERICAN POETS. The Bowdoin Poets, Edited by Edward P. Weston. 2d edition, 12mo, pp. 180, $2. Brunswick, 1849
This volume embraces specimens of the productions of thirty-four Poets.
- AMERICAN PREACHER (The). A Collection of Sermons by some of the most eminent American Preachers of Different Denominations. Among them Witherspoon, Macwhorter, J. H. Livingston, Linn, Bishop Moore, Dr. Rogers, Abell, Holmes, Ogden, Tennet, Ewing, Burnet, Backus, Edwards, Spring, etc., etc. 4 vols., 8vo, sheep (poor binding), a very rare collection, $8. Elizabethtown, N. J., 1791.

- AMERICAN SPEECHES, SELECT. Forensic and Parliamentary, with prefatory remarks, being a Sequel to Dr. Chapman's Select Speeches, by S. C. Carpenter. 2 vols., boards, uncut, 8vo, pp. 492, 481, $6. Philadelphia, 1815
In the collection are to be found Speeches of Patrick Henry, J. Madison, James Wilson, Fisher Ames, Gen. Alex. Hamilton, Gouverneur Morris, William Wirt and others.
- AMERICAN STATE PAPERS. Containing Documents relative to the History, Politics, Statistics, etc., of the United States of America. 8vo, boards, $1.25. Boston, 1808
- AMERICAN STATISTICAL ASSOCIATION, Collections of. Vol. 1st, 8vo, pp. 396, $2.50. Boston, 1847
- AMES, FISHER, Works of, with a selection from his Speeches and Correspondence. Edited by his son, Seth Ames. 2 vols., 8vo, cloth, $6. N. Y., 1869
- AMPERE, J. J. Promenade en Amerique, Etats Unis, Mexico, 2 tomes. 8vo, pp. 421, 422, $4. Paris, 1855
- ANDERSON, JAMES, S. M. The History of the Church of England in the Colonies and Foreign Dependencies of the British Empire. Second edition, 3 vols., 12mo, cloth, maps, $7.50. London, 1856
- ANDREWS, ISRAEL D. Communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting, in compliance with a resolution of the senate, on the Trade and Commerce of the British North American Colonies, and upon the trade of the great Isles and Rivers; also notices of the internal improvements in each state, of the Gulf of Mexico and Straits of Florida, and a paper on the Cotton Crop of the U. S. 2 vols., 8vo, one of maps, $3.50. Washington, 1854
- ANGLO AMERICAN. Magazine from July 1852 to June, 1853. Plates, 2 vols., royal 8vo, boards, calf, $4. Toronto, 1853
- AN ENQUIRY into the Condition and Prospects of the African Race in the United States and the means of its Fortunes, by an American. 12mo, pp. 214, $1.50. Philadelphia, 1839
- AN ESSAY towards an Improved Registry of Deeds. City and County of New York, to December 31st, 1792, inclusive. 8vo, pp. 371, $50. N. Y., 1832
- ANNALS OF CONGRESS. The Debates and Proceedings in the Congress of the United States, with an appendix, containing important State papers and Public Documents, and all the laws of a public Nature; with a copious index, from 1789 to 1821. 37 vols., royal 8vo, sheep. Washington, 1834
- ANNALS of the WEST. Embracing a Concise account of Principal Events which have occurred in the Western States and Territories from the Discovery of the Mississippi Valley to the year 1850. Compiled and published by James R. Albach. 8vo, sheep, pp. 818, $5. St. Louis, 1852
- ANTHON, REV. HENRY, Tributes to the Memory of. Late Rector of St. Mark's in the Bowery, N. Y., with a brief sketch of his Life, by Rev. Manton Eastborn, D.D. 8vo, pp. 80, fine portrait, half morocco, neat, $3. N. Y., 1862
- ANTINOMIAN TENETS. A Second Familiar Conference upon some Antinomian Tenets, occasioned by Mr. David Judson's Remarks upon the First. In which his objections are laid down in his own words. 8vo, pp. 41, $5. New York: (Printed by John Holt), M,DCC,LXV
- ARCTURUS. A Journal of Books and Opinions, edited by Cornelius Matthews and Evert A. Duyckinck. 3 vols., 8vo, half bound, $6. N. Y., 1841-42
- ARMY of the CUMBERLAND, Annals of the, comprising biographies, descriptions of departments, accounts of expeditions, skirmishes, and battles, also its Police Record of spies, smugglers, and prominent rebel emissaries, &c., &c., by an officer. Steel portraits, wood-engravings and maps, large 8vo, cloth, pp. 671, $2.50. Phila., 1864
- ASTOR LIBRARY. Catalogue or Alphabetical Index of the Astor Library. 4 vols., royal 8vo, pp. 2110, uncut, $15. New York, 1857-61
This is one of the most important catalogues that has been produced in the United States. The Compilation was superintended by the venerable and accomplished Dr. Cogswell, the actual founder and architect of the Astor Library; in short, he may be said to have been so far the Alpha and Omega of that Institution.

- ASSOCIATE PRESBYTERIAN Magazine, The, designed to promote the Knowledge and Influence of Evangelical Truth and Order according to the Principles of the Reformation. 3 vols., 8vo, half calf, $3.75. Albany, 1839-42
- ATTORNEY GENERALS of United States. Opinions of, from 1791 to 1838. 8vo, pp. 1213, $3. Washington, 1851
- ATTORNEY GENERALS of United States. Opinions of, from Sept. 26, 1789 to July 19, 1850. 2 vols., 8vo, $8. Washington, 1850
- ATTORNEY GENERALS of United States. Opinions of, from 1838 to 1850, both inclusive. 3 vols., 8vo, law sheep, $9. Washington, 1838-1851
- ATELA ; or the Amours of Two Indians in the wilds of America. 12mo, pp. 129 London, 1802
- BACHE, A. D. Report of Superintendent of the Coast Survey showing the progress of that work ending Oct., 1849. 8vo, uncut, maps, $2. Washington, 1849
- BACHMAIR, J. J. A complete German Grammar in two Parts, the First Part containing the theory of the language through all the parts of speech ; the Second Part is the practice in as simple a manner as can be devised. 8vo, $2. Phila., 1793
- BACON, THOMAS. Four Sermons, upon the great and indispensable Duty of all Christian Masters and Mistresses to bring up their Negro Slaves in the knowledge and Fear of God. Preached in the parish church of St. Peters, Talbot county, in the province of Maryland, 18mo, pp. 142, $5. London, 1750
- BADEN, G. L. History of Norway, from the earliest times, and from the union of Calmar by Baron Holberg. Translated from the Danish and continued to the present time, by A. A. Feldborg. 8vo, boards, $2. London, 1817
- BAIRD, SPENCER V. Serpents of New York, with a notice of a species not hitherto induced in the Fauna of the State. 8vo, paper, pp. 28, $1.25. Albany, 1854
- BARCLAY, ROBERT. A Catechism and Confession of Faith, approved and agreed unto by the General Assembly of the Patriarchs, Prophets and Apostles, Christ himself chief speaker, to which is added the Ancient Testimony of the people called Quakers held in the provinces of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, 1722, 12mo, pp. 148 and 34, $2. Troy, N. Y., 1803
- BAKER, RACHEL. Devotional Somnium, or a collection of Prayers and Exhortations uttered by Miss Rachel Baker while asleep, 12mo, boards, uncut. New York, 1815
- BALTIMORE DIRECTORY. 1831. Containing a Plan of the City, with reference to the public buildings. 12mo, in fine preservation, $2. Baltimore, 1831
- BANKER'S MAGAZINE, and State Financial Register. Edited by J. S. Homans. From vol. 2, 1847 and 1848 to vol. 8, Dec., 1854. 10 vols., 8vo, half sheep, $20. Baltimore and N. Y., 1848, &c.
- BARHAM, HENRY. Hortus Americanus: containing an account of the trees, shrubs, and other vegetable productions, of South America and the West India Islands, and particularly of the Island of Jamaica, with many curious and useful observations respecting their uses in medicine, diet, and mechanics, with a Linnæan Index, &c. 8vo, $2. Kingston, Jamaica, 1794
- BARKER, JACOB. Incidents in the Life of Jacob Barker, of New Orleans, from 1800 to 1855. 2 fine portraits, 8vo, pp. 285, $3. Washington, 1855
- BARNARD, JOHN. Sermons on social subjects. 8vo, large paper. London, printed for Samuel Gerrish, and Daniel Henchman, in Cornhill, Boston, New England, MDCXXVII.
- This must be a very rare book. Out of the millions of volumes that I have seen, and the tens of thousands I have handled, I have never before seen a copy of this New England production. WESTERN MEMORABILIA.
- BARNES, CHARLOTTE. Plays, Prose, and Poetry. 12mo, pp. 489, $3. Phila. 1848
- Charlotte was a modest, little, unpretending woman, and connected with the stage for a short time, then became an author, subsequently got married, and shortly afterwards went the way of all the earth. WESTERN MEMORABILIA.
- BARNARD, HENRY. The American Journal of Education, with 53 portraits and 20 plates. Vols. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 ; in all 9 vols., $20. Hartford, 1856, 1862

- BARNARD, HENRY. Ditto, Vols. 3, 4, 5, 8vo, cloth, $6. Hartford, 1857. &c.
- BARNARD, HENRY. Ditto, Nos. 1 to 15 wanting, 13 in all, 14 nos. $7.
- BARTON, BENJAMIN SMITH. The Philadelphia Medical and Physical Journal
4 parts in 2 vols., 8vo, boards, uncut, $10. Philadelphia, 1804-6
These volumes contain many papers on yellow fever, American Mammoth, Indian Dogs, Welsh Indians, in America. Life of Dr. Clayton, the Virginia Botanist, and others.
- BAXTER, W. E. America and the Americans. 12mo, pp. 244, $1. Lond., 1855
- BAYLIES, FRANCIS. An Historical Memoir of the Colony of New Plymouth.
From 1620 to the Establishment of the General Government over New England. The Four Parts. 8vo, folded, unbound and uncut, $5. Boston, 1830
- BAYLEY, J. R. (R. Catholic Bishop of New Jersey). A Brief Sketch of the History of the Catholic Church of the Island of New York. 18mo, pp. 156, $2.
New York, 1853
- BEACH, ELIZABETH T. P. Pelayo: An Epic of the Olden Moorish Time.
12mo, plates, $2. New York, 1864
- BEARDSLEY, LEVI. Reminiscences; Personal and other incidents; early settlement of Otsego County; notices and anecdotes of public men; Judicial, legal and legislative matters; field sports; Dissertations and Discussions. 8vo, pp.
575, $3. New York, 1852
- BELKNAP, JEREMY (The Historian of New Hampshire), Life of, with selections from his Correspondence and other writings. 18mo, pp. 253, $1. N. Y.
- BELKNAP, J. History of New Hampshire. Vol. 1, 8vo, old sheep, pp. 445, $2.
Philadelphia, 1784
- BELKNAP, J. The Foresters, an American Tale, being as equal to the history of John Bull the Clothier, in a series of letters to a friend. 32mo, $2. Exeter, 1834
- BELKNAP, J. A Discourse, intended to commemorate the Discovery of America by C. Columbus. To which are added four dissertations: 1. On circumnavigating Africa. 2. An Examination of the pretensions of Martin Behmain to a Discovery of America prior to that of Columbus. 3. Whether the Honey Bee is a native of America. 4. On the color of the Native Americans. 8vo, pp. 132, $5. Boston, 1792
- BENEDICT, DAVID. A General History of the Baptist Denomination in America, and other parts of the World. 2 vols., 8vo, $5. Boston, 1813
- BENNET, JAMES GORDON. The Herald Almanac for the United States, for 1849. 8vo, pp. 48, $2. New York, 1849
Horace had made the Tribune Almanac successful, and as there is nothing which makes James feel sorer and more dissatisfied, than to learn that a superabundance of grist is going into that philosopher's mill, in order to head off Greeley in this enterprise he undertook the manufacturing of Almanacs; the attempt failed, as it is understood this is the first and last of this abortion.....WESTERN MEMORABILIA.
- BERRIAN, WILLIAM. An Historical Sketch of Trinity Church, New York.
8vo, cloth, plates, $3. New York, 1847
- BETHUNE, MRS. JOANNA, Memoirs of, by her son, Rev. Geo. W. Bethune, with an Appendix, containing extracts from the writings of Mrs. Bethune.
2 plates, 12mo, pp. 250, $2. New York, 1863
- BIBLE. The Holy Bible, containing the Old and New Testaments; newly translated out of the original tongues; and with the former translations, Diligently compared and revised, by his Majesty's special command, appointed to be read in churches, 4to. London, Thomas Basket, 1756
This is doubtless the edition of the Bible which Isaiah Thomas has stated in his History of Printing was the first 4to printed in America. So far, there has been no evidence produced to confirm his assumption, nor in all probability ever can.
- BIBLICAL REPERTORY and Princeton Review, for 1850, vol. 22, and 1851 vol.
23. 2 vols., 8vo, ½ calf, $3. Philadelphia, 1850-I
- BIBLIOTHEQUE UNIVERSELLE Des Voyages, ou Notice complete et raisonnee de tous les Voyages anciens et modernes dans les différentes parties du monde, publies tant en langue Francaise qu'en langues etrangeres, classes par ordre de pays dans leur serie chronologique, &c., &c. Par G. Boucher de la Richarderie. 6 vols., 8vo, cloth, $6. Paris, 1808

- BLACKISTON, T. H. General view of Europe and America. 12mo. uncut, pp. 107, $1. London, 1829
- BLAIR, JAMES. Our Saviour's Divine Sermon on the Mount, contained in the 5th, 6th, and 7th chapters of St. Matthew's Gospel, explained, and the practice of it recommended in divers sermons and discourses. With a paraphrase on the whole sermon on the mount, &c. 4 vols., 8vo, calf, $12. London, 1740
- BLODGET, SAMUEL. A Prospective Plan of the Battle near Lake George, on the eighth day of September, 1755, with an explanation thereof, containing a full, tho' short, history of that important affair, by Samuel Blodget, occasionally at the camp, when the battle was fought, 4to, pp. 7. Boston, MDCCLV.
- BLOOD, BENJAMIN. Optism. The Lesson of Ages. 12mo, $1.50. Boston, 1860
- BLOOMINGTON. A Sketch of the Town of Bloomington, Minnesota Valley, in the territory of Minnesota. 18mo, pp. 24, large map, $1. St. Paul, Minn., 1857
- BLOUNT, WILLIAM. Report of the Committee of the House of Representatives of the United States, appointed to prepare and report Articles of Impeachment against William Blount, a Senator of the United States, 1797. 8vo, pp. 160, uncut, $5. Sine loco, sine anno
- BLUE BOOK, or Register of Officers and Agents, Civil, Military, and Naval, in the Service of the United States, corrected to Nov., 1862, with Census to 1860, etc., etc., Compiled by J. Disturnell. 8vo, cloth, $1. New York, 1863
- BOARD OF EDUCATION. Annual Report of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, with Portraits of Drs. Samuel Millar, Ashbell Green, A. Alexander and Sylvester Larned. 18mo, silk binding, $2. Philadelphia, 1832
- BONAPARTE, CHARLES LOUIS. The Genera of North American Birds, and a Synopsis of the Species found within the territory of the United States. 8vo, pp. 450; uncut, privately printed, $6. New York, 1828 Presentation copy to Dr. Hosack, from the author.
- BOOK OF ABRAHAM. The Acts of the Elders, commonly called the Book of Abraham, to which is appended a chapter from the Book of Religious Errors, with Notes of Explanation. Small 4to, pp. 160, privately printed, $5. Boston, 1851
- BOOK OF MORMON, The. An Account written by the Hand of Mormon, upon Plates taken from the PLATES of NEPHI. By Joseph Smith, Jr., Author and Proprietor. 12mo, pp. 588. Palmyra, N. Y., printed by E. B. Grandin, for the Author, 1830
A copy of the original edition of the "Book of Mormon," is without doubt the scarcest book published in the nineteenth century which has obtained any kind of reputation. As an evidence of this, I have been in search of a copy for a great many years, and always unsuccessful till this copy, here named, came into my possession by accident among a lot of old school books, which by the bye, in external appearance, it strongly resembles. And as further confirmation of its scarcity; on a certain occasion Sir Henry Bulwer, the then British Minister at Washington, and the British consul came into my book repository, 178 Fulton street, the former introducing himself as such, and then introduced his companion as the British consul, adding that he had called upon me by recommendation for the purpose of procuring a copy of the original edition of the "Book of Mormon." Continued he, "I do this at the request of Lord Macanlay, the historian, who is very anxious to procure a copy of it, having learned that the reprints, both English and American, had been considerably altered. On hearing his story I immediately expressed my regrets as well as fears that it would be impossible to exhumate a copy of this book; for of all the volumes I have handled, seen, and sold, and they are millions, I have never seen what you ask for. Reprints can easily be obtained, but not the original. Her Majesty's representative seemed greatly disappointed at my remarks, and said he had made himself certain, from what he had been told of my collection that he would have nothing more to do than call upon me and procure a copy of this singular book, and so gratify my friend Macanlay with what he was so anxious to procure. I offered to make some effort to procure a copy, and in the event of being successful would not fail to apprise him of the fortunate discovery. He appeared pleased with my promise to aid him in procuring this rare treasure. I immediately commenced the search by advertising and writing to various booksellers throughout the country who were likely to have such a book, and more particularly to the dealers in the village that gave it birth, and the surrounding towns, but all proved unavailing, so that in all probability the great historian and still greater essayist, never had the pleasure of seeing it..... WESTERN MEMORABILIA.
- BOON, DANIEL, Life and Adventures of, comprising an account of his first excursion in Kentucky in 1769, then a wild wilderness. Written by himself, to which is added A Narrative of the most important incidents of his life from

- the latter period until his death June 27th, 1821. Full length portrait, 12mo, pp. 26, $5. Brooklyn, 1823
- BOTTA, C. History of the Wars of the Independence of the United States of America, translated by G. A. Otis. 2 vols., 8vo, plates, sheep, $4
Cooperstown, N. Y., 1845
- BOUDINOT, Elias. A Star in the West; or an attempt to discover the long Lost Ten Tribes of Israel. 8vo, pp. 312. Trenton, 1816. A brief reply to a short answer to a true exposition on the decline of the Catholic Church, touching the Sacrament of Penance. The two books bound in one, $3. N. Y. 1815
- BOUQUET, HENRY. An Historical account of the Expedition against the Ohio Indians, in the year 1764. 18mo, pp. 119, full calf, neat, no map, $12.
Dublin, 1799
- BOUTON, NATHANIEL. The History of Concord from its first grant in 1725 to the organization of the city government in 1853, with a history of the Ancient Penacooks, the whole interspersed with numerous interesting incidents and anecdotes, &c., &c., 3 maps, 15 portraits and 26 views, 8vo, cloth, pp. 786, $5.
Concord, 1856
- BOWDITCH, N. L. Suffolk Surnames. 8vo, pp. 757, portrait, $5. Boston, 1861
- BOYD, W. H. New York City text-book; being a list of persons, corporations and copartnerships, resident and nonresident, who were taxed according to the assessors' books, 1856 and 1857. 12mo, pp. 260, $2. New York, 1857
- BRAINERD, JOHN. Life of. The brother of David Brainerd, and his successor as Missionary to the Indians of New Jersey, by Rev. Thomas Brainerd. 8vo, plates, fine paper, $3. Philadelphia, 1865
- BRANNAN, JOHN. Official Letters of the Military and Naval Officers of the United States during the War with Great Britain, in the years 1812, '13, '14, '15, with some additional Letters and Documents elucidating the History of that period. 8vo, pp. 510, $5.50. Washington, D. C., 1823.
- BREAZEALE, J. W. M. Life as it is, Matters and Things in General, containing amongst other things Historical Sketches of the Exploration and first settlements of the State of Tennessee, Manners and Customs of the Inhabitants with their Wars with the Indians, Battles King's Mountain. History of the Harps, two noted Murderers, a Satirical Burlesque upon the practice of Electioneering, Legislative, Judicial and Ecclesiastical incidents, description of Natural Curiosities, a collection of Anecdotes, &c. 8vo, pp. 256.
Knoxville, Tenn., 1842
- BRIDGES, GEO. W. The Annals of Jamaica. 2 vols., 8vo, calf, $6. Lond., 1827
- BRIGHAM, ABRAHAM (M. D.). Biographical Sketch of, Late Superintendent of the New York State Lunatic Asylum, Utica, N. Y. 8vo, pp. 123, portrait, $2. Utica, 1858
- BRISTED, JOHN. Thoughts on the Anglican and Anglo-American Churches. 8vo, boards, $2. London, 1823
- BRITISH SPY, THE; or, Letters to a member of the British Parliament, written during a tour through the United States, by a young Englishman of rank. 18mo, pp. 103, $2. Newburyport, 1804
The above is supposed to be the original edition of the now celebrated letters of the British Spy, written by the American Plato, William Wirt. For the amount of what he has written, no American author has won so permanent and wide-spread a reputation. His story of the blind preacher is one of the most beautiful and affecting in the language. This book has gone through fifteen editions, and is destined to go through as many more.
- BROMWELL, WILLIAM J. History of Emigration to the United States, exhibiting the Number, Sex, Age, Occupation and Country of Birth. 8vo, pp. 225, $3. New York, 1856
- BROOK, REV. JOHN. Life and Times of, with a history of the great Revival in Tennessee and many incidents of thrilling interest, &c., written by himself. 12mo, sheep, pp. 175, $1. Nashville 1848.
- BROOKLYN. History of the Brooklyn and Long Island Fair, February 29d, 1866. 8vo, pp. 189, $3. Brooklyn, 1864

- BROOKLYN. First Annual Report of the Commissioners of Prospect Park, Brooklyn, January 28th, 1861. 8vo, pp. 80, three plates. Brooklyn, 1861
- BROOKLYN. Manual of the Common Council of the City of Brooklyn for 1863. Numerous maps and colored plates, 8vo, pp. 409. Brooklyn, 1863
- BROOKLYN. Manual for the Common Council for 1859 and 1860, map of the City, 12mo, pp. 375. Brooklyn, 1859
- BROUGHAM, LORD. An Enquiry into the Colonial Policy of the European Powers. 2 vols., 8vo, half calf, very neat, $10. Edinburgh, 1803
- BROWNLOW, W. G. (Vulgarly surnamed Parson Brownlow). Brownlow's Knoxville Whig and Rebel Ventilator, 22 Numbers for 1868, $5. Knoxville, Tenn., 1865
- Many of the editor's peculiarities will be found in these numbers, more especially when he is handling over the coals, the late rebels or their copperhead sympathizers.
- BROWNSON, O. A. Essays and Reviews, chiefly on Theology, Politics, and Socialism. 8vo, cloth, $1.50. New York, 1852
- BROWNSON'S Quarterly Review. Vol. 4th, new series, $2. Boston, 1850
- BUCHANAN, JAMES, Ex-President of the United States, Administration on the Eve of the Rebellion. 8vo, pp. 296, $2. New York, 1866
- BUCKMINSTER, REV. JOSEPH, Memoirs of, and of his son Rev. J. S. Buckminster, by Eliza B. Lee. 12mo, portrait, cloth, $2. Boston, 1851
- BULLOCK, W. Sketch of a Journey through the Western States of North America, from New Orleans, by the Mississippi, Ohio, City of Cincinnati and Falls of Niagara, to New York, in 1827, with a Description of Cincinnati, by B. Drake and E. D. Mansfield, containing information useful to persons desirous of settling in America. Map, 12mo, boards, uncut, $5. London, 1827
- BUNGAY, GEORGE W. Crayon Sketches, or off hand Takings. Distinguished American Statesmen, Orators, Divines, Essayists, Editors, Poets, etc. 12mo, pp. 156, $1.25. Boston, 1852
- BUNYAN, JOHN. The Pilgrim's Progress, from this World to that which is to come. The Second Part, Illustrated with four rude engravings, 18mo, pp. 166, paper cover. Boston, 1744
- This is the second attempt at reproducing the renowned Pilgrim's Progress in North America, an evidence of its extraordinary popularity even at that age. The first was printed in Boston, 1681, which is referred to by the author in a subsequent edition published in England. This edition is about as rude a specimen of book making as well can be imagined. The engravings are curious specimens of the art in an infant, or newly settled colony. They are without doubt native productions.
- BUNYAN, JOHN, The Minor Works of, Containing the Water of Life, Solomon's Temple Spiritualized; Christ a Complete Saviour, Divine Breathings; and Grace Abounding. 12mo, pp. 330, $3. Portsmouth, N. H., 1804
- This in all probability is the first American edition of Bunyan's minor works. It is undoubtedly very rare.
- BUNYAN, JOHN. A Bibliography of all the American Editions of the Pilgrim's Progress, from 1681 to the present time, with some of his other works, so far as could be obtained. 4to. In manuscript. New York, 1868
- Bunyan by his Pilgrim has been and is the most popular theological author whose works have been published in America. This wonderful but pleasing, or rather enchanting fiction is to be found in costly style adorning the libraries of the opulent millionaire, the well to do citizen, and on the naked tables and window sills of the poor. The author lived to learn that his immortal dialogues had been published in America and had sold successfully. As an author Bunyan may be said to hold the same popularity among protestants as Thomas a Kempis does among the Roman Catholics. Sir Walter Scott said he was the first author who in his Pilgrim's Progress had combined dialogue with narrative. To those who wish to know minutely about Bunyan, consult Lord Macanlay, Ivimy, Phillips, and Southey..... WESTERN MEMORABILIA.
- BURK, JOHN. History of Virginia, from the First Settlement to the Commencement of the Revolution. 3 vols., 8vo, half calf, neat, $45. Richmond, 1822
- The author was an Irishman by birth, but an American by compulsion. He had to leave Ireland, with Emmet, McNevin, Sampson and others who participated in the rebellion about the end of the last century. He was quite a voluminous author on history, politics, the drama and miscellaneous literature. He foolishly threw away his life by a duel in 1808.
- BURNEY, JAMES. Chronological History of North-Eastern Voyages of Discovery, and of the early eastern navigations of the Russians. 8vo, boards, $3. London, 1819

BURROUGHS, STEPHEN, Memoirs of, containing many Incidents in the Life of this wonderful man, never before published. 18mo, pp. 356. Boston, 1835

BURNS, ROBERT. Poems chiefly in the Scottish Dialect. To which are added Scottish Poems selected from the works of Robert Ferguson. Rare portrait evidently a native production. 12mo, half calf, pp. 306. New York, 1788

The New York edition of the works of Robert Burns, 1788, may so far be pronounced unique. No copy with the exception of the one named has been seen by the most sharp hawk-eyed book hunter, or the keenest bibliographer, nor by any of the living generation so far as known. I used to hunt the Nestor of Vandewater Street (John Allan, who was very anxious to possess this book) that I would exchange my copy of the first American edition for his Kilmarnock, the first Scotch edition, providing he would add a fifty dollar bill by way of inducing me to part with such a rarity. He declined to comply with this generous offer and so never had the pleasure of being possessed of what he long had set his affections on. He lived in the hopes of some day procuring a copy, but before that day arrived he had "passed that bourne from whence no traveller returns." It is probable that the edition was very limited and fell chiefly into the hands of poor Scottish emigrants which in some measure accounts for its disappearance. This class of people not being very careful book preservers, and the second generation of such generally become wealthier looked upon old dirty books as refuse or rather a nuisance and as a consequence were consigned to the dunghill or oven, thus sharing the fate of the precious contents of the far famed Egyptian Library at Alexandria. WESTERN MEMORABILIA.

BURNS, ROBERT. Poems chiefly in the Scottish Dialect. Portrait, evidently inserted. Engraved at Phila., 1805. 12mo, pp. 304, sheep-binding, $30. Phila., 1788

It is difficult at this time to determine whether this or the New York edition bearing the same date was the first of Burns's works published in America. It may, however, be presumed that the Philadelphia was the first perhaps by a month or two. The quaker city was then the capital of the lately enfranchised Colonies, and as a matter of course communication with Europe was much more frequent and direct than any other port on the Atlantic coast. Hence the greater part of everything imported most likely came to Philadelphia. WESTERN MEMORABILIA.

BURNS, ROBERT. Poems chiefly in the Scottish dialect. To which are added, Scott's Poems, selected from the works of Robert Ferguson. Small 8vo, pp. 306. Portrait. New York, 1799

This is evidently a portion of the first New York edition, which doubtless fell into the hands of another proprietor who appears to have printed a new title with a more modern date. The Portrait, paging and form exactly corresponds with the first. This was a common practice at that time and not unfrequent now, many instances could be cited. The first was printed and published by J. and J. McLean, No. 11 Hanover Square, 1788. The second by John Tiebout, 358 Pearl Street, 1799. This copy is in beautiful preservation, as much so as the day when it was published, the Portrait a clear and distinct impression. To such as are desirous of adding a rare book to their collection, which has obtained a world wide reputation, here is an opportunity of procuring a gem. The volume is of the greatest rarity, as much so as an honest man; a truthful eulogy; or a true friend. WESTERN MEMORABILIA.

BURNS, ROBERT. A Bibliography of all the American Editions of his works as well as all the books written on him and them, from 1788 to 1868. In Manuscript, 4to. New York

This bibliography will set in a much clearer light the extraordinary popularity of the writings of Robert Burns in North America, than all the eulogies, dissertations, criticisms, or panegyrics ever passed on him or them at all the merry gatherings, or solemn meetings from the bursting forth of his genius even until now. It may be observed that the early American editions of his works, not more than two thousand or so at a time were printed forming an edition, and then the type distributed. This process gives but a feeble idea of the demand for his works as compared with the now vast hoards of volumes thrown off annually by not less than ten different publishers throughout the United States. These are all stereotyped and they are, as occasion demands, printed by the many thousands, and then immediately scattered over the vast surface of the United States and Canada, from Maine to Texas, from New York to California, and from the bleak and dreary shores of Labrador to the cheerful sunny coasts of the Pacific seas. Besides the quantities annually imported from England and Scotland to the States and Canada, both costly and cheap copies. Prices from twenty-five cents per copy to twenty-five dollars. I have heard his songs chanted by the rude Mississippi boatmen while floating down in their ruder sluggish arks, notwithstanding they understood his dialect imperfectly. This was fame indeed, as Sir Walter Scott is reported to have said, on either seeing or hearing that a coarse portrait of him cheaply framed, hung up in the public room of a very humble inn in some remote part of Hungary. With the exception of Shakespeare, Burns is the most popular and best known author in America. Bunyan will follow mainly in, by and through his immortal Pilgrim's Progress, which has been prolific in editions beyond all belief. WESTERN MEMORABILIA.

BURNS, ROBERT. The Works of, with an account of his Life, and a Criticism on his Writings, by J. Currie, M. D. 4 vols., 12mo, pp. 386, 500, 444, 428, $8. Philadelphia, 1801

This is the first complete edition of the works of the Scottish Theocrat published in America. It is a reprint of Dr. Currie's famous Liverpool edition. It does great credit to the American press at that early period, it is better gotten up than many of the books produced at the present day both as regards paper, printing and binding. The portrait is well executed. It is taken from Naysmith's painting of the poet's likeness and engraved by A. Lawson.

BUSH, GEORGE. Ezekiel's Vision, an Attempted Explanation of the Living Creatures and wheels, in the Book of Ezekiel. 8vo, pp. 70. His first book. $2. Cincinnati, 1829

BUSH, GEORGE. New Church Miscellanies, or Essays, Ecclesiastical, Doctrinal and Ethical. 12mo, pp. 372, $1.50. New York, 1855

BUSH, GEORGE. Memoirs and Reminiscences of, being for the most part voluntary Contributions from different Friends who have kindly consented to this Memorial of his worth. Edited and arranged by Woodbury M. Fernald. 12mo, pp. 408. Perfect portrait. $3. Boston, 1860

The truly amiable and good Dr. Bush, whom I frequently fell in with, always brought me in mind of what I supposed Pascal, Baxter and Boston had been, and how they appeared. Amiable, simple and unpretending as a Moravian patriarch, with a temper so composed, placid and serious as to bid defiance to all discomposure. Wise and learned beyond his contemporaries, full of good will to the whole human race, with a deep sense of his obligations as a teacher of his fellow men. He said that he put forth and promulgated opinions during his less mature years which he now totally condemned, and if he could, would bury them in oblivion. Among these advocacies and opinions was the supposed scriptural prohibition of a man marrying his deceased wife's sister. This opinion, said he, was with me educational and by no means the result of scriptural investigation or reading the opinions of the ablest writers pro and con on the subject. This prohibition from time to time had been agitated through newspapers, pamphlets, general assemblies, conventions, and otherwise rather intemperately, which had the effect to cause me to make a thorough scriptural investigation on the subject as well as the treaties by the most capable writers. This process resulted in an entire overthrow of my original opinions. I can discover no scriptural prohibition to this practice throughout either the old or new testament, and if not found there no church has the remotest authority to introduce such an inhibition as a rule: and further if we may judge from positive commands as well as the practice among the Jews, that the very contrary was not only the opinion but the practice during old testament times. Abraham married his half sister, Jacob had two sisters to wife at one time, and we may safely come to the conclusion that Ruth married her brother-in-law, and further see Deut. xxv, 5th, etc., where if one brother dies and leaves a widow, the surviving brother is commanded to go and marry his deceased brother's widow, and in the event of refusing to do so is subject to be insulted as well as punished for his neglect. This prohibition is simply a relic of Romanism, which a few straight laced protestants have never been able to shake off, as is the case with several other absurdities.

He was one of those who with a spec of genius, incessant and unwearied application, raised himself above the common level of his fellow men. Notwithstanding his laborious exertions his efforts proved unprofitable to him, in a pecuniary sense, by the publication of his numerous and various works, for he was a voluminous author; perhaps not less than thirty volumes including pamphlets, were produced by his brain and pen; among them eight or ten volumes of a commentary on the five books of Moses, Joshua, Judges, etc. He attempted to do the same thing for the book of Psalms, but never got beyond the first number, also an anonymous treatise on the priesthood which gave considerable offence to the thin-skinned and weak minded brethren and pharisees of the age. When I was about visiting Europe, he put letters into my hands addressed to the publishers of his books in England and Scotland, and requested that I should hand them in person to the gentlemen to whom they were addressed. I promised fidelity to his injunctions. After arriving in London I hunted up one of the publishers and presented him the letter. He requested me to be seated till he perused it; this being over he in substance said that the contents of the letter was from Dr. Bush, with a request for remuneration for the use of his books, couched in very courteous language. I regret exceedingly, continued he, that I have it not in my power to make him any compensation for republishing his works in England. I am reluctantly compelled to this course for the following reason, namely, every one has a legal right to republish in Great Britain, all foreign productions which are not protected by international copyright treaty. I knew that his writings were not protected here and so free to all to publish who pleased, and therefore the only protection I could procure, in the event of publishing them was cheapness, that is to say, get the books up at such a low rate as that none else would think it worth their while to come into competition. There is, however, a sad draw-back to this practice, the profits in the transactions are so trifling that it seems hardly worth while to be at the trouble of producing such books. For example I published his commentaries on the five books of Moses, Joshua and Judges, in one volume, double columns, 8vo, at two and sixpence sterling, while the American edition in eighteen volumes duodecimo sells for ten dollars. Thus you can perceive that I am left without power to afford Professor Bush any compensation. Were I to send him all the profits I made from the sale of his books he would look upon it as a mockery and as unworthy of acceptance. I heartily wish that international arrangements were such as to give protection to all foreign authors and his distant publisher. Had such been the case I could have afforded to have paid the professor a handsome sum for the use of his books in this country. The Scottish publisher returned me in substance a like answer.

In his latter years he joined the Swedenborg society of Christian professors. That amiable class of people esteemed him highly in life and still hold his memory in affectionate regards. At this transition a few of his former associates and collaborators of the uncharitable class, stigmatized him as an apostate or a monomaniac, but when it is taken into consideration that Swedenborg had such distinguished converts as the king of Sweden, Oberlin, Lavater, Kant, Coleridge, together with innumerable professors, landgraves, bishops and archbishops, all men having the opportunity of securing accurate information and forming correct judgments, it would seem but prudent in any one to be careful how they charge any one with apostasy. This was exactly what the Jews charged Saul of Tarsus with, because he had the courage to follow his own convictions. Dr. Bash was born in 1796, and educated at Dartmouth College. To such as desire to learn more about him and his writings, see Allibone's Dictionary of English Literature, vol. 1, pp. 309. Philadelphia, 1859. The best portrait of him will be found connected with his life, published in Boston, 1860. WESTERN MEMORABILIA.

- BUTLER, FREDERICK. Complete History of the United States of America, embracing the whole period from the Discovery of North America, down to the year 1820. 3 vols., 8vo, $4.50. Hartford, 1821
- BUTLER, WILLIAM ALLEN. Martin Van Buren, Lawyer, Statesman, and Man, 18mo, pp. 47, $1. New York, 1862
- BUTTERFIELD, CARLOS. United States and Mexico. Commerce, Trade, and Postal Facilities between the two countries, Statistics of Mexico. 8vo, pp. 297, large colored map, $3. New York, 1861
- BUXTON, THOMAS F. The African Slave Trade. 8vo, pp. 255, $2. Author's Autograph. London, 1839
- CABINET (The) Of Instruction, Literature, Amusement and Original Essays; with Extracts from new works. Wood cuts, 4 vols., missing vol. 4th, 8vo, half calf, $5. New York, 1829, 1831
- CALDWELL, DAVID. (Near sixty years pastor of the Churches of Buffalo and Alanance). A sketch of the life and character of. By Rev. E. W. Caruthers. 8vo, pp. 302, $2. Greensborough, N. C. 1842
- CALHOUN, JOHN C., The Works of, vols. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5. 8vo, cloth, $7.50. New York, 1853
- CALIFORNIA, Histoire Naturelle et Civile de la California. Enrichie de la Carte du Pays et des Mers adjacentes. Traduite de l'Anglais, par M. E. 3 vols., 12mo, calf, $10. Paris, 1767,
- CALLEN, JOHN F. Military Laws of the United States relating to the army, marine corps, volunteers, militia, and to bounty lands and pensions from the foundation of the government to the year 1858. 8vo, pp. 484, $5. Baltimore, 1858
- CALLANDER, JAMES THOMPSON. The Political Reporter or Proceedings of the Session of Congress from Nov. 3d, 1794, to March 3d, 1795, with an appendix. 8vo, uncut, pp. 245, vol. 1st. Philadelphia, 1795.
- CAMBRIDGE PLATFORM of Church Discipline, adopted 1680; also a Confession of Faith. 12mo, $1. Boston, 1850
- CAMPAIGNS. Narrative of the Campaigns of the British at Washington, Baltimore, and New Orleans, under Gens. Ross, Packingham, etc., in the years 1814, and 1815. By an Officer. 8vo, pp. 431, $3. Philadelphia, 1821
- CAMPBELL, J. L. Idaho; six months in the New Gold Diggings. The emigrant's guide overland. Itinerary of the routes, features of the country, Journal of Residence, &c. 8vo, pp. 521, wood-cuts, $2. Chicago, 1864
- CANALS. Laws of the State of New York in relation to the Erie and Champlain Canals, together with the Annual Reports of the Commissioners, and official History of those works. Maps, plates, 2 vols., royal 8vo, $5. Albany, 1825
- CAPE ANNE. The Landing at Cape Anne; or the Charter of the first permanent colony on the territory of the Massachusetts Company, now discovered and first published from the Original Manuscript with an inquiry into its authority and a history of the Colony 1624, '28, Roger Conant, Governor, by John Wingate Thornton. Map and plate, 8vo, pp. 96, $2.50. Boston, 1854
- CAREY'S American Atlas, containing Twelve maps, with a brief description of each State, and of Lawrence, 3d edition carefully improved. 8vo, uncut, in fine condition, pp. 119, $5. Philadelphia, 1806
- CAROLINA, Olden Times in. By an Octogenarian Lady of Charleston, S. C., 12mo, pp. 202, $2. Charleston, 1855

- CARPENTER, S. C. Select American Speeches, Forensic and Parliamentary. In the collection will be found those by Patrick Henry, Madison, Wilson, Harper, Gen. Hamilton, Fisher Ames, Randolph, Wirt, and others. 2 vols., Svo, boards, uncut, $5. Philadelphia, 1815
- CARROLL, ANNA ELLA. The Star of the West, or National Men and National Measures, with Portraits of Millard Fillmore, G. B. Locke, A. B. Ely, Erastus Brooks, N. Ramsay, Edward O. Perren, U. S. Levy, Ely Perry, Sidney Kopman, George D. Prentice. 12mo, pp. 450, $3. Boston, 1857
- CARROLL, JOHN (First Archbishop of Baltimore), Biographical Sketch of, with select portions of his writings, edited by J. C. Brent. Portrait, 12mo, cloth, $2. Baltimore, 1843
- CARVER, JOHN. Sketches of New England, or Manners of the Country. 12mo, half calf, $2. New York, 1842
- CASSIN, JOHN. Mammalogy and Ornithology. U. S. Exploring Expedition. 4to, cloth, with a Folio Atlas of 53 col'd plates, $\frac{1}{2}$ morocco, \$50. Phila., 1858
- CATALOGUS Bibliothecæ Harvardianæ Cantabrigæ Nova Anglorum. Svo, pp. 110 and 358, $2. Boston, 1790
- CENSUS. Compendium of the Enumeration of the Inhabitants and Statistics of the United States, as obtained at the Department of State, from the returns of the Sixth Census, by Counties and principal Towns. Population, Wealth, and Resources of the country, etc., etc. Folio, boards, $2. Washington, 1841
- CENSUS. The Seventh Census of the United States, 1850, embracing a statistical view of each of the States and Territories, arranged by Counties, Towns, etc., etc., by J. D. B. DeBow. Thick 4to, half russiæ, $2. Wash., 1853
- CENTRAL PARK. Report of the Special Committee on Parks relative to laying out a new Park in the upper part of the City; Map of the upper part of the Island. Svo, pp. about 50, $2. New York, 1852
- CENTRAL PARK, Reports of the Commissioners of, from the Commencement 1857 to 1867, both inclusive, 11 parts with one preliminary and supplementary Report, illustrated with numerous maps and engraved views. These annual publications are become very rare; so much so, that complete sets are unprocureable. New York, 1857-67
- CENTRAL PARK. Communications to the Commissioners of the Central Park relative to improvements, by A. H. Green. Svo, pp. 75, $2. New York, 1866
- CHALMERS, GEORGE. An introduction to the History of the Revolt of the American Colonies, being a comprehensive view of its origin, derived from the state papers, contained in the public offices of Great Britain. 2 vols. in 1, Svo, cloth, $5. Boston, 1845
- CHARLESTOWN, S. C. Census of the City of, for the year 1848, exhibiting the condition and prospects of the city, illustrated by many Statistical Details, by J. L. Dawson, H. W. DeSaussure. Svo, cloth, $2. Charlestown, 1849
- CHARLEVOIX FRANCES XAVIER. Histoire De L' Isle Espagnole ou de S. Domingue ecrite particulierement sur des Memoires Manuscrites du P. Jan Baptiste, le Pere Jesuite. 2 vols., 4to, many maps, fine copy, $10. Paris, 1731
- CHARLEVOIX, P. Francois Xavier de. Histoire Du Paraguay. 6 vols., 12mo, maps, $7.50. Paris, 1757
- CHASE, ELIZABETH. Miscellaneous Selections and Original Pieces in Prose and Verse. 12mo, pp. 228, $2. Sine loco, 1821.
The Author was sister to Samuel Chase of Maryland, one of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence.
- CHAUNCY, CHARLES. Seasonable Thoughts on the State of Religion in New England, a Treatise in five Parts, with a Preface giving an account of the Antinomians, Familists and Libertines, who infected these Churches, above an 100 years ago, &c. Svo, pp. 472, $3. Boston, 1743
- CHESTERFIELD, LORD. Letters written to his son, Philip Stanhope, together with his Lordship's Life, and an account of his son, some Poems and Maxims. 2 vols., 12mo, pp. 460, 620. Newport, R. I., 1779

- CHILD, L. MARIA. Letters from New York. 3d ed., 1st and 2d Series, 2 vols., 12mo, cloth, $3. New York, 1847
 In one of these volumes will be found a very interesting biographical sketch of McDonald Clarke, the so called Mad Poet. "I am not mad most discerning public but simply think for myself. This is the head and front of my madness."
- CHILD, SIR JOSIAH. A New Discourse of Trade wherein is recommended several weighty points relating to Companies of Merchants. The act of Navigation, Naturalization of Strangers and our Woolen Manufactures. The Balance of Trade, and the nature of Plantations, and their consequences in relation to the Kingdom, are seriously discussed. Methods for the employment and maintenance of the poor are proposed. The reduction of interest of money to £4. per centum is recommended. And some proposals for erecting a Court of Merchants for determining Controversies, relating to maritime affairs, and for a law for transference of Bills of Debts, are humbly offered. 12mo, pp. 280, $6. London, 1698
- CHITTENDEN, THOMAS. A Memoir of the first governor of Vermont, with a history of the constitution during his administration, by Daniel Chipman. 18mo, pp. 222. Middlebury, 1849
- CHOATE, RUFUS, The Works of, with a Memoir of his Life, by Samuel G. Brown. Portrait. 2 vols., 8vo, cloth, pp. 570, 527. Boston, 1862
 Choate was one of nature's nobles, he was as simple as a child, as candid as Nathaniel, and in intellect soared far beyond the most of his contemporaries.
- CHRISTIAN EXAMINER, and General Review, from vol. 22, 1837 to vol. 71, 1861. 50 vols., 8vo, half bound, uniform, fresh binding, a very desirable set, $62.50. Boston, 1837, '61
 The most scholarly and able review published in the United States. The best men of the country have been and are contributors to it.
- CHRISTIAN HISTORY, The, containing Accounts of the Revival and Propagation of Religion in Great Britain and America. For the year 1743. 8vo, calf, pp. 416. Boston, 1744
 This is the first attempt at publishing a Magazine in the British Colonies of North America. It is mainly devoted to the cause of propagating the gospel in both hemispheres. Amongst other things will be found an account of the revivals of religion at Kilsyth, Scotland, the Religion of the first settlers of New England, with its decay, also on propagating Religion in Rhode Island Colony, Revival of Religion in Newark, N. J., Northampton, and Portsmouth, New England, &c., &c.
- CHRISTIE, ROBERT. A History of the late province of Lower Canada, parliamentary and political, from the commencement to the close of its existence as a separate province. 6 vols., 12mo, cloth, $6. Montreal, 1866
- CLAIBORNE, NATHANIEL H. Notes on the War in the South; with Biographical Sketches of the Lives of Montgomery, Jackson, Sevier, Gover, Claiborne, and others. 12mo, pp. 112, $5. Richmond, Va., 1819
- CLARK, FREDERICK G. The Stone of Help; or our Five Years Review. A Discourse delivered in 23d Street Church, April 19, 1837. 18mo, pp. 53, $1. Printed for the use of the Congregation.
- CLARKSON, T. An Essay on the Impolicy of the African Slave Trade, to which is added an Oration, the necessity of establishing at Paris a Society to promote the Abolition of the Trade and Slavery of Negroes, by J. P. Brissot De Warville. 8vo, pp. 155, uncut, $2. Philadelphia, 1789
- CLAY, HENRY, Life and Times of, by Calvin Colton. 2 vols., 8vo, cloth, $3. New York, 1846
- CLAY, HENRY, The last seven years of the life of Henry Clay, by C. Colton. 8vo, cloth, pp. 504, $2. New York, 1856
- CLAY, HENRY, Life, Correspondence, and Speeches of, by Calvin Colton. 6 vols., 8vo, sheep, $15. New York, 1857
- CLAY, HENRY, Life and Speeches of, Compiled and Edited by Daniel Mallory, with valuable additions, etc., also various important letters not heretofore published. 2 vols., thick 8vo, portrait, half calf, neat, $5; cloth, $3. New York, 1857
- CLAY, HENRY, Report of the Committee of Arrangements of the Common Council of New York, of the Obsequies in Memory of. Portrait, and Engravings. 8vo, cloth, pp. 362, $2. New York, 1852

CLAY, HENRY, Life and Speeches of, by Greeley and McElrath, portrait and fac-simile Letter and View of his birth-place. 2 vols., 8vo, pp. 531, 591. New York, 1843

CLARKSON, THOMAS. A Portraiture of Quakerism, taken from a view of the Moral Education, Discipline, Peculiar Customs, Religious Principles, Political and Civil Economy and Character of the Society of Friends. 3 vols., 8vo, boards, uncut, $4. London, 1807

COAST SURVEY. Report of the Superintendent A. D. Bache. Maps, 8vo, pp. 22, $1. Washington, 1844

COBB, THOMAS, R. R. An Enquiry into the Laws of Negro Slavery in the United States to which are prefixed an Historical Sketch of Slavery. 8vo, pp. 586, vol. 1, all published, $5. Philadelphia, 1855

CODDINGTON, DAVID, Speeches and Addresses of, with a Biographical Sketch. Portrait, 8vo, pp. 177, $2.25. New York, 1866

Had the democracy imitated the practice and adopted the advice of this talented and patriotic citizen, they would not be in the condition that they are in and have been in for the last eight years. He was one of those men who never attained the position in public estimation which he richly deserved. All public men are either overruled or underestimated; he belonged to the latter class. He dared to deliver an eulogy on the virtues of Abraham Lincoln and supported the union cause with firmness and manliness.

COLBURN, ZERA, A Memoir of, written by himself, containing his first discovery of his remarkable powers; his travels in America and residence in Europe. With his peculiar method of calculation. 12mo, pp. 104. Full length portrait $1.25. Springfield, Mass., 1833

COLLECTION OF PAPERS. Interesting and Authentic, relative to the dispute between Great Britain and America; showing the causes and progress of that misunderstanding, from 1764 to 1775. 8vo, $10. London, 1779

This volume is a very essential adjunct to Almon's Remembrancer, which embodies all the public, confidential, as well as private papers in the possession of the British government, as well as that of the colonial authorities touching the American Revolution.

COLLIS, CHRISTOPHER. A Survey of Roads of the United States of America. In 80 sheets, 8vo size, $5. New York, 1789

COLLIS, CHRISTOPHER. Proposals of a Design for the Promotion of the Interests of the United States of America, extending its advantages to all ranks and conditions of men by means of inland navigable communication. With a map of part of the state of New Jersey, pointing out the course of an intended inland navigation between New York and Philadelphia, by Christopher Collis. 8vo, pp. 22, an extremely rare pamphlet, $5. New York, 1808

Collis has the merit of projecting the great Erie Canal, while De Witt Clinton snatched away the prize, and what is more unfortunate claimed and obtained the honor which has been wrongfully awarded him.

COLUMBIA. Historia de la revolucion de la republic de Columbia par Jose Manuel Restrepo. 11 tom., $10. Paris, 1837

COLUMBIAN ELOQUENCE. Being the Speeches of the most celebrated American orators as delivered in the late interesting trial of the Hon. Samuel Chase before the senate of the United States. 3 vols., 18mo, $5. Baltimore, 1806

COLUMBIAN MAGAZINE (The), and Monthly Miscellany, containing a view of the history, literature, manners, character of the people. Edited by E. Morris. 12 vols., 8vo, many plates, $75. Philadelphia, 1786, 1792

This was in all probability the first magazine published in the United States after the close of the revolution. It is illustrated with numerous plates representing local scenery, newly invented machines, the first Amer. coins, and Catalogues of Natural History. It was subsequently rebaptized and named the Universal Asylum and Columbian Magazine. It commenced being published September, 1786, and died June, 1792, numbering 12 vols., 8vo.

COLUMBUS. Della patria di Cristoforo Colombo Dissertazione pubblicata nelle memorie dell' accademia imperiale delle scienze di torino Ristampata con giunte, documenti, lettere diverse ed una dissertazione epistolare intorno all' autor del libro de imitatione Christi. 8vo, uncut, pp. 424, $3. Firenze, 1808

COLUMBUS. Coleccion de los Viajes y Descubrimientos, que Hicieron por mar los Espanoles desde fines del siglo XV, con varios documentos ineditos concernientes a la Historia de la Marina Castellana y de los establecimientos Espanoles en Indias, Coordinada e Ilustrada por don Martin Fernandez de Navarrete. 2 vols., folio, large paper, $16. Madrid, 1825

- COLUMBUS. Memorials of a Collection of Authentic Documents of the celebrated navigator, translated from the Spanish. 8vo, portrait, $4. London, 1823
- COMMON PRAYER, Book of, and administration of the Sacraments, &c., &c., of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in the U. S. of America. Together with the Psalter, and Psalms of David. 18mo, $3. Philadelphia, 1795.
- CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA. Public Laws of the Confederate States of America, passed at the first session of the first Congress, 1862, '3, and '4. Carefully collated with the originals at Richmond. Edited by J. M. Matthews. To be continued annually. 4to, $5. Richmond, 1862
- CONGRESSIONAL DEBATES. Register of Debates in Congress, comprising the leading debates and incidents of the second session of the 18th Congress; together with an appendix containing the most important State papers and public documents, to which the session has given birth; to which are added the laws enacted during the session, with a copious index to the whole. From Dec. 6th, 1824, to Oct. 6th, 1837. 29 vols., royal 8vo, sheep binding. Washington, 1825, &c.
- CONNECTICUT. Memoirs of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences. Vol. 1, part 1. 8vo, boards, uncut, $2. New Haven, 1810
- CONNECTICUT. Minutes of the General Association of Connecticut from June, 1835 to June, 1859, both inclusive, 24 parts or years, $5. Hartford, 1836-59
- CONNECTICUT, Contributions to the Ecclesiastical History of, prepared under the direction of the General Association, to commemorate the completion of 150 years since its first annual assembly. 8vo, boards, pp. 576, $5. New Haven, 1861
- CONTESTED ELECTIONS, Cases of, in Congress, from 1789 to 1834, inclusive. 8vo, pp. 1025, $4. Washington, 1824
- CONVENTION 1787. Secret Proceedings and Debates of the Convention assembled at Philadelphia in the year 1787, for the purpose of forming the Constitution of the United States of America from notes taken by the late Robert Yates, Chief Justice of New York, and copied by John Lansing, late Chancellor of that State, members of that Convention including: the Genuine Information laid before the Legislature of Maryland, by Luther Martin, attorney-general of that State and member of the same convention, also other Historical Documents, relative to the Federal Compact of the North American Union. 12mo, pp. 335, $3. Louisville, 1838
- CORNWALLIS. Correspondence of Charles, First Marquis Cornwallis. Edited with notes by Charles Ross. 3 vols., 8vo, cloth, portrait. One volume damaged on the cover, $6. London, 1859
- CORRESPONDENCE on the present relations between Great Britain and the United States of America. 8vo, pp. 153, $1.50. Boston, 1862
- COTTON. Introduction and early progress of the cotton manufacture in the United States. 12mo, pp. 108, $1.25. Boston, 1863
- COVELL, SAMUEL, Missionary to the Tuscarora Indians and province of Upper Canada, Memoirs of, including a history of the origin and progress of Missionary operations. To which is added a memoir of A. L. Covell. 2 vols. in one, pp. 164, 226, $3. Brandon, 1839
- CRANTZ, DAVID. History of Greenland, including an account of the Mission carried on by the United Brethren in that country. Translated from the German, with a continuation to the present time, illustrative notes and an appendix. Map and plates. 2 vols., 8vo, half calf, $10. London, 1820
- CRANTZ, DAVID. Another copy. Vol. 2 only, 8vo, boards, uncut, $1. London, 1820
- CRAYON, THE. A Journal devoted to the Graphic Arts, and the Literature related to them. 8 vols., 4to. Commenced January 3, 1855, ended July, 1861. New York, 1855, &c.
- CRESAP, CAPT. MICHAEL, A Biographical Sketch of the Life of, by John J. Jacob, from the Cumberland Edition of 1826, with Notes and Appendix for

Wm. Dodge. Pp. 158. Also, a Journal of Wayne's Campaign against the Northwestern Indians, in 1794, by Lieut. Boyer. Pp. 23, 4to, unbound and uncut, $5. Cincinnati, 1866

William Dodge, a citizen of Cincinnati, the queen city of the west, pleasantly situated on the banks of the Ohio river, whose slopes from end to end must soon become dotted with millions of human beings, was the publisher of this heretofore rare book. It is note-worthy that he was not a book publisher, nor a bookseller, but simply a hard-working mechanic, when he conceived the notion of publishing this, and other equally rare books, illustrating the early history and biography of the country. In doing so he dashed down among book publishers, book sellers and book buyers like a white crow among his jetty compeers. They were surprised at his temerity, but by no means displeased at the novel accession to their ranks. What other man in the United States, engrafted, brought up, and trained as he was, would have dared to have left the ranks which he apparently had been so immovably fixed, and taken to the republishing of old books, the sale of which would be doubtful and limited if even successful? To be sure, Lackington the mammoth bookseller, was a member of the same craft, but he was simply a bookseller, and not a publisher, till he became wealthy; thus ending where Dodge commenced. All who have seen his cheerful, smiling countenance, and experienced a hearty grasp of his muscular hand, will become prepossessed in his favor. Dr. Bell, in his famous Bridgewater treatise on the Mechanics of the Hand, before writing that book must have had a grasp of his hand, or some one equally powerful, or he certainly could not have written so eloquently and learnedly, on the use and power of this indispen-sable organ. A man is to be commended as well as admired who can strike out from the beaten tract he has been grounded in from his youth and upwards, it indicates mind as well as self-reliance, a combination of such qualities is in a great majority of cases the cause of success. Mr Dodge is a native of New England, a small and sterile spot situated on the eastern shores of the vast continent of North America hemmed in by the St. Lawrence gulf, a diminutive and uncongenial nook of territory which has produced more active and enterprising spirits, than the whole of the country besides. These hardy, self-relying men are to be found scattered over every state in the union as well as all over the world. Mr. Dodge has long resided in Cincinnati, so long as Paddy has said, that he has become a native. He has alternately been a mechanic, a musician, book-publisher, and a soldier. In the last capacity he served through the whole of the wars of the southern rebellion..... WESTERN MEMORABILIA.

CRISIS, THE, Containing XXVIII Numbers. 12mo, pp. 236.

London, printed, New York, reprinted, by John Anderson, at Beekman Slip.

M.D.C.C.LXXVI

The author of these Essays and Poems appears to have been a kind of a little Junius, having all his intense venom and somewhat coarser invective, but without his pungent abilities. The principal object of his attacks would appear to be Lords Bute, North and Mansfield, not forgetting George III. He anathematizes that trio, for their attempts at infringing upon the vested rights of Englishmen and their unwarranted and tyrannical attempts to govern the British American Colonies in violation of law and the British Constitution, thereby causing the colonies to resort to arms in defence of their sacred rights. He calls upon and urges the Americans to resist these minions of power, with an earnestness and a bitterness that sounds like infuriated rage. The following passage may be taken as a specimen. "Ye conspirators against the liberties of mankind at St. James's in St Stephen's Chapel, the House of Lords, or amongst the bench of Satanical bi-shops, you must surely think there is no God to judge, nor hell to receive you; or you could never be so far abandoned as to stain your hands, and consent to dye the plains of America with the innocent blood of her inhabitants." The volume must be of great rarity, as this is the only second copy that I have fallen in with in my researches, and they have been many and minute..... WESTERN MEMORABILIA.

CROSS, MRS. L. A. L. Portraiture and Pencilings of the late Mrs. L. A. L. Cross. By her husband. 12mo, pp. 352, $2. Nashville, Tenn., 1851

CULLUM, CAPT. GEO. W. Description of a system of military bridges, with India-rubber pontoons prepared for the use of the United States Army, 8vo, plates, $2. New York, 1849

CULLUM, GEORGE W. Register of the officers and graduates of the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., from March 16th, 1802 to January 1st, 1850. 12mo, pp. 303, $2. New York, 1850

CYNICK (The). By Growler Gruff, Esquire, aided by a confederacy of lettered dogs. 18mo, pp. 210, extremely rare, $5. Philadelphia, 1812

DAGUERREOTYPE (The). A Magazine of Foreign Literature and Science compiled chiefly from the periodical publications of England, France and Germany. 3 vols., royal 8vo, half sheep, $6. Boston, 1847-49

DAILY, CHARLES P. The Nature, Extent and History of the Judicature of the Surrogate's Court of the State of New York, 8vo, pp. 54, cloth, $3. N. Y., 1863

DALCHO, FREDERICK. Historical Account of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in South Carolina, from the first settlement of the province to the war of the revolution, and some account of the early civil history of Carolina never before published, &c., &c. 8vo, sheep, pp. 621, $3. Charleston, 1820

- DANKERS, JASPER, and PETER SLUYTER. Journal of a voyage to New York and a Tour in several of the American colonies, in 1679-80, translated from the original manuscript in Dutch by the Hon. Henry C. Murphy. Twelve maps and plates. 8vo, pp. 495, $5. Brooklyn, 1867
This forms the first volume of the Long Island Historical Society publications.
- DAVIS, ANDREW JACKSON. The Great Harmonia, being a philosophical revelation of the natural, spiritual, and celestial universe. The Physician, Teacher, Seer, and Reformer, 4 vols., 12mo, cloth, $6. New York, 1858
- DAVIS, JOHN. Travels in Louisiana and the Floridas, in the year 1802, giving a correct picture of these countries, from the French. 12mo, $1.50. New York, 1806
- DAVIS, JOHN. An Eulogy on General George Washington, pronounced at Boston on Wednesday, February 19th, 1800, before the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. 4to, pp. 24. Boston, 1800
- DAVIES, JOHN. The History of the Carribby Islands, viz: Barbadoes, St. Christopher's, St. Vincent's, Martinico, Dominico, Barbouthos, Monserat, Nevis, Antego, &c., in all 28, in two books, the first containing the natural, the second the moral history of the Islands. Illustrated with several pieces of sculpture representing the most considerable rareties therein described with a Carribbean vocabulary. Plates, $5. London, 1666
- DEACON GILES DISTILLERY, The Dreamer, or the true history of, and deacon Janes Brewery. Reported for the benefit of posterity. Wood-cuts, pamphlet, 8vo, pp. 24, $5. New York, 1846
- DEBATES. Resolutions and other Proceedings of the Convention of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, convened at Boston on the 9th of January 1748, and continued until the 7th of February following, for the purpose of assenting to and ratifying the constitution recommended by the Grand Federal Convention, together with the yea's and nay's on the decision of the Grand Question to which the Federal constitution is prefixed. 12mo, pp. 219, $2. Boston, 1778
- DEHON, THEODORE, D. D. Sermons on the Public Means of Grace, on the Fasts and Festivals of the Church, Scripture Characters, and various practical subjects. 2d American edition. 2 vols., 8vo, cloth, $5. New York, 1856
- DE L'ETAT, et du sort des Colonies des Ancens Peuples. Ouvrage dans lequel on trait du gouvernement des anciennes republiques, de leur droit public, etc., avec des observations sur les colonies des nations modernes etc., la conduit des Angloes en America. 8vo, $3.50. Philadelphia, 1779
- DEMOCRATIC REVIEW. Edited by Spencer H. Cone, illustrated with 29 portraits, 1856 to 1858. 2 vols. large and thick. 8vo, half bound in dark morocco, $5. New York, 1856-58
- DEVEREUX, RACHEL. Poetical Pieces, written on several occasions of unfortunate and unhappy Facts. To which is added an Essay on Masonry, and an Address to Spring. Also the Portrait of Masonry composed by brother Devereux. 8vo, uncut, unbound, pp. 29, $5. New York, 1803
- DEWES, JACOB. The Great Future of America and Africa, an Essay showing our whole duty to the black man, consistent with our own safety and glory. 8vo, pp. 236, $7.50. Philadelphia, 1851
- DEXTER, TIMOTHY. A Pickle for the Knowing Ones. Rude full length portrait, 12mo, pamphlet, $1.50. Newburyport, 1848
- DICKINSON, ANDREW. My First Visit to Europe; or Sketches of Society, Scenery, and Antiquities of England, Wales, Ireland, Scotland and France. Fifth Edition, 12mo, pp. 214, 75cts. New York, 1856
- DICKINSON, DANIEL S. Speeches, Correspondence, etc., of, Edited with a Biography, by his brother John R. Dickinson. 2 vols., 8vo, cloth, $6. New York, 1867
- DICKINSON, JOHN, The political writings of, late president of state of Delaware, and of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania. 2 vols., 8vo. Wilmington, 1801

Dickinson was one of the most efficient promoters of the American revolution. His letters signed Fabius were written and published to stimulate the public mind to acquiesce in and adopt the Federal Constitution. They consequently form an appropriate pendant to the Federalist. In his political opinions he was a consistent advocate of a republican form of government, and in his religious dogmas and practices, was a disciple of George Fox, and Wm. Penn. He was born in Maryland, December, 1732, and died in Philadelphia, February 15, 1808.

DICKSON, A. F. Plantation Sermons, or plain and familiar discourses for the instruction of the unlearned. 32mo, pp. 170, $1. Phila., 1856

DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENCE (The), on the American Revolution, edited by Jared Sparks. 12 vols., 8vo, $24. Boston, 1829

DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENCE of the United States Government, or papers relating to Foreign Affairs accompanying the Annual Message of the President, to both Houses of Congress for the year 1864. 4 vols., 8vo. Wash., 1865

DODD, WILLIAM. Thoughts in Prison; in five parts, viz: the Imprisonment, Retrospect, Public Punishment, The Trial, Futurity; to which are added, his Last Prayer, written in the night before his death, and other miscellaneous pieces. 8vo, pp. 232. Boston, 1772

DOUGLAS, STEPHEN ARNOLD. A Voter's Version of the life and character of, by Robert B. Warden. 12mo, pp. 131, $1.00. Columbus, 1860

DOW, JR. Short Patent Sermons. 3 vols., 12mo, paper, $4. New York, 1850

DOWNING, MAJOR JACK, of Downingsville, away Down East in the State of Maine, The Life and Writings of, written by himself. 2d edition. Woodcuts, 12mo, pp. 260. Boston, 1834

DOWNING, MAJOR JACK. Letters of. 18mo, pp. 367. New York, 1834

It is not generally known that two different authors assumed the name of Jack Downing, but such is the fact. The one, Seba Smith, the other a Mr. Davies, the former a down-easter, the latter a Knickerbocker.

DRAKE, CHARLES D. Union and Anti-Slavery Speeches, delivered during the Rebellion. 12mo, cloth, $3. Cincinnati, 1864

DRANE, R. B. Historical Notices of St. James Parish, Wilmington, North Carolina. 18mo, pp. 36, $1. Phila., 1843

DUANE, W. J. The Law of Nations, investigated in a popular manner, addressed to the Farmers of the U. S. 8vo, pp. 108, no cover, $1. Phila., 1809

DUCHE, JACOB. Discourses on various Subjects. 2 vols., 8vo, calf, $5. London, 1779

DUFFIELD, JOHN T. The Princeton Pulpit, a collection of sermons preached there by eminent divines. 8vo, pp. 326. New York, 1852

DUFFIELD, JOHN T. A Discourse delivered at the opening of the Synod of New Jersey, in the first Presbyterian church of Elizabeth, N. J., October 16, 1866, with notes and an appendix. 12mo, pp. 64. Phila., 1866

DURAND, JAMES R. The Life and Adventures of, during a period of fifteen years, from 1801 to 1816, in which time he was impressed on board of the British fleet, and held in detestable bondage for more than seven years. 12mo, pp. 129, $6. Rochester, N. Y., 1820

DUTCH CHURCH. Magazine of the Reformed Dutch Church for 1827, '28, '29, '30. 4 vols., 8vo, half calf. New York, 1827,-30

DUYCKINCK, EVERT A. National Portrait Gallery of eminent Americans, including orators, statesmen, naval and military heroes, jurists, authors, etc., etc., from original full length paintings by Alonzo Chappel, with biographical and historical narratives. 2 vols., 4to, pp. 492, 470, 119 portraits, $12. New York, 1862

ECCLESIASTICAL LAW, A new phase in, and Presbyterian Church Government, as recently administered in the session of the Madison Square Church, and in the Fourth Presbytery of New York, being also an Explanation and Appeal to members of said church. 8vo, pp. 62 $1.50. New York, 1863

EDINBURGH REVIEW, or Critical Journal. 11th edition, from vol. 1, 1802, to vol. 55, 1832, with an Index to the first 20 vols., 56 vols. 8vo, half calf, in good condition, $56. Edinb., 1821-42

- EDUCATION, American Annals of, and Instruction, being a continuation of the American Journal of Education, edited by W. C. Woodbridge. From 1831 to 1836, both inclusive. 7 vols., 8vo, boards, $14. Boston, 1831-36
- EDWARDS, CHARLES. Feathers from my own Wings, a collection of Essays in Prose and Poetry, namely: Tecumseh, Use of Rings, the Widow's Son, the Indians, and others. 12mo, pp. 200, $2. New York, 1823
- EDWARDS, JONATHAN, Two Dissertations by; First, concerning the End for which God created the World. Second, the Nature of True Virtue, 296. Boston, 1765. Thomas Chap's Essay on Moral Virtue, and Obligation, pp. 66. N. Haven, 1765. Samuel Hopkins' two discourses; on the Necessity of the knowledge of the Grace of God. Second, On Being Born Again, pp. 65. Bat., 1768. The three bound in one vol., 12mo, $5. v. d.
- ELDER, WILLIAM. The Genius of Ecclesiastical Freedom, comprising the declaration of Divine Order, made by the first convention of the new church in Union Co., Indiana, also an exposition of the order of Divine Order. 12mo, $2. Cincinnati, 1843
- ELLIOT, JOHN. The Life of the First Missionary to the Indians in North America, by Cotton Mather. 18mo, pp. 112. London, 1820
- ELLET, ELIZABETH F. The Women of the American Revolution. 3 vols., 12mo, cloth, seven portraits, $6. New York, 1853
- ELLCOTT, ANDREW, The Journal of, for determining the boundary between the United States, and the possessions of his Catholic majesty in America. Remarks on the situation, soil, rivers, natural productions and diseases of the different countries on the Ohio, Mississippi, and Gulf of Mexico, &c., &c. Maps 4to, calf $6 Philadelphia, 1803
- ELLIOT, JOHN. The Medical Pocket-Book for those who are and for all who wish to be, physicians, containing a short but plain account of the symptoms, causes and methods of cure, of the diseases incidents to the human body, &c., &c. 8vo, pp. 74, $5. Philadelphia, 1784
- ELLIOT, JONATHAN. The American Diplomatic Code, embracing a collection of treaties and conventions between the United States and foreign powers from 1778 to 1834, with an abstract of important judicial decisions, on points connected with our foreign relations, also a concise diplomatic manual containing a summary of the law of nations, from the works of Wicquefort, Vattel, Martens, Ward, Kent, Story, &c., &c., and other diplomatic writings on questions of international law. 2 vols., 8vo, $12. Washington, 1834
- ELLIOT, JONATHAN. The Funding System of the United States and of Great Britain with some tabular facts of other nations touching the same subject, pp. xxiv, 1299, $5. Washington, 1845
- ELLSWORTH, H. W. Valley of the Upper Wabash, Indiana, with hints on its agricultural advantages. Plan of a dwelling, estimates of cultivation and notices of labor-saving machines. Map, and plates, 12mo, $1.50. N. Y., 1838
- EMIGRATION. Annual Reports of the Commissioners of Emigration of the state of New York, from the organization of the Commission, May 5, 1847 to 1860 inclusive, with Reports, etc. 8vo, pp. 499, $3. New York, 1861
- EMMONS, NATHANIEL (One of the Old New England Divines). His Works collected and edited by Jacob Ide. Portrait, 7 vols., 8vo, sheep, $10. Boston, 1842
- EMORY, W. H. Notes of a Military reconnoissance from Fort Leavenworth, in Missouri, to San Diego, in California, including part of the Arkansas, Del Norte, and Gila rivers. 61 plates and 5 maps, 8vo, cloth, pp. 614, $3. Washington, 1848
- EMPORIUM of Arts and Sciences, edited by John Redman Cox and Thomas Cooper. Numerous mechanical plates and portraits. 4 vols., 8vo, half bound, in good order, $6. Philadelphia, 1812, 1813
- ENGLAND, JOHN (Roman Catholic Bishop of Charleston, S. C.). A Discourse preached in the Hall of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, Jan. 8, 1820. 2d edition, 8vo, pp. 50. Charleston, S. C., 1832

- ENGLISH, G. B. Five Pebbles from the Brook ; being a reply to a defense of Christianity. Written by Edward Everett, etc. 12mo, boards, $1.25
Philadelphia, 1824
- EPISCOPAL CHURCH OF NEW YORK. Journals of the Conventions of said Diocese, from 1829 to 1856, both inclusive. Bound in 4 vols., 8vo, $20.
New York, 1829-56
- ESSAYS on Various Subjects of Taste, Morals, and National Policy. By a citizen of Virginia. 8vo. $1.50.
Georgetown, 1822
- ESSEX INSTITUTE, Proceedings of the, 1848 to 1863. 3 vols., 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.
Salem, 1856-64
- EUROPEAN Life and Landscape. By an Artist. 8vo, cloth, gilt edges, $2.
Philadelphia, 1859
- EVERETT, EDWARD. Orations and Speeches on various occasions. 3 vols., 8vo, cloth, portrait, $8.
Boston, 1853-59
All who have risen to notoriety among their fellow men, have either been overrated or underrated. The Boston Demosthenes will find a niche among the former class.
- EVERETT, EDWARD. Eulogy on Thomas Dowse of Cambridgeport, pronounced before the Massachusetts Historical Society, 9th December, 1858. With an introduction by R. C. Winthrop. 8vo, pp. 82, $1.50. Boston, 1859
- EVERGREEN (The). A Repository of Religious, Literary and Entertaining Knowledge for Families. Plates, 3 vols., royal 8vo, cloth, $6.00.
New York, 1850, etc.
This interesting periodical gives a short history of a number of the Protestant Episcopal Churches of the city of New York, besides elegant engraved views of eight of the principal ones, with other engravings.
- EVERSHAW, MARY. Five Years in Pennsylvania. 12mo, cloth, pp. 227, $2.
London, 1840
- EXHIBITION, 1853. Official Catalogue of the New York Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations, 1853. Jury. Interleaved with blank paper. 12mo, $1.
New York, 1853
- EYE (The). (A Periodical) by Obadiah Optic. Vol. 1, 12mo, pp. 316, $2.
Philadelphia, 1808
- FAIRFIELD, JANE. The Life of Summer Lincoln Fairfield, Esq. 12mo, portrait, $1.
New York, 1846
- FELTMAN, WILLIAM, The Journal of Lieut., of the First Pennsylvania Regiment, 1781-82, including the march into Virginia and the siege of Yorktown. 8vo, boards, uncut, pp. 48, $2.
Philadelphia, For the Pennsylvania Historical Society, 1853
- FERRIS, ISAAC. Semi-Centennial Memorial Discourse of the New York Sunday School Union, delivered on the 25th of February, 1866, in the R. D. Church, 29th St. and 5th Av. 12mo, pp. 120, $2.
New York, 1866
- FINDLEY, WILLIAM. Observations on "The Two Sons of Oil," containing a Vindication of the American Constitutions, and defending the blessings of Religious Liberty and Toleration, against the illiberal strictures of the Rev. S. B. Wylie. 12mo, pp. 366, $2.
Pittsburgh, 1812
- FISHERIES. Report on the Principal Fisheries of American Seas, by Lorenzo Sabine. 8vo, pp. 317, $5.
Washington, 1853
- FISHER'S RIVER (North Carolina). Scenes and Characters, by "Skitt," "who was raised thar." Illustrated by John M'Lenan. 12mo, pp. 269.
New York, 1859
- FLINT, TIMOTHY. A Condensed Geography and History of the Western States, or the Mississippi Valley. 2 vols., 8vo, half calf, $5. Cincinnati, 1828
- FLORIDA ; Ensayo Cronologico, Para La Historia General De La Florida, desde el ano de 1512. Que descubrió la Florida, Juan Ponce de Leon, hasta, el de 1722. Folio, pp. 422, $5.
Madrid, 1723
- FOOTE, W. H. Sketches of Virginia, Historical and Biographical. Second Series. 8vo, cloth, $3.50.
Philadelphia, 1855

- FORESTERS (The), an American Tale ; being a Sequel to John Bull the Clothier. Second edition, revised and considerably enlarged. 18mo, pp. 240, $5. Boston, Printed by Isaiah Thomas, 1796
- FORREST, EDWIN. The Replies from England, etc., to Certain Statements circulated in the country respecting Mr. Macready. Svo, pp. 21. New York, Stringer & Townsend, 1849
- FORSTER, JOHN R. History of the Voyages and Discoveries made in the North, translated from the German. Map, Svo, boards, $3. Dublin, 1786
- FORT PILLOW MASSACRE, Report of the Joint Committee on, plates representing the doleful Condition of the Emaciated and Dying Prisoners. Svo, pp. 162, $1.25. Washington, 1864
- FOWLER, REGINALD, Hither and Thither ; or Sketches of Travels on both sides of the Atlantic. Svo, cloth, $2. London, 1854
- FOX, GEORGE. A Journal, or Historical Account of the Life, Travels, Sufferings, Christian Experiences, and Labor of Love in the Work of the Ministry. 5th edition, 2 vols., Svo, sheep, $4. Philadelphia, 1808
- FOX, GEORGE, Journal of, being an Historical Account of the Life, Travels, Sufferings, Christian Experiences, and Labor of Love in the Work of the Ministry, of that eminent and faithful servant of Jesus Christ, who departed this life, Nov. 13, 1690. 7th edition, with notes, etc., by W. Armistead. 2 vols., 12mo, cloth, $4. London, 1852
- FRANCIS, JOHN W. Old New York, or Reminiscences of the past sixty years. Being an enlarged and revised edition of the Anniversary Discourse delivered before the N. Y. Historical Society, 1857. 12mo, pp. 384, $2. New York, 1858
- FRANCIS, S. W. Biographical Sketches of seventeen distinguished living New York Surgeons. Portrait of Dr. Valentine Mott. 12mo, cloth, $1.25. New York, 1866
- FRANCIS, VALENTINE M. A Treatise on Hospital Hygiene, for the degree of Doctor of Medicine in the University of New York. Portraits of Dr. V. Mott, J. W. Francis, and J. W. Francis, Jr. Svo, cloth, $1.50. New York, 1859
- FRANKLIN, B. M. T. Cicero's Cato Major, or Discourse on Old Age. Addressed to Titus Pomponius Atticus, with explanatory notes. Portrait of Dr. Franklin. Svo, half calf, $3. London, 1778
- FRANKLIN, BENJAMIN, Works of, containing several Political and Historical Tracts, not included in any former edition, and many letters, official and private, not hitherto published. With notes and a Life of the Author, by Jared Sparks. Portrait, 10 vols., Svo, cloth, $20. Boston, 1860
- FREE ENQUIRER, The. Second Series, edited by Francis Wright, Robert Dale Owen, and Robert L. Jennings. From Oct. 29, 1828 to Oct. 20, 1832. 4 vols. bound in 2, 4to, $8. New York, 1829-32
- FREEMAN, SAMUEL. The Emigrant's Hand Book, and Guide to Wisconsin, comprising information respecting Agricultural and Manufacturing Employment, wages, climate, etc., Sketch of Milwaukee, its rise and progress, etc., etc. Svo, $1.50. Milwaukee, 1851
- FULTON, ROBERT. A Treatise on the Improvement of Canal Navigation : Exhibiting the numerous advantages to be derived from Small Canals, with a description of the machinery for facilitating conveyance by water through the most mountainous countries, independent of Locks and Aqueducts. With thoughts on, and designs for, Aqueducts and Bridges of Iron and Wood. Illustrated with 17 plates. 4to, portrait, pp. 160, $25. London, 1796
- FULTON, ROBERT, The Life of, by his friend, C. Colden. Portrait, Svo, calf, $3. New York, 1817
- FURMAN, GARRIT. The Maspeth Poems : (otherwise Long Island). Portrait and six fine steel engravings. Miniature 4to, pp. 128, fine clean copy, $5.75. New York, 1837
- FURMAN, WOOD. History of the Charleston Association of Baptist Churches in the state of South Carolina, with an appendix, &c. 12mo, $1.50. Charleston, 1811

- FUTURE, Anticipations of the, to serve as lessons for the present time, in the form of Extracts of Letters from an English Resident in the United States to the London Times, from 1864 to 1870, with an appendix, on the causes and consequences of the independence of the South. 12mo, cloth, pp. 425, $2.
Richmond, Va., 1860
- GALLAHER, JAMES. The Western Sketch-Book. 12mo, pp. 408, $2.
Boston, 1850
- GALLATIN, ALBERT. Considerations on the Currency and Banking System of the United States. 8vo, pp. 108, $1.
Philadelphia, 1831
- GALLATIN, ALBERT. A Sketch of the Finances of the United States, pp. 202, New York, 1796. Also Report of the Secretary of the Treasury, 1785, Gen. Hamilton. In 1 vol., 8vo, $5. New York, and Washington, 1795
- GALLATIN, ALBERT. A sketch of the Finances of the United States. 8vo, pp. 205, $2. New York, 1796
- GANO, JOHN. Biographical Memoir of, Frankford Kentucky formerly of the city of New York. 12mo, pp. 151. New York, 1806
- GARDEN OF THE SOUL, or Manual of Spiritual Exercise and Instruction (Roman Catholic). 18mo, Matthew Carey, 118 Market Street, April 23d, $2. Philadelphia, 1792
Curious as well as interesting as being one of Carey's early publications.
- GARDENER'S CALENDAR, (The), for North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, by Robert Squibb, with amendments and additions. 12mo, pp. 170, $1.50. Charlestown, 1809
- GARRARD, LEWIS H. Chambersburg in the Colony and the Revolution. A Sketch. 8vo, cloth, $2. Phila., 1856
- GATES, T. K. A Measuring Reed, to separate between the precious and the vile. In two parts. 18mo, $2. Phila., 1815
- GENIUS OF UNIVERSAL EMANCIPATION. A Monthly Periodical, Work containing Original Essays, Documents and Facts relative to the subject of African Slavery, edited by Benjamin Lundy, portrait of Elisha Tyson. 8vo, pp. about 500, $2. Baltimore, 1830-31
- GEOLOGICAL REPORTS, MEXICO. Reports of the Mexican Pacific Coal and Iron Mining Company's Exploring Expedition to the States of Guerrero and Michoacan, Republic of Mexico, 1856-7. Twelve maps. 8vo, pp. 171. Privately printed, $10. New York, 1858
- GEOLOGY. Railroad to the Pacific, Northern Route. Its general character, relative merits, by Edwin E. Johnson. Second edition, 8vo, pp. 176, map and plate, $5. New York, 1854
- GEOLOGY. Report of a Geological Exploration of part of Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois, by David Dale Owen. Many maps and geological plates. 8vo, pp. 161, $3., unbound. Wash., 1840
- GEOLOGY. The American Mining Gazette and Geological Magazine, 7 Nos., 1854-5-6, $2.50. New York, 1864
- GEOLOGY. Report of the Geology of the State of Connecticut, by James G. Percival. Map, 8vo, pp. 495, $6. New Haven, 1842
- GEOLOGY. Cannellton, Perry County, Ind., at the intersection of the Eastern Margin of the Illinois Coal Basin, by the Ohio River; its natural advantages as a site for manufacturing. 8vo, pp. 108. Louisville, 1850
- GEOLOGY. Mineral Resources of the States and Territories, west of the Rocky Mountains, by J. Ross Brown. 8vo, pp. 646, $5. Washington, 1868
- GEOLOGY. Report of the Geology and Topography of a portion of the Lake Superior Land District in the State of Michigan, by J. W. Foster and J. D. Whitney. 3 vols., 8vo, one an Atlas with several maps and plates, $10.50. Wash., 1850-51
- GEOLOGY. Report upon the Mineral Resources of the States and Territories west of the Rocky Mountains. 8vo, pp. 321, $4. Washington, 1867

- GIBBS, GEORGE. Memoirs of the Administration of Washington and John Adams, edited from the papers of Oliver Woolcott. 2 vols., 8vo, pp. 563, 590, portrait, $5. New York, 1840
- GIFFORD, WILLIAM. The Baviad and Maviad, a Political Satire with epistle to Peter Pinder and the proceedings of the trial of R. Faulder, bookseller, for selling the Baviad for publishing a libel on John Williams Alie. Anthony Pasquene Cobbett wrote the American preface. 2 vols., 12mo, half calf, $5. New York, 1800
- GILLESS, J. M. Astronomical Observations made at Washington, under directions of the Secretary of the Navy. 8vo, unbound, uncut, $2. Wash., 1845
- GIRARD COLLEGE, and its Founder, containing the biography of Mr. Girard, history of the institution, its organization, &c., &c., and the will of Mr Girard, by H. W. Arey. 12mo, portrait and plate, $1.50. Philadelphia, 1865
- GIRARD, STEPHEN, the Will of the late, procured from the office for the probate of wills, with a short biography of his life. 8vo, pp. 36, $1. Philadelphia, 1832
- GISBORNE, LIONEL. The Isthmus of Darien in 1852. Journal of the Expedition of Inquiry for the Junction of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. With 4 Maps, 12mo. pp. 238. New York, 1853
- GOBRIGHT, J. C. The New York Sketch Book, and Merchant's Guide, being a reliable directory for visiting merchants, &c., trade, manufacture and the mechanic arts. 12mo, pr. cover, $1.50. New York, 1858
- GODMAN, JOHN D. American Natural History, many fine plates. 3 vols., 8vo, boards uncut, $6. Philadelphia, 1826
- GORDON, WILLIAM. The History of the Rise, Progress and Establishment of the Independence of the United States of America. Third American edition, 3 vols., 8vo, sheep, $6. New York, 1801
- GORDON. A poor copy, not uniform. 3 vols., 8vo, $3.50. New York, 1801
Gordon's history has the reputation of being the best and most authentic history of the struggle for American Independence.
- GOSPEL (The), of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, according to Saint Matthew, translated into the Mohawk language by A. Hill and continued by J. N. Wilkes, Jr., Grand river, Upper Canada, (English and Mohawk). 12mo, pp. 197, New York, 1831
- GOTHAM AND THE GOTHAMITES. A medley ; a poetical satire on the leading characters of New York, written by Mr. Judah, 18mo, pp. 93. N. Y., 1823
For an account of the author see introduction to the prices of John Allan collection. His copy sold for $5.
- GOULD, JOHN W. Private Journal of a Voyage from New York to Rio de Janeiro, together with a brief sketch of his life and his occasional writings. Privately printed. 8vo, pp. 207, map, $5. New York, 1839
- GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES. An Exposition of the Weakness and Inefficiency of the Government of the United States of North America. 12mo, pp. 380. Privately printed for the Author, $5. Sine loco, 1884
This book, like the notorious letter of Junius, on the Whole Duty of Man, or any other anonymous work which has risen into reputation, the authorship of this book has been attributed to legions, among them, a Mr. Mercier of Virginia, Chancellor Bebb of Kentucky, John Quincy Adams, &c., &c. Rare book. It was reproduced in London during the war of the Rebellion to aid the secession cause.
- GRAFFIGNY. Letter of a Peruvian Princess, translated from the French, with the Sequel taken from a Spanish Manuscript. New edition, French and English. 2 vols., 8vo, portrait and plates, $2.50. Paris, 1807
- GRAHAM, REV. DAVID. The Pioneer, consisting of Essays, Literary, Moral, and Theological. 8vo, pp. 301. Pittsburg, 1812
- GRAY, ASA. Botany. Phanerogamia, U. S., Exploring Expedition. 4to, with a Folio Atlas of 100 plates. 2 vols., half morocco, $60. New York, 1854
- GRAY, BARRY AND JOHN SAVAGE. Ale, in Prose and Verse, with numerous Illustrations, privately printed. Royal 8vo, pp. 97. New York, 1866
- GREELEY, HORACE. History of the Struggle for Slavery Extension or Restriction in the United States, from the Declaration of Independence to the present day, etc., etc. 8vo, cloth, $1.50. New York, 1856

GREEN, J. H. Twelve Days in the Tombs ; or, A Sketch of the Last Eight Years of the Reformed Gambler's Life. 12mo, pp. 240, $2. New York, 1850

GREEN HAND's First Cruise (A). Roughed out from the log-book of memory of 25 years standing, with Residence of five months in Dartmoor, by A. Younker. 2 vols., 12mo, cloth, $2.50. Boston, 1841

GREEN MOUNTAIN SPRING. Devoted to Discussions and Information concerning the popular and medical use of Water ; to a report of Water-cure treatment ; to the nurture and education of children ; to Diet and Health. Royal 8vo, pp. 500, $3. Brattleboro, Vt., 1846

GREENE, ALBERT G., Catalogue of the Private Library of. Sold in the city of New York, by auction, March 29th, and the following days. 8vo, pp. 521, unbound, nncut, $2. New York, 1869

The peculiarities of this collection were three-fold. First, it embraced an unparalleled assemblage of pamphlets chiefly relating to America, touching upon innumerable topics. Second, the vast mass of volumes, the production of American poets and rhyesters, was doubtless unique, taking up not less than eighteen hundred and fifteen numbers in the catalogue, in all about three thousand volumes of poetry. Who could have supposed that America could have produced so much poetry during her short existence? Third, the prodigious congregation of dirty second hand hymn books, which seemed rather surprising that such a collector of surroundings should have fancied to fill his shelves with such worthless literature. A collection of all and every hymn book is a very proper and appropriate adjunct to every public library, but to put them into a private collection is like choking an elegantly furnished parlor with a quantity of broken and dilapidated furniture, filling up space, and so obscuring the useful and ornamental pieces. The catalogue is elaborately, but not judiciously made out. Many books are announced as scarce, with an expensive note appended, while the contrary is the fact, every dealer and collector knowing it to be so. Many are catalogued in expensive style which did not bring more than five cents, leaving the owner minus three hundred per cent. In the collection not less than one thousand, or perhaps fifteen hundred, ought to have been sold in lots of from twenty to fifty each. Mr. Joseph Sabin should have been the compiler. His wonderful knowledge of books, their various editions, whether rare or plentiful, here or elsewhere, their market value, and divers other peculiarities render him eminently fitted for such an undertaking. The executors would have saved money by having engaged his services. The catalogue will always possess an interest to American collectors, more especially on account of the three features heretofore mentioned. The sum total realized for the library was about $8,000. Had the judge been a more liberal buyer, his books to-day would many of them have realized ten times the cost. He seemed to think a rise in the price of any book was preposterous ; and such a conviction prevented him from making many valuable acquisitions. If I remember aright, I once offered him Proud's History of Pennsylvania, 2 vols., 8vo, boards, nncut, for $3. He declined to purchase it on account of the price being too high. Such a copy of that book at his sale would have brought $20, or perhaps more. I sold Judge Furman many books which brought at the sale of his library five, six, and seven times the price he paid for them. For example, Smith's History of New Jersey, $2, sold for $30. Denton's New York, $5, sold for $35. Simple Cobler of Aggawam, original edition, $8, sold for $45 ; and many others sold at equally advanced prices. Respecting the prices realized, they were very erratic. Early American literature and trifles sold at very high prices. Buckus' History of New England, 3 vols., 8vo, sold for $75. Dring's Account of the Jersey Prison Ships, a small volume, not bigger than Webster's Spelling Book, $23. Weemes' Life of Washington, a pamphlet, $3, while Gen. McClellan's Report on European Military Affairs, a quarto volume, with expensive diagrams, sold for twelve and a half cents. A Mr. Miller's (a Scottish divine), Works, 6 vols., 12mo, well bound, for seventy-five cents, etc., etc. The standard literature sold at rather moderate figures, perhaps not more than one-half the original cost, while the indifferent portion brought the veriest dregs of prices. The attendance during the sale was but slim, never rising over twenty-five, and sometimes not half that number. Such a sale thirty years ago would have called the whole of the book hunters in the city, such as was the case during the sale of Dr. John M. Mason's library. The room on that occasion was nightly thronged to excess by the best men of New York. His collection cost him twenty thousand dollars and realized but eight thousand. A pretty round figure to pay for the use of books. It is perhaps not generally known that Judge Greene was the author of that famous American ballad, entitled Old Grimes is Dead that Good Old Man.

GREENHOW, ROBERT. Memoir, Historical and Political, on the Northwest Coast of North America, and the adjacent Territories ; Illustrated by a map and a geographical view of those countries. 8vo, pp. 228, $2.50.

Washington, 1840

GREENLEAF, MOSES. A Survey of the State of Maine, in reference to its Geographical Features, Statistics and Political Economy, illustrated with maps. 8vo, pp. 468 and a folio vol. of maps, $6.00. Portland, 1829

GREW, HENRY. Examination of the Divine Testimony concerning the Character of the Son of God. 12mo, $1. Hartford, 1824

GRIFFITH, WILLIAM. Historical Notes of the American Colonies and Revolution, from 1754 to 1775. 8vo, pp. 300, $3. Burlington, N. J., 1843

Burlington, N. J., 1843

- GRIM, CHARLES FREDERIC. An Essay towards an Improved Register of Deeds, City and County of New York, to December 31, 1799, inclusive. 8vo, pp. 371, $25. New York, 1832
- GUENEBAULT, J. H. Natural History of the Negro Race. Extracted from the French. 12mo, pp. 176, $3. Charlestown, S. C., 1837
- GUNEY, WILLIAM. The History of Episcopacy, in four parts, from its rise to the present day. 12mo, pp. 391. Sine loco, sine anno
- GUNN, THOMAS B. Physiology of New York Boarding-houses, very grotesque Illustrations on Wood. 12mo, cloth, $2. New York, 1857
- HAGEN, JOHN C. Footprints of Truth, or Voice of Humanity, with illustrations by F. A. Chapman, J. Cranch, and W. Walcutt. Engraved on steel by J. C. McRae. 8vo, cloth, binding loose, $5. New York, 1853
- HAKLUYT SOCIETY. Select Letters of Christopher Columbus, with other Original Documents relating to his Voyages to the New World. 8vo, pp. 311, $5. London, 1847
- HAKLUYT SOCIETY. Memorials of the Empire of Japan, in the XVth and XVIth centuries. Map and Two fac simile Letters. 8vo, pp. 224, $3. London, 1850
- HAKLUYT SOCIETY. Notes upon Russia; being a translation of the earliest account of that country, entitled Rerum Moscoviticarum Commentarii by Baron S. Von Herberstein. Translated with Notes and an Introduction by R. H. Major. 2 vols., 8vo, cloth, portraits and maps, $5. London, 1851
- HAKLUYT SOCIETY. A True Description of Three Voyages by the Northeast towards Cathay and China, by G. De Veer, translated from the Dutch, maps and plates, 8vo, pp. 433, $3.50. London, 1853
- HAKLUYT SOCIETY. Middleton, Sir Henry. Voyage to Raritan and the Maluco Islands. From the edition of 1606. Plates and map, 8vo, pp. 154, $2.50. London, 1856
- HAKLUYT SOCIETY. Early Voyages to Terra Australia, now called Australia, Edited, with an Introduction by, R. H. Major. Maps, 8vo, pp. 319, $3. London, 1859
- HAKLUYT SOCIETY. Narrative of a Voyage to the West Indies and Mexico, in the years 1509, and 1602, with maps and illustrations, by Samuel Champlain. Translated by A. Wilmer. 8vo, pp. 148, $4. London, 1859
- HALE, CAPT. NATHAN, Life of, the Martyr-Spy of the American Revolution. By J. W. Stuart, with illustrations. 12mo, pp. 283, $3. Hartford, 1856
- HALE, MRS. SARAH J. Sketches of American Character. 18mo, pp. 287, $1. Phila., 1843
- HALE, WILLIAM. A New Analysis of Chronology, in which an attempt is made to explain the History and Antiquities of the Primitive Nations of the World, and the Prophecies relating to them, on Principles tending to remove the impression and discordance of preceding system. 4 vols. 4to, $12, binding broke. London, 1811
- HALLECK, FITZ-GREENE. The Croakers, by Joseph Rodman Drake and Fitz-Greene Halleck, first complete edition, with copious notes. Royal 8vo, pp. 191. Portraits of the authors. New York, 1860
This forms the Second Volume of the Bradford Club Publications.
- HALLECK, FITZ-GREENE. Catalogue of the Library of, sold by auction, Oct. 12th, 1868. 8vo, pp. 26, autograph inserted, $1. New York, 1868
- HALLECK, FITZ-GREENE, Fanny, a Poem. 2d edition, 8vo, pp. 67. N. Y., 1821
- HALLECK, FITZ-GREENE. Poetical Works of, now first collected, illustrated with steel engravings, from Drawings by American artists. 8vo, pp. 280. New York, 1850
- HALLECK, FITZ-GREENE. Young America, a Poem. 12mo, pp. 49. N. Y., 1865
- HALLECK, FITZ-GREENE. Fanny, a Poem. Original Edition. 8vo, pp. 49. New York, 1819

FITZ-GREENE HALLECK. Was born in Guilford, in the state of Connecticut, in the year 1788, and died at the same place Nov. 19, 1867, aged 79 years. In early life he became known as a poet in connection with a young and beloved contemporary, Dr. Joseph Rodman Drake, long since passed away. They jointly contributed to the Evening Post, 1819, a series of satirical poems, chiefly aiming at city characters under the name of Croaker & Co. These delicate satires became very popular, and were even republished in all the leading journals throughout the country, besides they were reprinted at the time in pamphlet form surreptitiously. Subsequently, Mr. Halleck became uneasy about the reappearance of these pieces which had proved quite offensive to some of the sensitive citizens, and as amends did all he could to suppress them, for he himself concluded that they were too severe upon divers worthy neighbors, whom he held in the highest estimation.

About the year 1835, or perhaps 1836, an enthusiastic young quaker, Mr. J. Hopper, a great admirer of Mr. Halleck's poetry, especially his satires (son of the famous abolitionist Isaac T. Hopper, the man who was a fac-simile of Napoleon) conceived the idea of exhuming, collecting and so draw from their hiding places the much talked of and much coveted fragments, and accompany them with notes, historical, biographical, and anecdotal, and in this new dress present them to the public, whom he was confident, was very ready to receive them. Mr. Halleck learned with horror the intentions of this young friend, and immediately repaired to him and in the most earnest manner implored that he would desist from reviving what he had taken no unusual pains to make forgotten and consign to oblivion. "If these offensive trifles should again reappear they would hurt the feelings of such as I count among my dearest friends." Mr. Hopper was too much the man of feeling to persist in doing what would give pain to others, and so the scheme fell through. Mr. E. B. Corwin, into whose hands the collection fell fifteen years later, had intended to carry out Mr. Hopper's plan, but some how or other his scheme also fell through. In 1860 the Bradford Club did what neither of the former parties seemed able to accomplish: they published this collection of poems in very handsome style, appending a youthful portrait of Drake and an aged one of Halleck. This volume forms No. 2 of the Club's publications. The author acquiesced in this issue inasmuch as the reasons which were in force at the time when they first were announced had now become abrogated.

On a certain occasion (Sunday), I was passing a Roman Catholic church in the city of New York; seeing the doors open and throngs of people pressing in, I stepped inside to see what I could see, hear what I could hear, and learn what I could learn. I had not well got inside till I beheld Fitz-Greene Halleck standing uncovered with reverential attitude among the crowd of unshorn and unwashed worshippers which can always be seen on Sundays kneeling and standing both inside and out of these houses of worship in irregular confusion with little or no respect paid to them by the functionaries of the church or those who are wealthy enough to pay for comfortable pews. I remained till I saw him leave. In doing so he made a courteous bow as is the polite custom by the humblest of these people on taking their departure. I immediately followed and on coming up took the liberty to ask him if he was a member of this church. In reply he said "I am not, but my predilections are decidedly in their favor in preference to any other denomination." "I presume you are a member of this church or one of the same." I replied in the negative. "I had supposed," said he, "that all Irishmen were Roman Catholics." I said that "there was a two-fold mistake in this assumption, for in the first place all Irishmen are not Roman Catholics no more than all Scotchmen are Calvinists, nor all Americans Yankees, nor all Turks Mahometans, nor all Africans Negroes, and in the second place I am not a native of the Green Isle." "I have always supposed you to be such," said he, "where then do you hail from?" I said, "from that land that he had aided in rendering still more celebrated by one of his noblest effusions." "Scotland," exclaimed he, "bonny Scotland?" "That," said I, "is the land of my nativity." "But," continued I, "we derive neither glory nor shame from the place of our birth. It is an event of our life over which we have no control." "That," said he, "is very true."

How he came to have any predilections for the Roman Catholic church I never could exactly learn, but guessed. This affinity was the more remarkable, inasmuch as he was descended from one of the sternest of puritan ancestors, John Eliot, the famous apostle of the North American Indians and translator of the Bible into their language, as well as the author of a grammar of the same. And further I have understood that he took pleasure in letting it be known that he was so descended.

I have understood that he was never married although he did not escape the cares, the pleasure and pains of being a parent. It is note-worthy that his only child died one week after he did, leaving a family to deplore the loss.

On the subject of compliments paid him for poetical talent, he said, "they were generally made by those who were ignorant, or who had a desire to please or flatter, or perhaps a combination of all: they were a sad penalty which every one had to pay who thrust themselves upon public notice. As a general thing they are devoid of sincerity, and rather offensive than pleasing. The practice brings to my mind the condition of one who has had the misfortune to have lost a limb, or an eye. When he meets with old acquaintances they immediately commence condoling with him and discussing the nature of his loss, and not unfrequently demanding a history of the whole catastrophe, and thus by the kindness of his friends he suffers a double punishment by being constantly brought in mind of his dilapidated condition. In like manner does an author suffer. But," continued he, "all who desire the ear of the public, must pay a penalty more or less, there is no sweet without a bitter, no excessive joy but some sorrow, the day of adversity is set over against the day of prosperity, but," added he, "there is no general rule without exception, and in my bagfull of compliments I cherish one which comes under that rule, and reflecting upon it affords me real pleasure as it did then.

"On a warm day in summer a young man came into the office, with a countenance glowing with ardor, innocence and honesty, and his eyes beaming with enthusiasm. Said he, 'Is Mr. Halleck to be found here,' I answered in the affirmative. Continued he with evidently increased emotion, 'could I see him?' 'you see him now,' I replied. He grasped me by the hand with a hearty vigorosity that added to my conviction of his sincerity. Said he, 'I am happy, most happy, in having had the pleasure at last of seeing one whose poems have afforded me no ordinary gratification and delight. I have wished, I have longed, I have sighed to see you, and I have dreamt that I have seen you, but now I behold you with mine own eyes. God bless you forever and ever. I have come eleven hundred miles all the way from the banks of the Miami in Ohio mainly for that purpose, and I have been compensated for my pains.'"

It was for this reason that he disliked parties where the company was large and promiscuous. Said he, "A man who acquires notoriety becomes a target in all such gatherings, and without he is possessed of an amount of vanity which renders him ridiculous, feels uneasy at being conscious that he is a special object of attention, and also of conversation."

He told me that he had been solicited to write a life of his early and beloved friend Drake, "but," said he, "I did not see well how I could grant such a request, I had no lever for my fulcrum." What could I say about one who had studied pharmacy, dissection, written a few poems, and then left the scene of action forever; I had no material, and a mere meaningless eulogy would have been out of the question."

In personal appearance he was rather below the medium height, well built; in walking had a rather slow and shuffling gait as if something affected his feet, a florid, bland and pleasant countenance, a bright gray eye, remarkably pleasant and courteous in conversation, and as a very natural consequence much beloved by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance; but to brilliancy in conversation which some of his admirers have been pleased to attribute to him, in my opinion they could lay no claim.

His name and writings will go down to posterity through a biography, or biographical dictionaries, but what will make it endure will be the outpourings of his own genius, which will be published and republished, and read by thousands yet unborn inhabiting what is now a desert and a howling wilderness. "I have erected for myself a monument more lasting than marble or brass, which not the wasting north wind nor even time itself will be able to destroy." The epitaph which he prepared for his youthful friend and companion is as applicable to him as it was to that gifted poet.

Green be the turf above thee,
Friend of my better days!
None knew thee but to love thee,
Nor named thee but to praise.

Poor unfortunate Mac Donald Clarke was an ardent admirer of Halleck. He said he would give more for a shake of his hand accompanied with a kind word, than he would for a gold snuff-box set with diamonds from an emperor. I asked him if he could inform me who was the author of the poem entitled Fanny Continued, being a continuation and imitation of his principal poem of that name. He answered me in the negative. I suggested that it might have been Classon. Said he, "Classon was a man of genius and such seldom attempt to imitate others, especially their inferiors, besides it would be too small a game for him to follow." I remarked that his continuation of Don Juan was in direct contradiction to his statement. Said he, "But here is a rare exception. Byron was a giant and one of the greatest magnitude, and therefore none could have thought it beneath him to attempt imitating this great poet."

His opinion respecting the durability of the form of government which the people of the United States have chosen to adopt, was by no means favorable, it was in accordance with that of the great majority of the educated and thinking men of the country, that it would be of short duration; to use a similitude, it would prove to be like Jonah's gourd which grew up in a night and perished in a day. "We have been boasting of our greatness and ability, and steadily following up that practice, through our newspapers, our political harangues, our statesmen and would-be statesman, our parsons, our poets (rhymsters) and feeble historians, of our immense virtue and gigantic intellect, superior acquirements and undoubted ability to be governed and well governed by the people, the dear people, till the sober minded and thinking portion of the community are become sick and disgusting with these untruthful rhapsodies. For my part I have never been able to discover these grand sights and qualities in the American people, and therefore look upon all these frothy declamations as giving tokens of an early national death. We are a nation of loud boasters and wide mouthed gasconades evidently conscious that we are not what we pretend to be. A giant never boasts of his strength, a conquering general of his skill and valor, nor a handsome woman of her beauty. It is those who are conscious that they are defective who make such pretences. Go into Broadway, stop the first hundred full grown men who come along and ask each one to define what kind of government we live under, how it was formed, by whom, when and where, and how it differs from the governments of Great Britain, France and Russia. What number out of this hundred could make a satisfactory answer to the foregoing simple questions. I will venture to say that fifteen per cent would cover the number, and that may be even too liberal. A full grown nation to be governed by a pure democracy, two-thirds of her citizens would require to be philosophers, unambitious of place and power and above all to be completely divested of cupidity. As human nature is now constituted we must despair of ever seeing such a state of feeling among the people of any nation." Said he, "If we may believe but one-half of what is written, published, and said respecting the character, reputation, and conduct of our elected officials, from the constable and upwards, who are intrusted with and designed to carry on the governments, national, state and municipal, we are forced to the conclusion that a great majority of them are wholly venal, and an honorable and faithful performance of their duties, or a love for their country, or affection for the government which protects them, has neither part nor lot in their affections or creed. Besides, what adds deeper darkness to this gloomy picture, when delinquents are discovered they are seldom or never punished; and further, a criminal when called before our courts of justice, no matter how heinous the crime may be, if he has political or moneyed influence, he is certain to escape punishment.* Still, there are men who have been and are in power, and I take great pleasure in believing it to be so, that are both good, worthy and honorable, who have never defiled their garments by any kind of malpractice or debasing act, but alas! alas! they are in a sad minority, and so have to take back seats."

* NOTE. The result of the two late trials at Albany and Richmond, the one for the murder of Mr. Hiscock, the other for that of Mr. Pollard, and the judicial interposition of a New York city judge in the case of a notorious malefactor who was condemned to suffer the death penalty for a crime which deserved a four-fold punishment, are especial examples corroborative of this state, or coming state of things. It ought to be remembered that no woman's virtue is worth a man's life. Virtue may be repaired, but life never can be restored.

His library was sold by auction in the city of New York on the evening of October 12th, 1868. If the collection disposed of on that occasion was really his library in full, it must be confessed it was a sorry affair and meager in the extreme, so that but little credit, or rather none at all could be awarded him for having collected a library. The collection had the appearance of a heap of indifferent books bought indiscriminately, by some loungers about an auction room who had picked up a book now and then because it was cheap, without the least design of forming anything like a library touching one or more subjects. Notwithstanding all this I apprehend Mr. Halleck was by no means singular among his fellow craft, the poets, as having made an indifferent collection of books. McDonald Clarke had no books at all, and frequently declared he would have none, for said he, "the pouring over other men's productions would emasculate my native genius, and so destroy my originality." Woodworth, the little stout man with dark squint eyes, and poet of the "moss covered bucket notoriety," had a very poor collection of books which could hardly be called a library. Poe the most original of all the American poets, had a library made up of newspapers, magazines bound and unbound, with what books had been presented to him from time to time by authors and publishers. He had no very high opinion of the modern generators of books, especially those so employed around him, and hence many of these gifts found an early transfer into the possession of some second-hand dealer at wonderfully reduced prices. Burns' library consisted of a few odd volumes of the Spectator, a broken copy of Pope's works. The Travels of Anacharsis in Greece, Five Hundred Years before Christ, a French and English Grammar, Ferguson and Davy Siller's Poems, and a copy of the Bible. Sir Walter Scott had an indifferent collection of books, and principally in poor binding. It was reported that he had not even a complete set of his own writings. Southey had a large mass of indifferent books, and, as a general thing, bound in spotted or striped calico by the hands of one of his daughters. Wordsworth, his neighbor, the cold, impenetrable and inscrutable poet, had but few books, and chiefly such as had no reputation. Samuel Parr, the celebrated linguist, amassed a great assemblage of worthless books chiefly in foreign languages, but more particularly Greek and Latin, and bound in every objectionable style. After his death they were scattered to the winds by auction process, and as a general thing sold for less than the price of waste paper. Some of his books to this day can be seen floating about in the auction rooms, and on the shelves of dealers in old books in the large cities of the United States. Every book is adorned with his rude book plate and ruder autograph. It is not known whether the greatest of all the Jewish monarchs, King Solomon, the philosopher, the theologian, the poet, the legislator, the warrior, the architect, the botanist, and polygamist, had a large library or not, but if, we of this age may judge from the hints he has given out he had not; and furthermore he appeared to have been disgusted at being incumbered with many books. As a general thing book collectors are not readers, and vice versa, readers are not book collectors. There are, however, many exceptions to this rule; for example, Peter Hastie, Esq., one of the constructors of the Croton aqueduct which carries the water that supplies the city of New York, a distance of forty-five miles, was a veteran book collector, so much so that he ordered certain books to be bought for him the week that he died. His collection consisted of many thousands of volumes, the productions of standard authors on mathematics, engineering, history, philosophy, biography, theology, poetry, belles-lettres, and miscellanies, all of which he had a knowledge of their contents, more or less minute. It will be seen by the foregoing that Mr. Halleck was in no mean company as regards being possessed of an unimportant library. In surveying the collection, a judge of the value of such property would perhaps pronounce it worth from one hundred and twenty-five to one hundred and fifty dollars. The books brought fabulous prices, at least ten times their market value. The company was large, good humored, and just in a frame of mind to be a little more than liberal, doubtless stimulated to be so from a desire to possess a relic of the departed poet who had added fame to the literature of his country. The prices realized were by far the highest ever obtained in America for this kind of property. The following are the names of a few of the books and the prices they brought: Nicholas Nickleby with the author's autograph $18. Bryant's little volume of Poems, entitled Thirty poems, with the author's autograph, $11. Campbell's Poems, Philadelphia, 1804, with Halleck's autograph, $8.50. Catalogue of the Strawberry Hill Collection, $16. Barnaby Rudge, presentation copy by the author to Halleck, $15. Coleridge's Poems with a few notes by Halleck, London, 1803, $10. Fanny, a Poem by Mr. Halleck, $10. pamphlet, 1819. Papers concerning the Attack on Hatfield, a pamphlet, $20. Cabinet of Biography, a small pocket volume with the autograph of John Jacob Astor, $6. The sum total realized for his library was twelve hundred and fifty dollars ($1,250). The best engraved portrait and the most life-like of Halleck will be found accompanying the New York Mirror, vol. xiv, September, 24, 1836.

- WESTERN MEMORABILIA.
- HALLOCK, GERARD. History of the South Congregational church, New Haven, from its origin in 1852, till January 1, 1865. 12mo, cloth, pp. 304. Portrait and plate, $1.75. New Haven, 1865
- HAMILTON, GEN. ALEX. Report on the Subject of Manufacturing, made in 1791. 18mo, pp. 143, $1.50. Phila., 1824
- HAMILTON, ALEXANDER, The works of, comprising his correspondence, and his political and official writings, exclusive of the Federalist, civil and military, published from the original manuscripts deposited in the department of state, by order of the joint library committee of Congress. Edited by John C. Hamilton. 7 vols., 8vo, cloth. New York, 1850
- HAMILTON COLLEGE, Clinton, N. Y., A Memorial of the Semi-centennial Celebration of the Founding of. 8vo, cloth, 8 portraits, $3. Utica, N. Y., 1862

- HANCOCK, JOHN. Reasons for withdrawing from Society with the people called Quakers. 12mo, pp. 37, $1. New York, 1801
- HANKINS, MARIE LOUISE. Women of New York. 32 portraits, 12mo, pp. 349, no cover, $2. New York, 1861
- HARDIE, JAMES. An Account of the Malignant Fever lately prevailing in the City of New York, 1799. 8vo, pp. 148, uncut, $2. New York, 1799
- HARDMAN, WILLIAM G. A Treatise on the Curvilinear Perspective of Nature, and its applicability to Art. 8vo, $5. Lond., 1853
- HARLAN, RICHARD W. Fauna Americana, being a description of the Mammiferous animals inhabiting North America. 8vo, boards, uncut, $3. Phila., 1825
- HARLAN, RICHARD W. Refutation of Certain Misrepresentations issued against the author of the Fauna Americana, in the Philadelphia Franklin Journal, No. 1, 1826, and in the North American Review, No. 50. 8vo, boards, $2. Phila., 1826
- HARLAN, R. Medical and Physical Researches, or Original Memoirs in Medicine, Surgery, Physiology, Geology, Zoology, and Comparative Anatomy. Illustrated with plates, containing 160 figures. Thick 8vo, boards, uncut, $5. Phila., 1835
- HARPER, ROBERT G. Observations on the Dispute between the U. S., and France, addressed to his constituents, in May, 1797. 8vo, pp. 109, $2 London, 1798
- HARTLEY, W. M. B. Hartley in the olden Time; Its first Thirty years, by Scalva, edited by W. M. B. Hartley, with illustrations. 8vo, pp. 316, maps and plates. gilt edge, morocco. Hartford, 1853
- HATHAWAY, LEVI, The Narrative of, being an account of his Life, Experience, Call to the Ministry of the Gospel, and Travels as such, to the present time. 12mo, pp. 140, $2. Providence, 1820
- HAWTHORNE, NATHANIEL. Liberty Tree, with the last words of Grandfather's Chair. 18mo, pp. 156, $1.25. Boston, 1842
- HEADLEY, J. T. The Chaplains and Clergy of the Revolution. 12mo, cloth, $2. New York, 1864
- HEMMENWAY, MOSES. Seven Sermons on the obligation and encouragement of the Unregenerate. 12mo, pp. 204, $1.50. Boston, N. E. 1767
- HEMMENWAY, MOSES. A vindication of the power, obligation, and encouragement of the Unregenerate to attend the means of grace, against the exceptions of the Rev. Samuel Hopkins. 12mo, $1.50. Boston, 1772
- HIBERNICUS, or Memoirs of an Irishman now in America, containing an account of the principal events of his life, both before and since his emigration, and interspersed with anecdotes and observations, humorous, political, and moral, with a supplement. 12mo, pp. 251. Pittsburg, 1828
- HICKS, ELIAS, Letters of, including also a few short Essays on several occasions illustrative of his doctrinal views, 8vo, boards, $2. N. Y., 1834
- HILLHOUSE, JAMES, Sketches of the Life and Public Services of, by Leonard Bacon. Portrait, 8vo, pp. 46, $1.50. New Haven, 1860
- HINMAN, ROYAL R. A Catalogue of the Names of the Early Puritan Settlers of the Colony of Connecticut, with the Time of their Arrival, Place of Residence, Condition of Life, where from, business, &c., as far as found on Record. Parts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5. 5 parts, 8vo, portrait, cover, $5. Hartford, 1846
- HISTOIRE Naturelle et Moral des Iles Antilles De L'Amerique Euredice de plusieurs des Raretez les plus considerables qui y sont decrites. Avec un Vocabulaire Caraïbe. 4to, pp. 525, $6. Rotterdam, 1658
- HISTORICAL REGISTER of the United States, from the declaration of War in 1212 to Jan., 1815. Edited by T. H. Palmer. 4 vols., 8vo, $6. Philadelphia, 1814-16

HISTORY of the Capital of Asia and the Turks: together with an account of the Domestic Manners of the Turks in Turkey. Plates, 4 vols. in 1, 8vo, $5.

Boston, 1856
This volume contains besides, an account of the lost ten tribes settled beyond the River Sembatyon, in the east. By Dr. M. Edrepi.

HODGE, CHARLES. The Constitutional History of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, from 1705 to 1788. 2 vols., 8vo, half calf, $3.25.
Philadelphia, 1840

HODENG, SARAH. The Land Log-Book: a compilation of Anecdotes and Occurrences extracted from the Journal kept by the Author during a residence of several years in the United States of America. 12mo, pp. 278, $2.
London, 1844

HOFFMAN, MURRAY. A Treatise upon the Estates and Rights of the Corporation of the city of New York as Proprietors. 8vo, pp. 320, cxxxiv, 1 plate.
New York, 1853

HOFFMAN, MURRAY. Treatise upon the Estate and Rights of the Corporation of the City of New York as proprietors. 2 vols., 8vo, law binding, second edition, $5.
New York, 1862

HOGAN, J. S. Canada, An Essay, to which was awarded the first prize by the Paris Exhibition Committee of Canada. Maps and plates. 8vo, red mor., $2.
Montreal, 1855

HOLLAND, E. G. Essays and a Drama in five acts. 8vo, 12mo, pp. 400, $2.
Boston, 1852

HOPKINS, SAMUEL. The Puritans, or the Church Court, and Parliament of England during the reigns of Edward Sixth, and Queen Elizabeth. 3 vols., 8vo, cloth, $6.
Boston 1860

HORACE, The Lyric Works of, translated into English Verse, to which is added a number of Original Poems. By a Native American. 8vo, pp. 375.
Phila, 1786

The first Roman Classic Poet translated by an American. Besides Horace will be found translations from Anacreon, Tibullus, Ovid, and Virgil. A Pastoral Drama on the birthday of an Illustrious Personage and the Return of Peace, Feb. 11th, 1784. John Park of Dover, State of Delaware, was the translator of this version of Horace, and a graduate Bachelor in Arts at the College of Philadelphia, June 28th, 1771. He was a Colonel in the army. Most of these translations and original poems were written in the camp, when like Camoens, "One hand the pen, and one the sword employed." It is to be hoped that the author never headed a regiment during an engagement, if he was not a better soldier than he was a poet. WESTERN MEMORABILIA.

HUBBARD, WILLIAM. A General History of New England, from the discovery to 1680. 8vo, sheep, $5.
Cambridge, Mass., 1815

HUGHES, REV. T. S. The History of England, from the death of George the Second in 1760 to the accession of Queen Victoria in 1837, with historical Illustrations and Portraits, being a continuation of Hume and Smollett. 8 vols., 12mo, half calf, $16, cloth, $10.
London.

HUMPHREYS, DAVID. An Historical Account of the Incorporate Society for the Promotion of the Gospel in Foreign Parts. Maps, 8vo, pp. 387, $6. Corwin's copy of the book sold for $8.
London, 1730

HUTTON, CHARLES. A course of Bookkeeping according to the method of Single Entry, 4to, pp. about 75, $1.
Philadelphia, 1801
This is in all probability the first treatise on the subject of bookkeeping published in the United States. The author was the well known mathematician of that name. As a step in the history of book making in America it is interesting.

HYMN BOOKS (155). Published for and by various denominations of Christians chiefly second hand. No duplicates. v. d.

ILLINOIS, The Laws of, passed at 7th general assembly, at their session held at Vandalla, in 1830-31. 8vo, pp. 217, $2.
Vandalla, 1831

IMLAY, GILBERT, A Topographical Description of the Western Territory of North America, including Filson, Hart, Hutching's, Kennedy's accounts, illustrated with correct maps of the Western Territory of North America. 8vo, calf, fine copy, $15.
London, 1797

- INDIANA. Biographical Sketches of the members of the 45th General Assembly, with that of the State Officers and Judiciary by James Sutherland. 8vo, pp. 210, $2.50. Indianapolis, 1861
- INDIANA. State Gazette and Business Directory for 1860-61. 8vo, pp. 778, $2. Indianapolis, 1861
- INDIANS. Correspondence on the subject of the Emigration of Indians between the 30th November, 1831, and 27th December, 1833. 8vo, pp. 503, $2. Washington, 1835
- INDIANS. Treaties between the United States of America, and the several Indian Tribes, from 1778 to 1837, with a copious table of contents. New edition, carefully compared with the originals. 8vo, calf, pp. 783, $5. Wash., 1837
- INGERSOLL, CHARLES J. A view of the Rights and Wrongs, Power and Policy of the United States of America. 8vo, boards, uncut, $3.50. Philadelphia, 1808
- INTERMENTS. Report of the Committee on Laws, to the Corporation of the City of New York on the subject of Interment, within the populous parts of the city. 8vo, $1.50. New York, 1825
- IOWA, WISCONSIN AND ILLINOIS. Report of a Geological Exploration by the United States Government. By D. D. Owen. Maps and plates. 8vo, $2. Washington, 1844
- IRVING, WASHINGTON. Letters of Jonathan Old Style, Gent. With a Biographical Notice. 8vo, boards, uncut, $1.25. London, 1824
- JACKSON, CHARLES T. Geological and Mineralogical Report of the Survey of the Mineral Lands of the United States of Michigan. Numerous Geological maps colored. 8vo, boards, $5. Washington, 1849
- JAMES, WILLIAM. Full and Correct Account of the Chief Naval Occurrences of the Late War between Great Britain and the United States of America, preceded by a course of examination of the American account of their Naval actions fought previous to that period. 8vo, uncut, $5. London, 1817
- JAMESTOWN, The Voyage of the, on her Errand of Mercy. Sailed from Boston, March 28, 1847, with provisions for Cork, Ireland, R. B. Forbes, Commander. Plate, 8vo, pp. 181, $2. Boston, 1847
- JARRETT, DEVEREUX, Life of, Rector of Both parish, Denweddie Court House, Virginia, written by himself in a series of Letters written between 1792 and 1794, addressed to the Rev. John Coleman. 18mo, $1.50. Baltimore, 1806
- JEFFERSON, THOMAS, Observations on the writings of, with particular reference to the attack they contain on the Memory of the late Gen. Henry Lee, in a series of Letters by H. Lee, of Virginia. 8vo, pp. 237. New York, 1832
This is the first edition and has become very rare, mainly on account of it having been rigidly suppressed, and as far as possible destroyed throughout Virginia. The worshippers of the memory of Jefferson could not bear such an expose and therefore it was doomed to destruction. A subsequent edition with notes appeared in 1838, which is much more accessible.
- JEFFERSON, THOMAS, Writings of, being his Autobiography, Correspondence, Reports, Messages, Addresses, and other writings, official and private, from the original manuscript, with explanatory Notes, table of Contents and a copious Index to the whole, by the editor, H. A. Washington. 9 vols., 8vo, cloth, $18. New York, 1853
- JEFFERSON, THOMAS, Memoirs, Correspondence, and Private Papers of, edited by Thomas Jefferson Randolph. 4 vols., 8vo, boards, $6. Boston, 1839
- JEFFERSON, THOMAS, Life of, with parts of his Correspondence never before published, and notices of his opinions on questions of Civil Government, National Policy, and Constitutional Law, by George Tucker. Portrait, 2 vols., 8vo, cloth, pp. 622, 597, $5. Phila., 1837
- JEROME, CHAUNCEY. History of the American Clock Business for the past sixty years, with Barnum's corrections. Portrait, 12mo, $1.50. New Haven, 1860

- JEWITT, JOHN R., Narrative of the Adventures and sufferings of, only survivor of the crew of the ship Boston, during a captivity of nearly three years among the savages of Nootka Sound, &c., &c. 12mo, plate, $1.50
Middletown, 1815
- JOCKEY CLUB, or Manners of the Age, a curious piece of scandal. Collections on the death of Gen. Hamilton, No. V, Sea Journal of W. Moulton, from New London to the South Seas, 1799. Catalogue of Curiosities to be seen at 38 William Street, New York, 1804. All bound in one vol., 8vo, a rare collection. s. s.
- JOHN BULL in America, or the New Munchausen. 12mo, boards, uncut, $3.
New York, 1825
- This book is written in the extravagant style of Baron Munchausen, purporting to be a foreigner's tour through the United States. The extravaganza is intended to sharply satirize the English tourists who have visited and written on America, the United States particularly.
- JOHNSON, ANDREW, Trial of, President of the U. S. before the senate of the U. S., on Impeachment by the House of Representatives for High Crimes and Misdemeanors. 3 vols., 8vo, cloth, pp. 763, 520, 423. Washington, 1868
- JOHNSON, C. B. Letters from the British settlement in Pennsylvania. Map, 18mo, pp. 192, $2. Phila., 1819
- JOHNSON, JOSEPH. Traditions and Reminiscences chiefly of the American Revolution in the South, including Historical Sketches, Incidents and Anecdotes. Fac-simile Autographs, 2 maps, 8vo, pp. 592, $10. Charlestown, 1851
- JOHNSON, WALTER R. A Report to the Navy Department of the United States on American Coal, applicable to Steam navigation and to other purposes. 8vo, pp. 606, unbound, $5. Wash., 1844
- JONES, WILLIAM D. Mirror of Modern Democracy, a History of the Democratic party, from its organization in 1825, and its last great achievement, the Rebellion, 1860. 12mo, pp. 270, $1.50. New York, 1864
- JUDD, REV. SYLVESTER, Life and character of. 12mo, cloth, portrait, $3.
Boston, 1857
- JUNIUS. Proved to be Burke, with outline of his Biography. 8vo, pp. 64.
London, 1826
- KEMBLE, MISS FANNY. Francis the First, a Tragedy in Five Acts, with other Poetical pieces, in which are included an original Memoir, and a full length portrait. Sixth edition, 8vo, pp. 72, $2. New York, 1833
- KENNET, BISHOP. Bibliothecæ Americanae Primordia. An attempt towards laying the foundation of an American Library. A Catalogue of Books relating to the discovery and planting of America. The title page and dedication in Manuscript. 4to, pp. about 400, $20. London, 1713
- This is believed to be the first compiled catalogue of American literature in the English Language.
- KENTUCKY State Gazetteer and Business Directory for 1859-60. 8vo, pp. 525, $1.50. Louisville, Ky., 1860
- KILBOURN, JOHN. The Ohio Gazetteer, or Topographical Dictionary, containing a Description of the several Counties of the State of Ohio. Third edition. A Western Literary curiosity. 18mo, boards, uncut, $5. Albany, N. Y., 1817
- KILBOURN, JOHN. The Ohio Gazetteer, or Topographical Dictionary, descriptive of the several Counties, Towns, Villages, Canals, Roads, Rivers, Lakes, Springs, Mines, &c., in the State. Ninth edition. 12mo, pp. 280, $2.
Columbus, 1829
- KING, CHARLES. Progress of the City of New York during the last fifty years, with notices of the principal changes and important events—a Lecture. 8vo, pp. 80, $2. New York, 1852
- LADIES' MAGAZINE (The) Conducted by Mrs. Sarah Jane Hale, from the commencement, Jan. 1, 1828 to Dec., 1834. 7 vols., 8vo, in parts, put in cloth jackets, with several portraits and other plates. Boston, 1828, &c.
- LAFAYETTE, GENERAL, An account of the visit of, to the U. S., from his arrival in August, 1824, to his return to France. 8vo. Phila., 1827

- LAMBERT, GUILLAUME. Voyage dans L'Amerique du Nord, en 1853 et 1854, avec notes sur les expositions universelles de Dublin et de New York. 2 vols., royal 8vo, 1 an Atlas, half mor., $4. Bruxelles, 1855
- LAND OFFICE. Report of the Commissioner of General Land Office, accompanying the annual Report of the Secretary of the Interior for 1860. 8vo, several large folding maps, $2. Washington, 1860
- LAWS, Army and Navy Pension laws, and Bounty Land Laws of the United States, including Resolutions of Congress, from 1776 to 1852, executed at the department of the interior, with an Appendix, containing the opinions of attorneys general of the United States, with the Decisions, Rules, and Regulations adopted by different secretaries, relative to the execution of those laws. Compiled by Robert Mayo, M. D. and Ferdinand Moulto, counsellor at Law. 8vo, pp. 766, $3. Washington, 1852
- LAWS. A Digest of the Laws and Resolutions of Congress relative to pensions, county lands, pay of the army, mileage, horses or other property lost or destroyed in the Military Service, expenses of volunteer force, patents, etc., together with the opinions of the attorneys general, and decisions of the secretaries of war and interior, and of the encountering officers of the treasury thereon, with full and complete Forms of Application, so arranged as to furnish all the information that may be desired by claimants, or their attorneys. By C. W. Bennett, attorney at law. 8vo, pp. 504, $5. Washington, 1854
- LAWS of the United States of America, from the formation of the Government 1789, to 1814, original edition. 12 vols., 8vo, $12. Phila., 1796, and Wash., 1815
- LAY, BENJAMIN, Memoirs of the life of, and Ralph Sandiford, two of the earliest public advocates for the Emancipation of the Enslaved Africans, by Robert Vaux, with a remarkable full length portrait of Lay. 12mo, pp. 73. Phila., 1815
- LEAVES FOR DOUGHFACES, or threescore and ten Parables touching Slavery. By a former resident of the south. 12mo, pp. 332, wood-cuts, $3. Cin., 1856
- LA BLANC, VINCENT. The World Surveyed; or the famous voyages and travels of, from the age of fourteen to sixty-eight. Rendered into English. Folio, pp. 407, $10. London, 1660
- The author visited America north and south as well as the West Indies during his long peregrinations. This volume is become quite rare, although it is generally found in the libraries of veteran collectors of books relating to America.
- LEDYARD, JOHN. A Journal of Capt. Cook's last voyage to the Pacific Ocean, and in quest of a north-west passage, between Asia and America. Performed in the years 1776-7-8-9. Illustrated with a chart. 12mo, pp. 208. Hartford, 1783
- LEDYARD, JOHN. Memoirs of the Life and Travels of, from his Journals and Correspondence. 8vo, boards, pp. 428, $3. London, 1828
- When I undertook to write the Life of Ledyard, said Mr. Sparks, I had great difficulty in procuring a copy of his Journal of a voyage. I could buy one nowhere, nor could I borrow it. At length I was informed that a certain collector in Connecticut had a copy. I took the liberty of making known to him my wants. After considerable negotiation he consented to allow me to use the book, but the favor was so grudgingly given and so many conditions and restrictions attached to it, that I afterwards regretted that I made the request. He on that occasion purchased from me an imperfect copy less both the map and part of the text; but, said he, I am pleased, much pleased, to procure even such a copy of a book I had so much difficulty in getting hold of when I was in actual need of it. This imperfection was formerly the property of the famous bibliophile S. G. Deeth. Mr. Sparks, like Everett, Palfrey, Bancroft, and Emerson, commenced his career in life as a Unitarian clergyman, but soon abandoned that profession for one more congenial to his taste, as well as more lucrative. In his new calling he wrote and edited not less than sixty or seventy octavo and 12mo volumes. Among the principal were his American Biography in twenty-five volumes, the Writings of Washington in twelve volumes, American Diplomatic Correspondence twenty-one volumes, &c., &c. He was indeed a laborious and useful man, one who has added important service as well as honorable fame to his country. Mr. Sparks was corporally a heavy, unwieldy man, slow or rather solemn in his address, a large, or massy countenance, strongly resembling professor Charles Anthon, or the late president Andrew Johnson. He left the impression on the beholder of a man of extreme benevolence and healthy feeling. He was an ardent lover of literature and of everything which had a tendency to promote or elevate it. He made it a practice to visit my bookstore every time he came to New York. On one of these occasions he informed me that he had abandoned the buying of books, but, continued he, I still delight to visit the haunts and repositories, where the mental outpourings of the great and gifted of all ages and nations are congregated standing peacefully side by side waiting and ready to illuminate the present and coming generations of men. I still take great pleasure in turning over these dark dingy volumes and reading here and there a page, and looking upon the countenances of their venerable authors. In one of these visits I presented him with a copy of the first number of my Bibliotheca Americana, Denton's description of New York and Long Island in 1670. Edited by the late Judge Furman. After carefully looking at the historical volume, said he, solemnly, I commend your spirit and enterprise for having reproduced this book, and for having promised to bring out a series of like character, but I greatly fear you are by far too premature in your undertaking, or, in other words, ahead of the age. The bookbuyers, as a general thing, in this country, are not prepared for encouraging such publications. I informed him that I had printed fifty copies of this book on large paper, 4to, as an experiment, to learn how such would sell in America, the first attempt of the kind made in the country. In reply, said he, so far as I know this fancy has not taken root nor even been transplanted into the United States. A community that would buy such books must have these indispensable requisites, namely, taste, leisure and wealth. Such publications are frequently brought out in Europe especially in Great Britain; but there the learned and wealthy are much more numerous than with us, and that is the class which the publisher must depend on for buying such books. This was in 1846. They are too practical to comprehend their use. This series of books when published will be thankfully appreciated, but it will be in after ages, and too late to remunerate you for your pains; but, said he, go on in your meritorious undertaking, you have my heartiest wish for your prosperity, and I truly hope I may prove a false prophet in this case.

..... WESTERN MEMORABILIA.

LEE, HENRY. Memoirs of the War in the Southern Department of the United States. 8vo, pp. 466, $5. Washington, 1827

LEE, JOHN H. The origin and progress of the American Party in Politics, embracing a complete History of the Philadelphia Riots. 12mo, cloth, $1. Phila., 1855

LEGARE, HUGH SWINTON, Writings of, consisting of a Diary of Brussels, and Journal of the Rhine, extracts from his Private and Diplomatic Correspondence, Orations and Speeches, Contributions to the N. Y. and Southern Review, with a memoir of his Life. 2 vols., 8vo, pp. 630, 593, $10. Charleston, S. C., 1845

LEGISLATIVE SKETCHES from a Reporter's Note Book, by Geoffrey Jenkins. 12mo, pp. 93, $1. Albany, 1866

LEGGETT, WILLIAM, A Collection of the Political Writings of, edited by Theodore Sedgwick, Jr. 2 vols., 12mo, cloth, $2.50. New York, 1840

LELAND, CHARLES G. The Poetry and Mystery of Dreams. 12mo, cloth, $2. Phila., 1856

LENDRUM, JOHN. A Concise and Impartial History of the American Revolution, with a general history of North and South America. Account of the Discovery and Settlement of North America, &c., &c. 2 vols., 12mo, $6. Trenton, 1811

L'ESCLAVAGE en GENERAL, Examen de, et particulierement de l'esclavage des Negres dans les Colonies Francaises de l'Amerique. Par V. D. C. Ancien Avocat et Colon a Saint Domingue. 2 vols., 8vo, pr., uncut, $3. Paris, 1802

LETTERS addressed to Caleb Strong, late Governor of Mass., showing War to be inconsistent with the laws of Christ and the good of mankind. 8vo, boards, pp. 124, $1.25. London, 1818

LETTERS from an Egyptian in New York to his friend in Cairo, translated by Mathew Markwell. 8vo, cloth, $2. New York, 1848

LETTERS of Adelaide De Sancere to Count De Nance. 12mo, pp. 160. Newburn, N. C. 1801

This book is chiefly noticeable as evidence of the early introduction of printing into the then village of Newburn, North Carolina. To the historian of the American printing-press it will prove an important as well as an authentic land-mark. WESTERN MEMORABILIA.

LIBERAL PREACHER. A monthly publication of Sermons by living ministers. Conducted by an association of Clergymen. 4 vols. in two, 8vo, $4. Boston, 1831

LINCOLN, ABRAHAM. Our Martyr President, Voice from the Pulpit of New York and Brooklyn, Oration by Geo. Bancroft, Oration at the burial by Bishop Simpson. 12mo, pp. 420, $1.50. New York, 1865

This vol. contains twenty-one Sermons by the most able divines of New York and Brooklyn. Two orations and two prayers.

- LINCOLN, ABRAHAM, Obsequies of, in the city of New York, under the auspices of the Common Council. Compiled by David T. Valentine. Plates, royal 8vo, $3. New York, 1866
- LITERARY MAGAZINE, and American Register, from Commencement Oct., 1803 to July, 1807. 8vo, sheep, scarce, $12. Phila., 1803-7
- LITERARY and Scientific Repository and Critical Review. 4 vols., 8vo, unbound, a complete set, $4. New York, 1820-22
- LITURGY Collected for the use of the Church at King's Chapel, Boston. 2d edition with some alterations and additions. 8vo, sheep, $1.50. Boston, 1811
- LIVINGSTON, EDWARD. An Answer to Mr. Jefferson's Justification of his conduct in the case of the New Orleans Batture. Map, 8vo, paper cover, uncut, $5. Phila., 1813
- LOGAN, JAMES. Memoirs of a distinguished scholar and Christian Legislator, Founder of the Loganean Library, Philadelphia. 12mo pp. 192, $2. London, 1851
- LONGFELLOW, H. W. Hyperion, a Romance. 2 vols., 12mo, boards, uncut, Very rare in this condition, $3. New York, 1839
- LOST PRINCIPLE; The, or the Sectional Equilibrium, how it was created, how destroyed, how it may be restored, by Barbarossa. 8vo, pp. 266, $1.50. Richmond, Va., 1860
- LUNDY, BENJAMIN. The Life, Travels, and Opinions of, including his journeys to Texas and Mexico, with a sketch of Cotemporary events, and a notice of the Revolution in Hayti. 12mo, pp. 316. Portrait and map. Phila., 1847
- LYMAN, THEODORE, JR. The Diplomacy of the United States, being an account of the foreign relations of the country, from the first treaty with France, in 1778, to the present time, 2d edition with additions. 2 vols., 8vo, boards, uncut, $10. Boston, 1828
- LYNCHBURG, Sketches and Recollections of, by the oldest inhabitant. 12mo, pp. 363, $3. Richmond, 1858
- MACPHERSON, CHARLES, Memoirs of Life and Travels of, in Asia, Africa, and America, illustrative of manners, customs, and character, written by himself chiefly between the years 1773 and 1790. 12mo, $5. Edinburgh, 1800
- MADISON, JAMES, The Papers of, purchased by order of Congress, being his Correspondence and Reports of Debates during the Congress of the Confederation, and his Reports of Debates in the Federal Convention. Now published from the original manuscript, under the Superintendence of H. D. Gilpin. 3 vols., 8vo, sheep. Mobile, 1842
- MAFFET, JOHN NEWLAND, Poems by. 12mo, pp. 144, $5.50, very rare. Louisville, Ky., 1839
- The author was a kind of erratic or wandering star among the Methodist denomination throughout the United States. His approach towards any point caused a stir among that pious class created by the efforts of John Wesley, and his harangues during his stay produced the greatest effervescence among them. Besides this volume of poems he was the author of several other volumes of prose and poetry.....WESTERN MEMORABILIA.
- MAGEN, NICHOLAS. An Essay on Insurance, Explaining the nature of various kinds of Insurance practiced by the different Commercial States of Europe, and showing their consistency or inconsistency, with equity and the public good. Illustrated by real and extraordinary cases, stated at large, with observations thereon, tending to settle divers doubtful points in making up accounts, losses and average. 2 vols., 4to, a very rare book, $25. London, 1755
- MAHOMET, a Tragedy, in Five acts. Translated from the French of M. Voltaire, by the Rev. James Miller. 18mo, pp. 72, $1. New York, 1809
- MANUSCRIPT. An Enquiry into the present state and Administration of affairs in the province of East Florida, with some observations on the case of the late Chief Justice there. 4to, vellum, about 120 pages. Written in a very neat, legible hand. In the inside of the first fly-leaf will be found the following indorsement, an Enquiry, &c., by W. Drayton, $125. 1778

- MARBOIS, M. BARBE. History de La Louisiane et de la cession de cette colonie par la France aux Etats-Unis de l'Amerique septentrionales. 8vo, pp. 485, $2. Paris, 1829
- MARCHEMONT, a Selection from the Papers of the Earls of Marchemont, in the possession of Sir George H. Rose. Illustrative of events from 1685 to 1750. 3 vols., 8vo, boards, $4. London, 1831
- MARSHALL, E. C. History of the U. S. Naval Academy, with biographical sketches, and the names of all the superintendents, professors, and graduates, &c. 12mo, cloth, 2 plates, $2. New York, 1862
- MASON, JOHN, Self Knowledge, a treatise showing the nature and benefit of that important Science, and the way to attain it. 18mo, $2. Boston, 1800
A Typographical curiosity. The first American edition of this popular little book.
- MASSACHUSETTS REGISTER and United States Calender, for 1804-7-9-10-11-12-14-18-19-20-24-25-26-28-29 and 31. 15 vols., 18mo, $8. Boston, 1804-31
- MASSIE, JAMES W. America, the Origin of her present conflict, her prospects for the Slave, and her claim for Anti-Slavery sympathy. Illustrated by incidents of travel, during a tour in the summer of 1863, throughout the U. S., &c. 8vo, map, cloth, pp. 480, $2. London, 1864
- MATHER, COTTON, Essays to do Good, addressed to all Christians. Edited by George Burder. 12mo, $1.50. Lexington, Ky., 1823
The reading of this book, "Essays to do Good," gave me such a turn for thinking, as to have an influence on my conduct through life, for I have always set a greater value on the character of a doer of good, than any other kind of reputation, and if I have been, as you seem to think, a useful citizen, the public owes the advantage to that book.
.....DR. BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.
- MATHER, COTTON. Magnalia Christi Americani, or the Ecclesiastical History of New England, from the first planting, in the year 1620, unto the year 1698. In seven books, with an introduction and occasional notes by T. Robbins, also an Index. Portraits, 2 vols., 8vo, sheep, $5. Hartford, 1855
- MATHER, COTTON. Essays to do Good, addressed to all Christians, whether in public or private capacities. New edition by G. Burder. 12mo, $1. Johnstown, 1815
- MATHER, COTTON, The Christian Philosopher, a collection of the best discoveries in nature, with religious improvements. 12mo, $1. Charlestown, 1815
- MATHER, S. An attempt to shew that America must be known to the ancients, made at the request and to gratify the curiosity, of an inquisitive gentleman. To which is added an Appendix concerning the American Colonies and some Modern Monagments against them. By an American Englishman, Pastor of a church in Boston, New England. 8vo, pp. 35. Boston, 1773
- MATHEWS, CORNELIUS. A Pen and Ink Panorama of New York City. 18mo, pp. 209, $1. New York, 1853
- MAURY, SARAH M. An Englishwoman in America. An Appendix containing the history of the Emigrant Surgeon's Bill. 8vo, cloth, pp. 589, $2. London, 1848
- MCCONNEL, J. L. Western Characters or Types of Border Life, in the Western States, with illustrations by Darley. 12mo, cloth, $2. New York, 1853
- McKINNEY, MORDECAI. Our Government, an Explanatory Statement of the System of Government of the Country, &c., &c. A manual for schools, academies and popular use, 2d edition, 8vo, $3. Philadelphia, 1856
- McMULLEN, JOHN. History of Canada, from its first discovery to the present time. 8vo, pp. xiv, 506, $5. Brockville, C. W., 1855
- McPHERSON, EDWARD. Hand-book of Politics for 1868. 8vo, pp. 387. Washington, 1868
- MECHANICS MAGAZINE, and Register of Inventions and Improvements, portraits of Eli Whitney, B. Franklin, R. Fulton, and numerous wood-cuts. 2 vols., royal 8vo, half calf, $10. New York, 1833-4

- METHODIST EPISCOPAL Church appeal to the public opinion in a series of exceptions to the course and action of the Methodist Episcopal Church from 1844 to 1848 against the Methodist Church south by H. B. Bascom and A. L. P. Greene and B. Parsons. 8vo, pp. 202, $2. Louisville, Ky., 1848
- METHODIST HYMNS. A Collection of Hymns for the use of the Methodists. Fourth edition 12mo, 204, $3. London, 1784
- METHODIST MAGAZINE, and Quarterly Review, 5 vols., 20-21-25-28 and 29. 5 vols., 8vo, twelve portraits, $5. New York, 1838-1847
- MEXICAN WAR. Message of the President of the United States with the documents containing the Military reports of battles, &c., with maps and plans. Thick 8vo, half calf, pp. 1618, $3. Washington, 1847
- MICHIGAN. Historical and Scientific Sketches of Michigan, comprising a series of Discourses delivered before the Historical Society of Michigan; with other papers relating to the territory. By L. Cass, H. Whelung, J. Biddle, &c., &c. 12mo, pp. 215, $3. Detroit, 1834
- MILTON, JOHN. Paradise Regained, a poem in four books, from the text of Dr. Newton, to which are added poems on several occasions. 12mo, pp. 136, $2. Philadelphia, 1791
- MILBOURNE Monthly Magazine of original colonial Literature. Vol., 1, portraits, 8vo, $1.50. Milbourne, 1851
- MILES, JAMES W. Philosophic Theology, or Ultimate Grounds of all Religious Belief based on Reason. 8vo, pp. 234, $5. Charleston, 1849
- MILITARY REPORTS. Mordecai, Military Report of his Tour through Europe, in 1855-6. Plates, 4to, 1861. Gen. McClellan's Report on the State of War in Europe. Map and Diagrams, 4to, 1857. Col. Delafield's Report on the Art of War in Europe. Many colored plates and maps, 4to, 1861. In all 3 vols., 4to, cloth, $10. Wash., 1857-61
- MILLAR, SAMUEL, D. D. Letters on Unitarianism, addressed to the members of the First Presbyterian Church in Baltimore. 8vo, pp. 312, boards, uncut, $1.50. Trenton, 1721
- MILLER, STEPHEN F. The Bench and Bar of Georgia, Memoirs and Sketches, with an appendix containing a Court Roll from 1790 to 1857, &c. 2 vols., 8vo, pp. 483, 454, $8. Phila., 1858
- MILLS, ROBERT. Statistics of South Carolina, including a view of its Natural Civil, and Military History. Map, thick 8vo, $5. Charleston, 1826
- MILLS, SAMUEL J. Memoirs of, late Missionary to the south-western section of the U. S. deputed to explore the coast of Africa. By Gardiner Spring. 8vo, boards, $1.50. New York, 1820
- MILTON, JOHN, The Poetical Works of, from the text of Dr. Newton, with the Life of the Author. 2 vols., 12mo, pp. 314, 76. Imprinted at Springfield, Massachusetts, by James Hutchins, for Ebenezer Larkin, and E. and S. Larkin, State street. Boston, 1794.
This in all probability is the first American edition of the poems of John Milton, and as such possesses no little interest. The first edition of every great European author produced in America may be said to mark an epoch in the progress of mind in the new world. A judicious and observant publisher possesses a sensitiveness in regard to public taste much beyond any other observer.
- MINSHULL, JOHN. A Comic Opera, entitled Rural Felicity, with the marriage of Shely. Fine Portrait of the Author. 8vo, uncut, pp. 69, $6. N. Y., 1801
- MINUTES of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America with an appendix for 1806-8-9-10-11-12-13-15-16-20-21-22-23-24-25-27-28-29-32-35-36-37-41-42-48-52-57-58-59-60 and 61. 37 Nos. 8vo, paper. Philadelphia, 1806-61
- MOBILE CITY. The Code of Ordinances of the city of Mobile, with the charter and an Appendix By Alexander McKinstry. 8vo, pp. 412, $2.50. Mobile, 1859
- MOLINA'S History of Chili. 2 vols., 8vo, calf, extra, $3. 1809
The author of this work, Don Juan Ignatius Molina, was a native of Chili, distinguished for his literary acquirements, and particularly his knowledge of Natural History. His book was first published in Italian, at Bologna, 1782, in 8vo, and translated into French by Gruvel, Paris, 1789, 8vo. It has also been translated into German and Spanish. It is quoted by Gmelin in his enlarged edition of the Systema Naturæ.

MOORE, SIR THOMAS. The Commonwealth of Utopia. Containing a Learned and Pleasant discourse on the best state of a public weal as it is found in the New Island of Utopia. 8vo, pp. 126. London printed, Philadelphia reprinted by James Chattin, for B. Lay. 1753

MORGAN, HENRY I. Sketches of celebrated Canadians, and persons connected with Canada, from the earliest period in the history of the province down to the present time. 8vo, cloth, pp. 792, $3. Montreal, 1865

MORGAN, JOHN. A Discourse upon the Institution of Medical Schools in America, delivered at a public anniversary commencement, held in the college of Philadelphia, May 30, 31, 1765, with a preface containing amongst other things, the Author's Apology for attempting to introduce the regular mode of practicing physic in Philadelphia. 8vo, pp. xxvi, 53.

Philadelphia, printed and sold by Wm. Bradford, at the corner of Market and Front Streets. M,DCC,LXV

MORGAN, REV. DR. Catalogue of his splendid Theological and Miscellaneous library with prices and names of purchaser, in pencil. 8vo, pp. 240, $2. New York

MOTLEY BOOK (The). A series of Tales and Sketches of American Life with illustrations by Dick Gimber. and others. by author of Behmoth, Legend of the Mound Builders, &c. 8vo, cloth, $1.50. New York, 1840

MUNSELL, JOEL. The Annals of Albany, vols. 1-2-3-4-5-9 and 10. 12mo, cloth, $10. Albany, 1850, 1859

MUNSELL, JOEL. A Chronology of Paper and Paper making. 3d edition, 8vo, pp. 174, $2. Albany, 1864

MUNSELL, JOEL. Catalogue of a rare and extensive collection of books principally relating to America, comprising a portion of the library of Joel Munsell of Albany, N. Y., sold at auction April 11, 1865, and following days, by J. E. Cooley. 4to, large paper, pp. 123, $2. New York, 1865

MURRAY, JAMES. Select Discourses upon several important subjects. 8vo, $1.50. New Castle, 1765

MURRAY, JAMES. An Impartial History of the present war in America, containing an account of its rise and progress, the political springs thereof, with its various successes, and disappointments on both sides. Portrait, 2 vols., 8vo, 4$. Newcastle upon Tyne. n. d.

MURRAY, JAMES. An Impartial History of the present War in America, containing an account of its rise and progress, political springs thereof, with its various successes and disappointments, on both sides. 2 vols. in 1, 8vo, old calf. London, 1778

MURRAY, JAMES. Sermons to Asses, to which is added New Sermons to Asses, Sermons to Doctors in Divinity, Sermons to Ministers of State, and Sermons to Lords Spiritual, or an advice to the Bishops, with a discourse on Ridicule. 8vo, pp. 322, $5, a rare collection. n. d.

Murray, the author of Sermons to Asses, was a ferocious republican in sentiment, as well as a hearty teacher of that doctrine to others even from the pulpit. He took every opportunity to annoy the government by invective and satire. His far famed sermons are especial specimens of his attacks upon the state dignitaries, both temporal and spiritual. He was an ardent friend of the American revolution, and wrote a history of that transaction which is still looked upon as a performance of considerable merit, and no small authority. His Sermons to Asses were printed in Philadelphia during the revolution. They present a curious specimen of the art of printing at that time, in the American capital. It is somewhat remarkable that in no Biographical Dictionary that I have consulted, is the name of this singular man to be found. As Judge Jeffrey said to the good Richard Baxter when he was before him on trial for alleged treason, "You, Richard, have written as many books as would fill a horse-cart and every one of these as full of treason as an egg is full of meat." According to the English definition of treason, so did Murray. The venom he displays in his writings leads to the conviction that he was not a good Christian man.

..... WESTERN MEMORABILIA.

[No. 28, which will finish the alphabet, will shortly appear.]

